Francis Fry

In the Dark Places of Wisdom Peter Kingsley, 1999 A set of ancient inscriptions on marble found forty years ago in southern Italy, recording details so bewildering that scholars have kept silent about them ... Sensational new information about a group of ancient philosophers who were so intensely practical that, two and a half thousand years ago, they shaped our existence and the world we live in ... These are just two ingredients of this extraordinary book, which uncovers an astonishing reality right at the origins of the Western world. Written by one of the most highly-acclaimed contemporary historians and experts in the field, it provides dramatic new evidence about the most important of ancient philosophers, Parmenides—and revolutionizes our understanding of the history of religion, of the origins of philosophy, and of Western culture as a whole.--

Dionysus, Christ, and the Death of God, Volume 2 Giuseppe Fornari, 2020-09-01 This magisterial reflection on the history and destiny of the West compares Greco-Roman civilization and the Judeo-Christian tradition in order to understand what both unites and divides them. Mediation, understood as a collective, symbolic experience, gives society unity and meaning, putting human beings in contact with a universal object known as the world or reality. But unity has a price: the very force that enables peaceful coexistence also makes us prone to conflict. As a result, in order to find a common point of convergence—of at-one-ment—someone must be sacrificed. Sacrifice, then, is the historical pillar of mediation. It was endorsed in a cosmic-religious sense in antiquity and rejected for ethical reasons in modernity, where the Judeo-Christian tradition plays an intermediate role in condemning sacrificial violence as such, while accepting sacrifice as a voluntary act offered to save other human beings. Today, as we face the collapse of all shared mediations, this intermediating solution offers a way out of our moral and cultural plight.

Multi-dimentional God Kolawole Obaseye, 2019-10-21 God is multi-dimensional in His dealings; He desires that His sons operate in the same capacity because they are ambassadors on earth. For the earnest expectation of the creature waiteth for the manifestation of the sons of God. Romans 8:19 Living the multidimensional is to a large extent determined by various spiritual experiences and impartations you have and the expectation you have with the seven spirit of God, angels and the beings that surrounds the throne room. It is encounter with this reality that bring about the true calling and destiny of a believer.
