Up on the Rooftops 2018 John Wiley,2018-03-22 In this holiday novella, set between the events of Rooftops and Wake Me Up, all of your favorite characters (and some new friends) come together to navigate the holidays. The Christmas season is easier for some than others, but with a little help from families and friends, everyone has the opportunity to experience the magic of Christmas. They just have to believe.

Up on the Rooftops John Wiley,2014-12-05 A collection of holiday themed short stories that revisit the characters from Rooftops. Erick and Jennifer face spending their first Christmas together, apart. Rhys takes Liam Black Friday shopping, which goes as smoothly as you'd expect. Annie misses her dead brother, Bruce, while Erick recounts a tale from Bruce's childhood. Rhys' grandma, Lois, even gets in on the action when she has to work Black Friday. She also remembers her first Christmas after her husband died when she had some very special visitors.

Growing Up the Wall Sue Fisher,2014-09-01 No matter how small the outdoor space you have, this book will get you started on a new way of growing. Grow up! If you have limited outdoor space and would like to grow your food, this practical illustrated guide will help you transform previously plant-free zones into thriving, beneficial and utterly beautiful food-growing areas. Using special containers, either bought or homemade, as well as conventional methods such as growing frames, wall boxes, hanging baskets and ladder allotments, you can grow a wide range of edible crops. This book also includes guidance on creating edible roof gardens and how to plan and grow crops on green roofs, including on sheds. There is also a directory of plants suitable for vertical growing – fruit, flowers and herbs as well as vegetables – with advice on how to cultivate them. Whether you have an apartment with just a wall, windowsill, balcony or small flat roof; a school with nothing but a tarmac playground; or just a paved courtyard in your community centre, this book will get you started on a new way of growing.

The House in Morocco Rosalind Brackenbury,2003 In an old stone house on the est coast of Morocco, Sarah Henderson, an American journalist, is welcomed by its inhabitants: Nick, the aristocratic English owner, Yann the French sailor, Aisha, the mother of Yann's child, and Aziz, with whom she falls passionately in love. The mysterious man who feeds seagulls crosses Sarah's path, obliging her to reconsider her own actions and those of her mother, who came to this town in 1936 and was sent home in disgrace. Memory, desire, the conflicting assumptions of different cultures; the meanings we ascribe to events; love and its many faces: these are some of the themes of the novel and the realities Sarah has to understand before the keys are taken back from her, the locks changed, and the house made inaccessible once again.
