Missionary Linguistics V / Lingüística Misionera V Otto Zwartjes,Klaus Zimmermann,Martina Schrader-

Kniffki,2014-04-15 The object of this volume is the study of missionary translation practices which occur within a colonial context of political domination and spiritual conquest. Missionary translation becomes especially manifest in bilingual ethnographic descriptions, in (bilingual) catechisms and in the missionaries' lexicographic condensation of bilingual dictionaries. The study of these instances permits the analysis and interpretation of their guiding principles, their translation practice and underlying reasoning. It also permits the modern linguist to discern semantic changes that can be revealed in these missionary translations over certain periods. Up to now there has hardly been any study available that focuses on translation in missionary sources, of the different traditions in the Americas or Asia. This book will fill this gap, addressing the legacy of missionary translation practices and theories, the role of translation in evangelization and its particular form in the context of colonialism, the creation of loans from Spanish or Latin or equivalents or paraphrases in the indigenous languages in texts and dictionaries as translation strategies followed in bilingual editions. The process of acculturation and transculturation imposed by European religious systems is noted. This volume presents research on languages such as Nahuatl, Tarascan (Purépecha), Zapotec, Tamil, Chinese, Japanese, Pangasinán, and other Austronesian languages from the Philippines.

Aquí comienza un vocabulario en la lengua castellana y mexicana (México, 1555) Fray Alonso de Molina,2022-07-27 Aquí comienza un vocabulario en la lengua castellana y mexicana (México, 1555), de Alonso de Molina (1510-1579), permite el estudio del castellano y el náhuatl, juntos y en contraste. Se trata del primer diccionario de la lengua náhuatl y española que se imprimió en América. El Primer Concilio Provincial Mexicano (1555) estableció que la evangelización se realizaría en la lengua de los naturales. A la sombra del vocabulario humanista de Antonio de Lebrija (1441-1522), Molina confeccionó el suyo para que los franciscanos aprendieran náhuatl. La sección castellana, sin pretenderlo, ilustra el comienzo de la aventura del español en América. Tras publicarse en esta misma colección el Tesoro castellano del primer diccionario de América: Lemas y concordancias del vocabulario español-náhuatl (1555) de Alonso de Molina (2010), para conmemorar el V Centenario del fallecimiento de Nebrija (1522-2022), sale esta obra en la que los editores “han transliterado el primer Vocabulario de Molina sin cambiar grafemas y lo han puesto en tipos modernos para una lectura más fácil. No se altera el orden de la macroestructura ni se reordenan las palabras para alfabetizar algunos errores; se respeta la grafía de la época así como la acentuación. Es una edición respetuosa con el original” (Prólogo de Ascensión Hernández de León-Portilla). El Prof. Dr. Manuel Galeote (Universidad de Málaga, España) y el Prof. Dr. Miguel Figueroa-Saavedra (Universidad Veracruzana, Xalapa, México) han publicado diferentes estudios conjuntos sobre Molina. La colaboración científica entre el experto en náhuatl y en Historia de la lengua española posibilitó indagar en la microestructura lexicográfica o la interacción náhuatl-castellano y ofrecer aquella primera edición de 1555 en letras de molde actuales.

The Linguistics of Olfaction Łukasz Jędrzejowski, Przemysław Staniewski, 2021-04-26 This volume presents novel cross-linguistic insights into how olfactory experiences are expressed in typologically (un-)related languages both from a synchronic and from a diachronic perspective. It contains a general introduction to the topic and fourteen chapters based on philological investigation and thorough fieldwork data from Basque, Beja, Fon, Formosan languages, Hebrew, Indo-European languages, Japanese, Kartvelian languages, Purepecha, and languages of northern Vanuatu. Topics discussed in the individual chapters involve, inter alia, lexical olfactory repertoires and naming strategies, non-literal meanings of olfactory expressions and their semantic change, reduplication, colexification, mimetics, and language contact. The findings provide the reader with a range of fascinating facts about perception description, contribute to a deeper understanding of how olfaction as an understudied sense is encoded linguistically, and offer new theoretical perspectives on how some parts of our cognitive system are verbalized cross-culturally. This volume is highly relevant to lexical typologists, historical linguists, grammarians, and anthropologists.

The Languages and Linguistics of Mexico and Northern Central America Søren Wichmann, 2024-12-16 The handbook provides a thorough survey of the languages pertaining to the Mesoamerican culture region, including a wealth of new research on synchronic structures and historical linguistics of lesser known languages, also including sign languages. The volume moreover features overviews of recent research on topics such as language acquisition and the expression of spatial orientation across languages of the region.
