The Object Parade Dinah Lenney, 2015-04-14 This new collection of interconnected essays marches to a provocative premise: what if one way to understand your life was to examine the objects within it? Which objects would you choose? What memories do they hold? And lined up in a row, what stories do they have to tell? In recalling her experience, Dinah's essays each begin with one thing — real or imaginary, lost or found, rare or ordinary, animal, vegetable, mineral, edible. Each object comes with a memory or a story, and so sparks an opportunity for rue or reflection or confession or revelation, having to do with her coming of age as a daughter, mother, actor, and writer: the piano that holds secrets to family history and inheritance; the gifted watches that tell so much more than time; the little black dress that carries all of youth's love and longing; the purple scarf that stands in for her journey from New York to Los Angeles, across stage and screen, to pursue her acting dream. Read together or apart, the essays project the bountiful mosaic of life and love, of moving to Los Angeles and raising a family; of coming to terms with place, relationship, failures, and success; of dealing with up-ended notions about home and family and career and aging, too. Taken together, they add up to a pastiche of an artful and quirky life, lovingly remembered, compellingly told, wrapped up in the ties that bind the passage of time.

Murder at the Maple Festival Paul A. Newman, 2014-11-18 Tragedy strikes the Geauga County Maple Festival when a local judge is found murdered. Although the event is crowded with townsfolk, one man says the wrong thing and ends up the county's most wanted. He is president of the maple festival, Fred Newman, and he suddenly finds himself under arrest by the Chief of Police. Fred is an attorney in the small town of Chardon, and although he may be a prime suspect, he's thankfully not alone. Several of the townspeople are called before the court, and Fred takes it upon himself to represent his fellow citizens. However, he soon seems even more suspicious when he represents another attorney, which only causes additional small town trouble. Despite the cloud that has settled over Geauga County, Fred continues his duties as President of the maple festival.

He takes his responsibilities seriously, but how can he run a successful event when half the attendees think he might be a murderer? It'll take further investigation and the help of a local police officer to clear Fred's name and save the famous celebration.

Rainn On My Parade LoRee Peery, 2011-04-01 After firefighter Rainn Harris rescues Geneva Carson from being stuck in a tree, she feels she owes him. Helping to care for his autistic niece comes easy, but her attraction to Rainn is a different story. Being drawn to a man twelve years her junior wreaks internal havoc as Geneva attempts to balance responsibility and personal fulfillment. And the prospect of becoming a middle-aged mom to a special-needs child sends Geneva into a tailspin of conflicting emotions. As the custodial parent for his young niece, Rainn is determined to be a better parent than his absentee sister. When Geneva agrees to help care for Mia, Rainn is overjoyed. He admires Geneva's compassion and enthusiasm for life, and expects she'll be a positive influence on Mia. What he doesn't expect is to fall in love with the beautiful and vital woman. But Geneva's hung up on their age difference, and he must convince her of his sincerity before they will ever have a chance at happiness together. As tension threatens to pull them apart, both must learn to rely on the Lord to direct their futures—whether that means two lives joined or paths in opposite directions.

A Prevaricated Parade W. C. Tuttle, 2021-04-11 In 'A Prevaricated Parade' by W. C. Tuttle, readers are taken on a literary journey through a kaleidoscope of characters, each with their own unique stories and perspectives on life. The author's poetic and thought-provoking writing style immerses the reader in a rich and colorful narrative, reminiscent of modernist literature. Through a series of interconnected vignettes, Tuttle explores the complexities of human relationships, identity, and the search for meaning in a constantly shifting world. The book's experimental structure and use of symbolism create a captivating and intellectually stimulating reading experience for those who enjoy challenging and avant-garde literature. Tuttle's mastery of language and storytelling make 'A Prevaricated Parade' a standout work in contemporary fiction. W. C. Tuttle, a reclusive and enigmatic author, draws inspiration from his background in psychology and philosophy to craft intricate and introspective narratives that delve deep into the human experience. His unique perspective and keen insight into the human psyche are evident in 'A Prevaricated Parade', where he skillfully weaves together themes of deception, self-deception, and the elusive nature of truth.
