The American Archaeologist Melinda A. Zeder,1997 These and other important insights form the core of this survey report, the first systematic attempt to capture the state of the discipline in terms of training, job and salary distribution, research interests, publications, and funding. Important reading for all professional archaeologists, their students, and those who study gender and work issues.--BOOK JACKET.

The End of Men Hanna Rosin,2012-09-11 Essential reading for our times, as women are pulling together to demand their rights— A landmark portrait of women, men, and power in a transformed world. “Anchored by data and aromatized by anecdotes, [Rosin] concludes that women are gaining the upper hand. -The Washington Post Men have been the dominant sex since, well, the dawn of mankind. But Hanna Rosin was the first to notice that this long-held truth is, astonishingly, no longer true. Today, by almost every measure, women are no longer gaining on men: They have pulled decisively ahead. And “the end of men”—the title of Rosin’s Atlantic cover story on the subject—has entered the lexicon as dramatically as Betty Friedan’s “feminine mystique,” Simone de Beauvoir’s “second sex,” Susan Faludi’s “backlash,” and Naomi Wolf’s “beauty myth” once did. In this landmark book, Rosin reveals how our current state of affairs is radically shifting the power dynamics between men and women at every level of society, with profound implications for marriage, sex, children, work, and more. With wide-ranging curiosity and insight unhampered by assumptions or ideology, Rosin shows how the radically different ways men and women today earn, learn, spend, couple up—even kill—has turned the big picture upside down. And in The End of Men she helps us see how, regardless of gender, we can adapt to the new reality and channel it for a better future.

Feminine, Feministic, Feminists, and Feminisms Bushra Naz,Sadia Irshad,Farzana Masroor,Maria Farooq Maan,Stacy Blythe ,Abida Sharif,2025-08-20 This Research Topic aims at bringing together writings across various disciplines to deliberate on how women as a philosophical, aesthetic, and political category are represented, negotiated, and transformed in the world of today. The representation of women as a philosophical, aesthetic and political category has been shaped by cultural and societal norms, as well as by historical and political factors. While progress has been made in recent years towards greater equality and representation for women, there is still much work to be done to fully recognize and celebrate the diversity and complexity of women's experiences and identities. There have been continued debates around the notion of feminism becoming obsolete because perceptions exist that feminism has achieved all of its goals. However, while certain fights have been partially won, such as the right to vote and equal access to education, women continue to be adversely impacted by all sorts of violence and discrimination in all facets of life. Both the United Nations (UN) and World Health Organization (WHO) have published various reports on injustice to women and the four key findings suggest: 1) approximately 1 in 3 women worldwide, according to WHO, has experienced physical or psychological violence at some point in their lives. UN reports that both women and girls face gender-based violence in the form of domestic violence, human trafficking, and sexual harassment. 2) Women face economic injustice, as the UN reports that women are often less paid than men for the same work and are more likely to work in low-paying jobs in poor working conditions. 3) According to a report by the UN women worldwide have less than 25% of parliamentary seats and only 21 countries have women as heads of state. 4) WHO reports that women face serious and significant health disparities, especially in low-income countries, including maternal mortality, cervical cancer and mental health.
