Despoblación y desarrollo sostenible: la Serranía Celtibérica Joaquín Martín Cubas,2022-04-04 La Serranía Celtibérica es un territorio que se extiende por las zonas montañosas de las comunidades autónomas de Aragón, Castilla-La Mancha, Castilla y León, Comunitat Valenciana y La Rioja. Ocupa el 13% del territorio de España, pero solo cuenta con el 1% de sus habitantes. Su densidad de población apenas alcanza 8 hab/km2. Esta situación extrema es la que ha motivado que sea conocida como la zona cero de la despoblación. En 2015 se constituyó la Red de las diez universidades que cuentan con campus en la Serranía Celtibérica -Zaragoza, Valladolid, Jaume I, Burgos, València, Castilla-La Mancha, Alcalá, Nacional de Educación a Distancia, Politècnica de València y La Rioja- con el objetivo de fomentar el desarrollo social, económico y cultural de este territorio a través de la investigación, la formación y la transferencia de conocimiento. Precisamente, esta obra recoge algunas de las ponencias que se defendieron en el I Congreso de la Red de Universidades de la Serranía Celtibérica, celebrado en València, los días 19 y 20 de noviembre de 2021. El objetivo de este libro es aportar propuestas razonadas y razonables a la activación de la Serranía y de sus recursos. Tras estudiar el diagnóstico de la situación y las posibles estrategias a seguir de cara al futuro, se abordan aspectos de la economía, el medio ambiente, la cohesión social, la cultura y la política de este territorio. Un libro, pues, para conocer y saber, pero también para contribuir al diseño de las más innovadoras y mejores soluciones en aras de un futuro sostenible para la Serranía Celtibérica y, también, el conjunto de los territorios que sufren la despoblación.

Cameron, Renata Vieira, Fátima Farrica, José Antonio Rodríguez Esteban, Miguel Ángel Sánchez Herrador, Evangelina Becerra Rodero, Cristina Santos Sánchez, Markéta Šantrůčková, Antal Szántay, Javier Tinoco Domínguez, Ekaterina Yurchik, 2025-02-10 Geohistorical sources, among which are those of the catastral and paracatastral type, generally have greater heterogeneity and typological variety than in their current versions. Thus, research with geohistorical sources, approached from multiple disciplines (Geography, History, Art, Anthropology, Environmental Sciences, Urban Planning, Architecture, Demography...) represents a great boost for the analysis, knowledge and study of the territory, of landscapes and society from a spatiotemporal perspective. This publication with the title Geohistorical sources, new technologies, new challenges was born from the 1st International Congress of Geohistorical Sources: territory and society in time will focus on relevant topics: the application of this type of sources in studies of various typologies; the methodological contributions or the generation of work standards applicable to catastral and para-catastral sources from different areas and periods; didactics around geohistorical sources; the promotion of these sources through the use of new technologies in the field of Humanities and Social Sciences; the study and analysis of catastral, paracatastral, statistical and cartographic documentation whose objective is to know the characteristics of the sources themselves and their contents, etc. In short, this scientific meeting and its subsequent publication in collaboration with the publishers of the University of Cantabria and the Autonomous University of Madrid has the objective of serving as a platform for researchers and technicians who are developing approaches about the purpose of each source, what ideological, political, social and economic circumstances motivated them, what their contents can be used for today, what data are collected and with what criteria they are aggregated and elaborated, what documents are prepared directly and indirectly and, finally, with what human resources, with what techniques they were built and with what technical, human and contextual resources they were developed.

Win or Lose in Rural Development Eugenio Cejudo-García, Francisco Antonio Navarro-Valverde, José Antonio Cañete-Pérez, 2024-02-23 The aims of this book are: systematization and theorization of these projects; clarify and deepen the social and territorial effects of these initiatives; in-depth study of the causes that lead to the generation of successful projects in rural development; and abound in the reasons that lead specific projects to be failed in the access to LEADER support and be finally not implemented. This process of systematization and theorization would contribute to improving the decision-making in rural development, concretely the practice of these policies and initiatives. The book shows the problems, results and best practices that cause the rural development in different areas along with Europe. The multidisciplinary and international character of the authors in the analysis of rural development will enrich the publication and facilitate the different and critical reflections on the contributions, errors and meaning of these rural development practices.

