Philosophical Hermeneutics and Biblical Exegesis Petr Pokorný, Jan Roskovec, 2002 Essays that focus on the analysis of the hermeneutical process, which is what occurs when texts are interpreted successfully. Also includes contributions from prominent researchers from all religious denominations on the subjects of philosophical hermeneutics, exegesis and theology.

Ancient Perspectives on Paul Tobias Nicklas, Andreas Merkt, Joseph Verheyden, 2013-06-19 While the so-called New perspective in Paul has been in the focus of New Testament exegesis for more than 25 years now, ancient interpretations of Pauline texts and ideas have been neglected widely. The present volume aims to fill this gap. Its articles concentrate on three different foci of modern exegesis: interpretations of Paul's conversion, his ideas about the relation of grace and works and the fate of Israel. Several additional articles contrast these ancient perspectives with answers of modern exegesis.

Theologies of Creation in Early Judaism and Ancient Christianity Tobias Nicklas, Korinna Zamfir, 2010-07-30 As environmental destruction begins to seriously affect humans, it has become increasingly relevant to reflect on the essential elements of the Jewish and Christian theologies of creation. The essays in this volume explore key aspects of creation theology, which poses the question of the origin of the world and of man. Creation theology is rooted in the concept of man who owes his existence to God and who is placed in a cosmos which God created as "good". At the same time, the essays show that even back in antiquity, the creation discussion held high potential for ideological criticism.

Ecce Homo Friedrich Nietzsche, 2024-05-09 A new translation with a new introduction, translated directly from the original manuscript of Nietzsche's 1889 Ecce Homo. This edition is bilingual- the original text is included in the back as reference material behind the English translation. This is volume 10 in The Complete Works of Friedrich Nietzsche from LP. This chronological, systematic set of Nietzsche's works is the first ever bilingual complete major works of Nietzsche published in English & the original German. Ecce Homo is the closest to an autobiography from Nietzsche. It is a deeply personal, introspective work reflecting on his life and philosophy shortly before his descent into madness and death the next year. It serves as a summation of his philosophy and a personal autobiography. The title, which translates to Behold the Man, references the moment in the Bible when Pontius Pilate presents Christ to the crowd prior to his crucifixion. Nietzsche uses this phrase to reflect on his own life and philosophy, positioning himself as a Christ-like figure who has suffered for the sake of humanity. It is a work of staggering megalomania, foreshadowing his psychotic break. One of the key themes in the book is the idea of the superman, or Übermensch, which Nietzsche describes as the meaning of my Zarathustra. He argues that the traditional values of Christianity and morality are holding humanity back from reaching its full potential and that individuals must transcend these values to become a superman and achieve true greatness. In the book, he writes, I teach you the Superman. Man is something that shall be overcome.

Body, Heart, and Text in the Pearl-Poet Kevin Marti, 1991 This text argues that discourse on the body in Western European literature must begin by considering how the body served as the most basic medieval matrix for understanding reality; the modern rediscovery of the body and the modern focus on interdisciplinary perspectives constitute a return to medieval ways of knowing.

Picturing the New Testament Annette Weissenrieder, Friederike Wendt, Petra von Gemünden, 2005 How do visual images from the ancient world shed light on New Testament texts? In a methodologically multifaceted manner, the contributions in this volume examine early Christian images with regard to their ancient context. Various New Testament texts (the synoptic gospels, the Johannine and Pauline corpora) are linked to ancient visual images. Various approaches in iconography are summarized and applied to the interpretation of texts, taking account of the strengths and limitations of these images, as well as possible future applications. These essays incorporate current viewpoints from archaeology and the history of art. The topics range from studies of the depictions of Christ and the disciples to the images of humans and the world. This volume provides an innovative basis for the discussion of the iconographic method and the New Testament.

Ein Weltall des Kapitals Jan Völker, 2025-05-22 Nach langer Stille um die staatlichen Raumfahrtprogramme erlebt die Weltraumfahrt eine Renaissance unter dem Vorzeichen der Privatisierung. Touristen werden ins All befördert, Pläne zum Bergbau auf Asteroiden ins Auge gefasst, neue Stätten der Menschheit gesucht – so beginnt die Kolonisation des Weltalls. Einher geht damit die Verfertigung eines neuen Menschenbildes, in dem die Realität vollkommen störungsfrei mit der Imagination übereinkommen soll. Ein Bild, wie Jan Völker anekdotenreich, zugleich mit bestechender Stringenz darlegt, aus dem das Unbewusste ausgeschieden ist. Es trachtet nicht nur danach, die Grenzen der mit Kant begründeten Vernunft zu überwinden, sondern auch das von den Apollo-Missionen geschaffene Bild der Erde, das diese als Umwelt des Menschen zeigte und zur Sorge um den Planeten drängte. Im Blick des Kapitals erweist sich die Erde so nur noch als ein zukünftig verlassener Ort, als Ausgangspunkt für eine neue Wirklichkeit des Menschen – der kommenden Apokalypse überlassen.
