The Fertile Desert: A History of the Middle Euphrates Valley until the Arrival of Alexander Anas Al Khabour, 2022-05-05

This book attempts to reconstruct the history of the Euphrates Valley between the mouths of the Balikh and the Khabour. Several surveys, archaeological expeditions, and interventions of the Syrian Directorate of Antiquities, have made a significant amount of data available which contribute to an improved overview of the region.

Uruk Mario Liverani, 1998-01-01

Imagining Babylon Mario Liverani, 2016-07-11 Ever since the archaeological rediscovery of the Ancient Near East, generations of scholars have attempted to reconstruct the real Babylon," known to us before from the evocative biblical account of the Tower of Babel. After two centuries of excavations and scholarship, Mario Liverani provides an insightful overview of modern, Western approaches, theories, and accounts of the ancient Near Eastern city.

Gridded Worlds: An Urban Anthology Reuben Rose-Redwood, Liora Bigon, 2018-05-02 This book is the first edited collection to bring together classic and contemporary writings on the urban grid in a single volume. The contributions showcased in this book examine the spatial histories of the grid from multiple perspectives in a variety of urban contexts. They explore the grid as both an indigenous urban form and a colonial imposition, a symbol of Confucian ideals and a spatial manifestation of the Protestant ethic, a replicable model for real estate speculation within capitalist societies and a spatial framework for the design of socialist cities. By examining the entangled histories of the grid, Gridded Worlds considers the variegated associations of gridded urban space with different political ideologies, economic systems, and cosmological orientations in comparative historical perspective. In doing so, this interdisciplinary anthology seeks to inspire new avenues of research on the past, present, and future of the gridded worlds of urban life. Gridded Worlds is primarily tailored to scholars working in the fields of urban history, world history, urban historical geography, architectural history, urban design, and the history of urban planning, and it will also be of interest to art historians, area studies scholars, and the urban studies community more generally.

Leaving No Stones Unturned Erica Ehrenberg, 2002 A fitting tribute to the life and achievements of Donald P. Hansen, this collection includes contributions by Z. Bahrani, R. A. Fazzini, R. E. Freed, P. O. Harper, J. and D. Oates, D. O'Connor, E. L. Ochsenschlager, E. Holmes-Peck, W. H. Peck, H. Pittman, M. Van de Mieroop, M. S. Venit, K. Wilson, I. J. Winter, and many others.

Textiles in the Neo-Assyrian Empire Salvatore Gaspa, 2018-03-05 This book brings together our present-day knowledge about textile terminology in the Akkadian language of the first-millennium BC. In fact, the progress in the study of the Assyrian dialect and its grammar and lexicon has shown the increasing importance of studying the language as well as cataloging and analysing the terminology of material culture in the documentation of the first world empire. The book analyses the terms for raw materials, textile procedures, and textile end products consumed in first-millennium BC Assyria. In addition, a new edition of a number of written records from Neo-Assyrian administrative archives completes the work. The book also contains a number of tables, a glossary with all the discussed terms, and a catalogue of illustrations. In light of the recent development of textile research in ancient languages, the book is aimed at providing scholars of Ancient Near Eastern studies and ancient textile studies with a comprehensive work on the Assyrian textiles.

Ancient Economies in Comparative Perspective Marcella Frangipane, Monika Poettinger, Bertram Schefold, 2022-09-09 This book investigates the economic organization of ancient societies from a comparative perspective. By pursuing an interdisciplinary approach, including contributions by archaeologists, historians of antiquity, economic historians as well as historians of economic thought, it studies various aspects of ancient economies, such as the material living conditions including production technologies, etc.; economic institutions such as markets and coinage; as well as the economic thinking of the time. In the process, it also explores the comparability of economic thought, economic institutions and economic systems in ancient history. Focusing on the Ancient Near East as well as the Mediterranean, including Greece and Rome, this comparative perspective makes it possible to identify historical permanencies, but also diverse forms of social and political organization and cultural systems. These institutions are then evaluated in terms of their capacity to solve economic problems, such as the efficient use of resources or political stability. The first part of the book introduces readers to the methodological context of the comparative approach, including an evaluation of the related historiographical tradition. Subsequent parts discuss a range of development models, elements of economic thinking in ancient societies, the role of trade and globalization, and the use of monetary and financial instruments, as well as political aspects.

