Doms of Darkness Boxed Set (The Complete Series: Books 1-4) Drusilla Swan, 4 Novellas This is the complete series. SOLD TO THE MASTER VAMPIRE A master vampire takes what he wants, when he wants it. The moment I saw her, I knew I had to have her. The perfect prize. Mine to tame. Mine to pleasure. Mine to protect. A woman I could mold into my future queen. But she's not as helpless as she seems. Will she take her place as my mate? Or will she lead me to my destruction? CAPTURED BY HER VAMPIRE MATE I've tasted her blood and I'm never letting her go. A captured witch with the sweetest blood. Trapped in a war between vampire clans. She made a deal with the devil to secure her freedom. She thought she could escape with her life and purity intact. I should have let her go once she fulfilled her end of the bargain. But I've tasted her sweetness. I want more. I'm claiming her and making her mine. Mine forever. MATED BY THE WARRIOR VAMPIRE A submissive rose that's mine to tame. For hundreds of years, I was a mercenary, a warrior with no ties to the mortal world. Until I met Rose. A mind cursed by dark magic that can only be healed with pain and pleasure. A firm hand is what she needs. She will obey and beg for discipline. Will I be able to tame her before it's too late? TAMED BY HER VAMPIRE PROTECTOR She thinks she wants her freedom, but one look and I knew she was mine. Trapped between the living and the undead, I drifted between two worlds, belonging to neither, with nothing to tie me down. Until I met Meghan. Alone in the world, her past causes her pain. She wants to escape, but I know how to heal her wounds. She is mine to claim. Mine to protect. With the evil forces standing in our way, our moments together are precious. Stolen. Will she accept her place as my mate? Or are we out of time?

The author lost his sense of time and emotions in the process. The author suggests anyone who reads this book will unlock their subconscious. The author suggests that is not a prediction. That author suggests that is a warning. This is the authors third attempt to communicate since the accident. Do not attempt to contact me I am to busy attempting to contact you. Pluralism in the Iraqi Novel after 2003 Ronen Zeidel,2020-01-13 Pluralism in the Iraqi Novel is about the use of literature and the novel to express the new content of an Iraqi national identity constructed after the American invasion of 2003. Instead of the homogenizing national identity in Iraqi literature created before 2003, postoccupation literature presents Iraqi society as a kaleidoscope of multiple religious identities converging in an accommodating Iraqi national identity. The author argues that this could not have happened without the upheaval of 2003 and its consequent results: democracy and political restructuring that incorporated Shia for the first time into the ruling political coalition in recognition of their numerical majority. Literature was consequential to processing the complicated subject of Shia-Sunni relations and the sectarian identity of each and, even more, in the wake of the geopolitical events of 2003, literature was instrument in bringing representation of the Kurds, the small minorities, and even the last Jews of Iraq to the fore. As such, literature demonstrated its revolutionary power and formed the basis for a "New Iraq."

Den of Vipers K a Knight, 2025-03-04 The Vipers run this town and everyone in it. Their deals are as sordid as their business, and their reputation is enough to bring a grown man to his knees, forcing him to beg for mercy. They are not people you mess with, yet my dad did. The old man ran up a debt with them and then sold me to cover his losses. Yes, sold me. They own me now. I'm theirs in every sense of the word. But I've never been meek and compliant. These men, they look at me with longing. Their scarred, blood-stained hands holding me tight. They want everything I am, everything I have to give, and won't stop until they get just that. They can own my body, but they will never have my heart. The Vipers? I'm going to make them regret the day they took me. This girl? She bites too--

The Naturalistic Novel of the New World Joao Sedycias, 1993-08-23 Sedycias fills a significant gap in his comparative study of three major works: Stephen Crane's Maggie: A Girl of the Streets (American), Aluisio Azevedo's O cortico (Brazilian), and Federico Gamboa's Santa (Mexican). Sedycias investigates certain aspects of discontinuity between European naturalistic ideology and literary practices in the New World. He considers questions of cultural and religious backgrounds and also employs Rene Girard's theory of mimetic desire. All three works share an important common denominator: they present a prostitute as a major character and Sedycias examines attitudes towards the fallen woman, desire, and religious salvation with this theme. Plot, structure and language provide traditional modes of comparative study (Sedycias translates all languages in the book himself) while the author questions the general assumptions regarding naturalistic literature and draws his conclusions regarding similarities and individual components of each work. Contents: I. The Prostitute in New World Naturalistic Fiction: 1. Stephen Crane's Maggie: The Fallen woman as Religious Allegory; 2. Aluisio Azevedo's Representation of the Prostitute in O cortico; 3. Beyond Naturalism: Federico Gamboa and the Mexican background of Santa; II. A Girardian Exegesis of the Roman Experimental: 4. Rene Girard and the Concept of Mimetic Desire; 5. Memesis and Crisis in Maggie; 6. Violent Symmetries: Self and Other in O cortico; 7. Federico Gamboa as Geometrician of Desire; III. Conclusions: 8. Cultural Perspectives in New World Naturalistic Fiction; 9. Mimetic Desire and the Naturalistic Novel.

The Hebrew Novel in Czarist Russia David Patterson,1999 The new edition, essentially unchanged, of 1964's volume of the same name (with the absence of the subtitle). The text covers the twenty year period following 1867 (roughly corresponding to the Hebrew movement of enlightenment known as Haskalah). Patterson (Emeritus President of the Oxford Center for Hebrew and Jewish Studies) examines and analyzes 18 Jewish novels mainly concerned with life in the Pale of Settlement--the area to which the Jews of Russia were confined during the late 19th century.
