Hillary Kaell

Everyday Sacred Hillary Kaell, 2017-11-07 Over the last decade there has been ongoing discussion about the place of religion in Québécois society, particularly following the proposed Charter of Quebec Values in 2013. The essays in Everyday Sacred emerged from this active and often tense period of debate. Revitalizing an awareness of how people encounter, create, and employ religion in everyday life, contributors to this volume explore communities' networks of beliefs, traditions, and relationships. Through broad comparisons beyond the Quebec context, contributors look at African Pentecostal congregations, an Iraqi Jewish community in Montreal, a rural Catholic parish on the Saint Lawrence River, and Tewehikan drumming in Wemotaci. They also examine wayside crosses, places of pilgrimage and devotion, debates on the regulation of the hijab, and the place of Montreal Spiritualists and transhumanists in the religious landscape. Seeking a holistic definition of Québécois religion, Everyday Sacred considers religious and secular identity, pluralism, the bodily and material aspects of religion, the impact of gender on community and the public sphere, and the rise of hybridity, sociality, and new technologies in transnational and online networks, in order to uncover the transmission of practices and beliefs from one generation to another. Disrupting familiar dichotomies between Catholicism and other religions, "founders" and immigrants, new religious movements and traditional institutions, Everyday Sacred marks the beginning of a sustained conversation on contemporary religion in Quebec, both inside and outside of the province. Contributors include: Emma Anderson (University of Ottawa), Randall Balmer (Dartmouth College), Hélène Charron (Université Laval), Elysia Guzik (University of Toronto), Laurent Jérôme (Université du Québec à Montréal), Norma B. Joseph (Concordia University), Cory Andrew Labrecque (Université Laval), Deirdre Meintel (Université de Montréal), Géraldine Mossière (Université de Montréal), Frédéric Parent (Université de Québec à Montréal), Meena Sharify-Funk (Wilfrid Laurier University).

The Changing World Religion Map Stanley D. Brunn, 2015-02-03 This extensive work explores the changing world of religions, faiths and practices. It discusses a broad range of issues and phenomena that are related to religion, including nature, ethics, secularization, gender and identity. Broadening the context, it studies the interrelation between religion and other fields, including education, business, economics and law. The book presents a vast array of examples to illustrate the changes that have taken place and have led to a new world map of religions. Beginning with an introduction of the concept of the “changing world religion map”, the book first focuses on nature, ethics and the environment. It examines humankind’s eternal search for the sacred, and discusses the emergence of “green” religion as a theme that cuts across many faiths. Next, the book turns to the theme of the pilgrimage, illustrated by many examples from all parts of the world. In its discussion of the interrelation between religion and education, it looks at the role of missionary movements. It explains the relationship between religion, business, economics and law by means of a discussion of legal and moral frameworks, and the financial and business issues of religious organizations. The next part of the book explores the many “new faces” that are part of the religious landscape and culture of the Global North (Europe, Russia, Australia and New Zealand, the U.S. and Canada) and the Global South (Latin America, Africa and Asia). It does so by looking at specific population movements, diasporas, and the impact of globalization. The volume next turns to secularization as both a phenomenon occurring in the Global religious North, and as an emerging and distinguishing feature in the metropolitan, cosmopolitan and gateway cities and regions in the Global South. The final part of the book explores the changing world of religion in regards to gender and identity issues, the political/religious nexus, and the new worlds associated with the virtual technologies and visual media.

Young People and the Diversity of (Non)Religious Identities in International Perspective Elisabeth Arweck, Heather Shipley, 2019-07-11 This volume brings together current research on young people, (non)religion, and diversity, documenting the forms young people’s stances may take and the social or spatial contexts in which these may be formed. The social contexts studied include the family, school, and faith communities. The spatial contexts include (sub)urban and rural geographies and places of worship and pilgrimage. Youth and (non)religion are an area of academic interest that has been gaining increasing attention, especially as it pertains to youthful expressions of (non)religion and identities. As research on religion and young people spans and expands across academic disciplines and across geographic areas, comparative approaches and perspectives, such as presented in this volume, offer important spaces for reflecting about the experience of religiosity among young people and the ways they are learning about, and developing, (non)religious identities. Building bridges geographically and methodologically, this volume provides an international perspective on religion and nonreligion among young people, offering a diversity of religious and nonreligious perspectives.

Quand on élimine Dieu de l'événement Barka Kamnadj, 2019-05-31 Cet ouvrage aborde les origines de certaines fêtes chrétiennes et populaires en se demandant quelle est la place de ces fêtes dans la vie des chrétiens aujourd'hui ? Et quelle est la place accordée à Dieu dans ces fêtes qui rythment le calendrier ? Que dire des événements significatifs de la vie comme le mariage, la naissance et la mort ? L'auteur s'appuie sur les Écritures et donne des exemples du contexte africain pour amener le lecteur à réfléchir à ces questions et à la manière de vivre pour Dieu. Il cherche ainsi à susciter chez le lecteur une remise en question qui pousse à l'action pour la mission. Des questions à la fin de chaque chapitre proposent d'aller plus loin dans la réflexion.

Jésus et l'histoire Charles Perrot, 2011-03-25 T00:00:00+01:00 Ce livre est la deuxième édition, avec nombre de mises à jour nécessaires, d'un ouvrage paru en 1979. Dans sa catégorie et même plus largement, ce fut un best-seller, salué partout comme l'étude quasi définitive sur la figure historique de Jésus. Le rajeunissement de ce « classique » au demeurant sans rides, sans être nécessaire, était souhaité de tous. La vie de Jésus est pertinemment replacée dans le contexte juif contemporain: c'est là que se trouvent les racines et les sources, historiques et sociales, culturelles et religieuses, de sa signification unique. Quatre parties se succèdent : L'axe méthodologique de la démarche, avec le rappel exhaustif des disciplines utilisées et l'évocation ouverte des tentatives antérieures, voire parallèles. L'éclairage du personnage de Jésus à l'aide de l'arrière-plan religieux, éthique et culturel du judaïsme, son « milieu » naturel : les liens du Galiléen avec le mouvement baptiste, ses rapports avec la mouvance pharisienne, son autorité étonnante et sa liberté souveraine vis-à-vis d'une Loi que par ailleurs il respecte. La singularité de Jésus: ses qualités de prophète, ses activités de thaumaturge et d'exorciste, sa propre désignation comme « Fils de l'homme ». L'évocation du lieu où les écrits qui nous parlent de Jésus ont leur source vivante : la communauté primitive des croyants qui, parfois dans la souffrance, partage son pain et sa parole en le confessant comme « Fils de Dieu ». Voici donc un livre de science et de pédagogie, mais aussi de sagesse et de foi. Une collection de référence en christologie sous la direction de Monseigneur Doré.
