Werner Pfennig lived in a battered shelter, in a dull mining town in Germany. Frau Elena, who managed the halfway house, was thoughtful. Werner had a close relationship with his little sister, Jutta, who longed for Paris. The pictures that she drew carried a resemblance between her imaginations and what lies beyond her reach. One day, Werner found a broken radio and repaired it for the halfway house. Werner and Jutta were entranced by a radio program about Science for kids. Before long, Werner's repairing skills became popular in the area. Werner received praises for his work and was treated to cream cakes when he modified the mine boss' radio. He was then sent to a world-class Nazi school because of his mechanical competence. A furious Jutta warned her brother about the Nazis and their brutishness, yet the townspeople regarded him as a legend. At first, he accepted that he was a magnificent support for the Fatherland and Hitler's arrangement to purify the world. At the Schulpforta School, the educators were cruel, particularly with young men who can't stay aware of the physically and rationally sought preparation. All the Light We Cannot See Book*sense,2015-12-19 All the Light We Cannot See: A Novel by Anthony Doerr | Summary & Analysis Anthony Doerr offers a gripping tale of World War II and its aftermath in the National Book Award Finalist novel. A departure from much of the historical fiction and reported history of the time, the book is an excellent read, well worth the honor heaped upon it. It offers new insights into the effects of that war on those who fought in and lived through it, increasingly valuable as the Greatest Generation passes into history. The connection to real places and events does much to enhance the text's verisimilitude. The novel relates the interwoven stories of the blind Marie-Laure LeBlanc, the orphaned and diminutive Werner Pfennig and others as they are brought into the globe-spanning conflict that was the Second World War. The plot centers but does not focus upon the fate of the Sea of Flames Diamond in the conflict, with several characters united by it and others tied to them. The focus upon the common folk of the war amid the turbulence and chaos makes for an almost intimate, decidedly human story. This is a story that contrast the magical innocence of children with the cruelty and violence of adults; it is a story richly fixed in placed with entrancing metaphors that challenge all the senses; it is a story that explores the choice between a desire to be morally good, whilst clinging to survival. The novel is told through the alternating narratives of two children: Marie Laure, a 14-year-old blind girl forced to flee Paris when the Nazis invaded and Werner, a gadget-loving radio builder enlisted by Hitler Youth to track the movements of the French resistance. The two narratives entwine until the stories intersect in Saint-Malo, a French, walled citadel by the sea. Marie-Laure becomes blind at the age of 6. Her father, a master of the thousand locks at the Museum of Natural History, builds her a model of the neighbourhood to help her find her way around. When the war catches up with the pair they flee to Marie-Laure's great-Uncle's house with a beautiful but dangerous gem. Werner begins the story in a brutal camp for Hitler Youth and soon becomes aware of the cost of the intelligence and soon he is sent on a mission to Saint-Malo, where his story catches up with the young French girl.
