Construction Matters Stefan Holzer, Silke Langenberg, Clemens Knobling, Orkun Kasap, 2025-03-04 Construction History, Construction Heritage, Recent Construction, Historiography, Industrialization, Engineering Sciences, Building Materials, Building Actors Construction History is still a fairly new and small but quickly evolving field. The current trends in Construction History are well reflected in the papers of the present conference. Construction History has strong roots in the historiography of the 19th century and the evolution of industrialization, but the focus of our research field has meanwhile shifted notably to include more recent and also more distant histories as well. This is reflected in these conference proceedings, where 65 out of 148 contributed papers deal with the built heritage or building actors of the 20th or 21st century. The conference also mirrors the wide spectrum of documentary and analytical approaches comprised within the discipline of Construction History. Papers dealing with the technical and functional analysis of specific buildings or building types are complemented by other studies focusing on the lives and formation of building actors, from laborers to architects and engineers, from economical aspects to social and political implications, on legal aspects and the strong ties between the history of construction and the history of engineering sciences. The conference integrates perfectly into the daily work at the Institute for Preservation and Construction History at ETH Zurich. Its two chairs – the Chair for Building Archaeology and Construction History and the Chair for Construction Heritage and Preservation – endeavor to cover the entire field and to bridge the gaps between the different approaches, methodologies and disciplines, between various centuries as well as technologies – learning together and from each other. The proceedings of 8ICCH give a representative picture of the state of the art in the field, and will serve as a reference point for future studies.

La casa burguesa Mayerly Rosa Villar Lozano, 2021-06-01 La arquitectura y la ciudad se presentan como representaciones socioculturales en las que se evidencia la mentalidad del grupo social que en ellas habita. En sus más íntimos espacios, los habitantes sueñan, forman sus costumbres y su historia, haciendo de ellos parte de la memoria colectiva. De esto el interés por indagar por los procesos ideológicos y sociales que inciden en una nueva configuración urbana y el surgimiento de las primeras urbanizaciones burguesas en América latina y en especial en Bogotá, levantadas bajo los postulados traídos por Brünner al Nuevo Continente. Este texto aporta desde la Historia una visión sobre hechos que configuran los conceptos de arquitectura y vida urbana como bien social y cultural. Pone en manifiesto los cambios de mentalidad sucedidos a comienzos del siglo XX, derivados de la interacción cultural propia de las migraciones acaecidas como consecuencia del fenómeno de violencia que suscita la Independencia del yugo europeo, además del anhelo de acceder al progreso y al mejoramiento de condiciones de vida que prometía la ciudad moderna. Mentalidad alimentada además por la admiración que se expresa por las culturas inglesa y francesa, conocidas a través del incremento de los viajes a este continente y al asentamiento de emigrantes europeos en nuestro país, que huyen de los efectos de la Primera y la Segunda Guerra Mundial. Este anhelo se alivia en la adopción de su estilo de vida, sus gustos y costumbres, en general todo aspecto de la vida cotidiana, lo cual evidentemente incluye el lugar de residencia. El estilo y en general los objetos, son factores que identifican una clase social; la unión de la naciente burguesía industrial con la tradicional, sumado al sentimiento de negación de todo aquello que refleje una huella hispánica, fortalece el anhelo de distinción y la idea de introducirse en los fenómenos de modernidad; aunque la noción inicial de moderno sea más visual que conceptual.

Un país, tres arquitecturas Andrés Fernández, 2011-01-04 Este texto elogia una obra arquitectónica que se presenta como clara, detallada y perspicaz, destacando su capacidad para situar el objeto arquitectónico dentro de su contexto político, económico, social y tecnológico. El autor, Fernández, utiliza material gráfico y una prosa elocuente para ilustrar la interacción de tres lenguajes arquitectónicos significativos en la historia.
