Inspirations for My Daughter Ed Higgins,2018-02 Ed has a genuine passion to bring out the best in organisations and people, none more so than his two daughters.Ed has been collecting and sending daily inspirational quotes to his friends and subscribers for many years. In recent years, Ed started designing a personalised interpretation of his favourite quotes into daily life choice affirmations for his two daughters to give them a little lift at the beginning of each day. Here are a selection of the Ed's favourite quotes. From Buddha to Dr Seuss, Gandhi to Eminem, this selection also includes a large section of music lyrics and movie quotes, two of Ed's biggest passions (along with football!). Following each inspirational quote is the personalised life choice affirmation that Ed has created for his daughters.

Children's Human Rights in the USA Yvonne Vissing,2023-07-19 This book critically examines why a human rights framework would improve the wellbeing and status of young people. It explores children's rights to provision, protection, and participation from human rights and clinical sociological perspectives, and from historical to contemporary events. It discusses how different ideologies have shaped the way we view children and their place in society, and how, despite the rhetoric of children's protection, people under 18 years of age experience more poverty, violence, and oppression than other group in society. The book points to the fact that the USA is the only member of the United Nations not to ratify a children's human rights treaty; and the impact of this decision finds US children less healthy and less safe than children in other developed countries. It shows how a rights-respecting framework could be created to improve the lives of our youngest citizens - and the future of democracy. Authored by a renowned clinical sociologist and international human rights scholar, this book is of interest to researchers, students, social workers and policymakers working in the area of children's wellbeing

Expressive Writing for Healing Mary Potter Kenyon,2018-04-01 "We do not write in order to be understood; we write in order to understand." —C. Day-Lewis Writing is one of the oldest and most effective means of self-exploration, self-expression, and self-discovery. In this new guided journal, Mary Potter Kenyon offers readers an opportunity to reflect on the meaning and significance of loss and allows the griever to sort through all the conflicting emotions that arise after a death. By interweaving her own experiences of loss, the proven research behind writing as a method for healing, and blank pages with carefully chosen quotes, Kenyon gives readers space to express the feelings that are sometimes too painful to speak aloud.
