Introducción a la Metrología para el laboratorio clínico Mercedes Salcedo Cifuentes,Álvaro Bermúdez Coronel,Raúl Herrera Basurto,Flora Emperatriz Mercader Trejo,Aarón Rodríguez López,Tatiana Atenea Ortega Alcántara,2025-11-12 La metrología es el lenguaje común de todo laboratorio, incluido el clínico, porque hace comparables y confiables las mediciones que sustentan decisiones técnicas y clínicas. Según el Vocabulario internacional de metrología, es la ciencia de la medición y su aplicación abarca e incorpora los aspectos teóricos y prácticos de medir en cualquier campo. Este enfoque trasciende ámbitos y se aplica en la industria de alimentos, en el sector farmacéutico y en el área ambiental, todos con impacto en la salud. Así, los datos generados en contextos distintos pueden interpretarse con seguridad, seguir tendencias y evaluar cambios con relevancia clínica. Aplicada al laboratorio clínico, la metrología implica trabajar con unidades del Sistema Internacional, asegurar la trazabilidad de los resultados y estimar la incertidumbre con criterios explícitos. También exige el uso de materiales y métodos de referencia reconocidos internacionalmente y la alineación con normas como la ISO 15189, junto con marcos para ensayos in vitro como ISO 17511 y los recursos del JCTLM. Esta articulación fortalece la comparabilidad entre equipos, sitios y periodos, y respalda la validez clínica de los informes. Este libro traduce esos principios a la práctica cotidiana del laboratorio. Ofrece criterios para seleccionar y verificar equipos, procedimientos claros para documentar la confirmación metrológica y orientaciones para calcular la incertidumbre. Las magnitudes y técnicas tratadas se eligieron por su uso transversal en salud y en áreas afines; por ello se profundiza en pesaje, preparación volumétrica con micropipetas con énfasis en la calibración gravimétrica, medición de temperatura y pH, y verificación del desempeño en espectrofotometría UV-vis. El resultado es una guía precisa para estudiantes, docentes y profesionales que invita a medir mejor para decidir mejor, con resultados trazables que respaldan la atención del paciente y favorecen la comparabilidad entre sectores.

Basic Services for All in an Urbanizing World United Cities and Local Governments,2014-07-25 UCLG's Third Global Report on Local Democracy and Decentralization (GOLD III) examines basic service provision and the current state-of-play of the local governance of basic services around the world. Basic Services for All in an Urbanizing World examines the enormous challenge of ensuring the universal provision of basic services in a world that is being shaped by rapid global urbanization, climate change, and economic, social and technological transformation. The world's urban population is predicted to reach 5 billion people within the next 20-30 years. The report analyses the conditions necessary for local governments to provide these new urban residents with quality basic services. Water, sanitation, waste management, transport and energy are essential, not only for the preservation of human life and dignity, but also in driving economic growth and ensuring social equality. Each chapter examines a world region, drawing on existing research and consultation with local authorities on the ground. The chapters review access levels, legal and institutional frameworks, and the different ways in which basic services are managed and financed, as well as showcasing diverse examples of innovation in the local and multi-level governance of services. It concludes with a set of recommendations for all stakeholders with a view to making the goal of basic services for all a reality. This report contributes to discussions on the Millennium Development Goals and the UN Post-2015 Development Agenda. The findings of GOLD III will also be essential to promoting the vision of local governments at the 2016 UN Conference on Human Settlements (Habitat III).
