J. R. Bruijn

The Strategic Illusion Ian Hamill, 1981

The Defence and Fall of Singapore Brian Farrell, 2017-01-01 Shortly after midnight on 8 December 1941, two divisions of crack troops of the Imperial Japanese Army began a seaborne invasion of southern Thailand and northern Malaya. Their assault developed into a full-blown advance towards Singapore, the main defensive position of the British Empire in the Far East. The defending British, Indian, Australian and Malayan forces were outmanoeuvred on the ground, overwhelmed in the air and scattered on the sea. By the end of January 1942, British Empire forces were driven back onto the island of Singapore itself, cut off from further outside help. When the Japanese stormed the island with an all-out assault, the defenders were quickly pushed back into a corner from which there was no escape. Singapore's defenders finally capitulated on 15 February, to prevent the wholesale pillage of the city itself. Their rapid and total defeat was nothing less than military humiliation and political disaster. Based on the most extensive use yet of primary documents in Britain, Japan, Australia and Singapore, Brian Farrell provides the fullest picture of how and why Singapore fell and its real significance to the outcome of the Second World War.

Churchill and Strategic Dilemmas Before the World Wars John H. Maurer, 2003 Part of a three part collection in honour of the teachings of Michael I. Handel, one of the foremost strategists of the late 20th century, this collection explores the paradoxes of intelligence analysis, surprise and deception from both historical and theoretical perspectives.

Alignment, Alliance, and American Grand Strategy Zachary A. Selden, 2016-07-27 Joining the debates about preserving US military power abroad, Selden recommends encouraging security alliances

Australia's Defence Strategy Adam Lockyer, 2017-01-30 How would we know a good defence strategy if we saw one? The Asian Century is challenging many of the traditional assumptions at the heart of Australian defence policy and strategy. Defence scholars have risen to the challenge of these transformational times and have collectively produced a smorgasbord of alternatives for policy-makers. The problem is that these recommendations all point in very different directions. How should we evaluate these options? Adam Lockyer tackles this question and develops a novel conceptual framework for evaluating defence strategies. By doing so, this book breaks new theoretical ground and makes an important contribution to our understanding of strategy in general and defence strategy in particular. Lockyer then applies this analytical tool to the leading arguments in Australia's defence debate and finds that there is still substantial work to be done. Lockyer concludes by proposing a new Australian defence strategy for a contested Asia that would pass the test for a 'good' defence strategy. The result is essential reading for anyone interested in strategy or the future of Australian defence policy.

Sixty Years on Brian Padair Farrell, Sandy Hunter, 2002 People from a dozen modern states were directly involved in the 1942 fall of Singapore: The United Kingdom, Japan, Australia, India, Pakistan, Nepal, New Zealand, The Netherlands, Indonesia, China and above all Malaysia and Singapore. To commemorate its 60th anniversary, the Department of History at the National University of Singapore organised an international conference of historians, students and war veterans on the theme Sixty Years On: The Fall of Singapore Revisited. This book presents a selection of the papers presented at the conference, revised for publication. It is not meant to be the last word on all aspects relating to the Malayan campaign and the fall of Singapore but rather an attempt to pull together reassessments of arguments of very long standing about major issues such as the Singapore strategy, with fresh contributions to our knowledge such as a discussion of how Japanese soldiers experienced the fighting on Singapore Island. Both conference and volume aimed to provide a well-rounded, state of the art discussion of the central issues and some of the shadows, relating to the fall of Singapore. READERSHIP: University lecturers/researchers, undergraduate students, academicians and those interested in History.

Business Strategy in Asia Kulwant Singh, Nitin Pangarkar, Loizos Th Heracleous, 2004 The second edition follows the highly successful first edition in filling an important under-served niche in the strategy arena: a casebook on business strategy in Asia. As a teaching tool, the usage of case studies is widespread in business strategy courses. Many case studies are focused on companies from developed economies, especially from the U.S. and Western Europe, leaving a large void in terms of understanding the strategies of Asian companies. This book aims to fill this void in the current offerings of textbooks. Written by experts on Asian business, it is a unique and comprehensive collection of cases about the strategies of Asian firms. The cases are wide-ranging, covering a diverse range of issues, geographic contexts, industries and decision situations. The rigor and depth of information included in each of the cases provides considerable versatility to educators in terms of usage at various levels. The cases have been carefully chosen to represent the geographic and economic diversity of the different countries, industries, and firms within Asia.

Government and Politics of Singapore Jon S. T. Quah,Heng Chee Chan,Chee Meow Seah,1987 Of the new nation-states of southeast Asia, Singapore is unique in having no true antecedents and in representing a multi-ethnic society dominated by an immigrant community. Here, eight of Singapore's leading scholars present an insider's analysis of the administration and politics of their nation. Revised and updated, this volume will be a valuable resource for students and scholars alike.

International Marketing Strategy Michael R. Czinkota,Ilkka A. Ronkainen,1994 This reader deals with the environment, external and internal strategic dimensions and implementation considerations from the viewpoint of the new entrant into the international market. Exporting, from the standpoint of both smaller and medium-sized firms, is given primary emphasis. Features: * Theoretical and pragmatic viewpoints are reflected, to encourage a thorough understanding of foreign market entry requirements, opportunities and strategies. * The first section, on the environment, outlines the growing interdependencies and linkages that make all firms part of international marketing. Trading blocs and international trade relationships are illustrated using the EC, the former communist bloc, the U.S. and Japan as examples. * Government assistance to firms in the start-up phase of international market entry is highlighted in the second section. These chapters include overviews of export promotion, with detail on who is helped and who isn't. * Chapter 8 presents a detailed study of a state government's efforts in export promotion. * Part 3 studies the factors affecting a firm's decision to internationalize or not. It also deals with the challenges that might be unfamiliar to