The Development of Pre-State Communities in the Ancient Near East Diane Bolger, Louise C. Maguire, 2010-04-30 This book explores the dynamics of small-scale societies in the ancient Near East by examining the ways in which particular communities functioned and interacted and by moving beyond the broad neo-evolutionary models of social change which have characterised many earlier approaches. By focusing on issues of diversity, scale, and context, it considers the ways in which economy, crafts, technology, and ritual were organised; the roles played by mortuary practices and households in the structure and development of ancient societies; and the importance of agency, identity, ethnicity, gender, community and cultural interaction for the rise of socio-economic complexity. The contributors to this volume are well-known archaeologists in the field of Near Eastern studies; all are currently engaged in fieldwork or research in Cyprus, the Levant, or Turkey. The variety and depth of the research they present here reflect the richness of the archaeological record in the 'cradle of civilisation' and convey the vibrancy of current interpretive approaches within the field of Near Eastern prehistory today.

Elenchus of Biblica 1998 Robert Althann,2002-12-31

Architettura ed energia Barnabas Calder,2022-11-22 Una storia innovativa dell'architettura, attraverso il rapporto tra edifici e risorse energetiche nelle diverse epoche: dalle prime società agrarie a Uruk, dalle abitazioni romane ai capolavori rinascimentali, dalla Liverpool vittoriana alle megalopoli orientali contemporanee. La storia dell'architettura è la storia dell'umanità. Gli edifici in cui viviamo o abbiamo vissuto, dalle più umili capanne preistoriche ai grattacieli di oggi, rivelano le nostre priorità e ambizioni, le nostre strutture familiari e di potere. Inoltre, e in una misura mai esplorata fino ad ora, in ogni epoca l'architettura è stata plasmata dal nostro accesso all'energia, dal fuoco e l'agricoltura ai combustibili fossili. In questa storia rivoluzionaria dell'architettura mondiale, Barnabas Calder ci guida in un viaggio stupefacente verso alcuni degli edifici più sorprendenti degli ultimi quindicimila anni, da Uruk, passando attraverso l'antica Roma e la Liverpool vittoriana, alle megalopoli in forte espansione della Cina. Calder ci spiega come ogni edificio - dal Partenone alla Grande Moschea di Damasco o a una tipica casa georgiana - sia stato influenzato dall'energia che era a disposizione dei suoi architetti, e perché tutto ciò sia importante soprattutto oggi, quando il trentanove per cento delle emissioni mondiali di gas serra deriva dalla costruzione e dalla gestione degli edifici. Se vogliamo evitare cambiamenti climatici catastrofici, ora più che mai abbiamo bisogno di un'architettura bella ma anche intelligente, e di ristrutturare, non demolire, gli edifici esistenti.

I Sumeri Giovanni Pettinato,2015-02-10 Le grandiose costruzioni templari, le migliaia di tavolette incise, i tesori delle tombe regali, i poemi epici ispirati a Gilgamesh: è l'eredità lasciata dal mondo sumerico agli archeologi che da oltre un secolo inseguono le vestigia di un popolo, affascinante e misterioso, di cui sono ancora ignote le origini e l'appartenenza etnica. Giovanni Pettinato compone una globale immagine che testimonia l'imponente incidenza culturale dei Sumeri, i quali costruirono con Uruk la prima città, inventarono la scrittura, istituirono l'insegnamento scolastico, il sistema bicamerale, lo Stato sovrano. L'opera è completata da ampie citazioni di testi mitologici.

Iconography Without Texts Paul Taylor,2008 Iconographers normally use texts, either to locate the narratives that are illustrated in the images they are studying, or to deepen their understanding of the cultural milieu in which those images were produced. This book provides essays that are found to be pertinent by art historians, archaeologists and anthropologists. Proceedings of a conference held at the Warburg Institute on 3-4 June 2005.

The Ancient Economy Joseph Gilbert Manning,Ian Morris,2005 Historians and archaeologists normally assume that the economies of ancient Greece and Rome between about 1000 BC and AD 500 were distinct from those of Egypt and the Near East. However, very different kinds of evidence survive from each of these areas, and specialists have, as a result, developed very different methods of analysis for each region. This book marks the first time that historians and archaeologists of Egypt, the Near East, Greece, and Rome have come together with sociologists, political scientists, and economists, to ask whether the differences between accounts of these regions reflect real economic differences in the past, or are merely a function of variations in the surviving evidence and the intellectual traditions that have grown up around it. The contributors describe the types of evidence available and demonstrate the need for clearer thought about the relationships between evidence and models in ancient economic history, laying the foundations for a new comparative account of economic structures and growth in the ancient Mediterranean world.