Mediterranean Oak Woodland Working Landscapes Pablo Campos, Lynn Huntsinger, Jose Luis Oviedo, Paul F Starrs, Mario Diaz, Richard B Standiford, Gregorio Montero, 2013-06-18 The oak tree was a boon companion as humans expanded their presence across much of the globe. While oak woodlands (Quercus spp.) come today in stunningly diverse forms, the stately dehesas of Spain and the dramatic oak-dominated ranchlands of California are working landscapes where cultivation and manipulation for a couple of millennia have shaped Mediterranean-type ecosystems into a profoundly modified yet productive environment that is sought-after by every manner of species. The grazing of wildlife and livestock in oak woodlands yields a remarkable plant and animal biodiversity, creating a mosaic of habitats and visually pleasing savannas. Added products unique to Spain such as Iberian pigs and cork, and in California multiple landowner benefits, include valued ecosystem services that allow owners, visitors, and conservation supporters to experience the benefits of woodland life. With its 15 chapters a decade in the making, this handsomely illustrated book covers key topics in oak woodland policy, ecology, and management in Spain and California, presenting new research results and reviewing an existing expert literature.

Caso Cafés La Brasileña: nuevos tiempos, ¿nuevas soluciones? Amaia Lafuente Ruiz de Sabando, 2022-01-04 Cafés La Brasileña, emblemática empresa tostadora de café fundada en Vitoria (Álava, País Vasco) en 1928, gozaba en noviembre de 2020 de una posición consolidada y de un gran reconocimiento en el mercado alavés. Sus cafés e infusiones se podían consumir en multitud de cafeterías, bares y restaurantes de la provincia, así como a través de la amplia red de máquinas expendedoras -vending- que la empresa había logrado desarrollar. También se podían comprar en la mayoría de los supermercados alaveses o en la tienda online de La Brasileña. Pero, además, La Brasileña contaba con siete tiendas propias ubicadas en el centro de la capital alavesa en las que vendía las variedades más selectas de café y otros tipos de productos como infusiones, azúcar, frutos secos, ingredientes para repostería, complementos, etc. Sin embargo, a las puertas de cumplir sus 100 años de historia, el año 2020 planteaba grandes retos a esta empresa alavesa. A las posibilidades de desarrollo que brindaban las tendencias identificadas en el mercado se sumaban los cambios en los hábitos de los consumidores derivados de las medidas impuestas para contener el avance del virus covid-19 entre la población. Era un momento de tremenda incertidumbre en el que Chema Medrano, responsable de marketing de la empresa, se formulaba numerosas preguntas sobre la dirección hacia la que le convendría avanzar a la empresa: «¿Abrimos nuevas tiendas en los barrios jóvenes de la capital alavesa? ¿Y en otras provincias de la geografía española? Si lo hacemos, ¿de qué manera? ¿Optamos por comercios como los actuales o por otros tipos de establecimientos? En cuanto a la marca, ¿deberíamos rejuvenecer alguno de sus elementos? ¿Nos ayudaría a llegar mejor al público joven? ¿O los inconvenientes de este cambio pesarán más que las ventajas?». Las opciones eran muy variadas, ¿cuál sería la mejor para la empresa?

Bridles and Biscuits Gary L. Pinkerton, Tom H. Gann, 2025-05-30 Breakfast and his horse's bridle: these were what a Spanish soldier in 1790s Spanish East Texas traded for the unregulated goods found in his possession. Here Gary L. Pinkerton uncovers the true nature of contraband trade and why it was so pervasive. "This poor soldier," Pinkerton writes, "was willing to ride bridle-less on horseback to Béxar and risk arrest so he could give his wife a gift. No nation on earth could stop that kind of trade." The soldier's confession further reveals that while some smugglers dealt in arms and livestock, most illicit trading at the time was carried out for convenience and economic survival rather than profit. Bridles and Biscuits: Contraband Culture in Spanish East Texas explores the complex economies and shifting structures of a borderland environment. In 1773, as residents of Los Adaes were abruptly forced to relocate to Béxar, the Spanish retreat from the region created a greater opening for unregulated trade among French, American, and Italian settlers. For five years before Spanish subjects resettled Nacogdoches in 1779, the people forced out of Los Adaes forged a new existence on the Trinity River in a place they called Bucareli. There, Antonio Gil Ibarvo solidified his role as a key figure in contraband trade. Through the story of Ibarvo's rise to become the leader of Nacogdoches and his subsequent arrest and removal from that post, Pinkerton demonstrates how the region that hosted the exiled Adaeseños "became the entry point for those with bigger goals than trading horses and skins." As Pinkerton concludes, borders are porous, and over time more was at stake than horse tack and breakfast. Bridles and Biscuits delivers new insights into this relatively unexplored era of colonial Texas history.

Social Innovation in Latin America Sara Calvo, Andrés Morales, 2021-03-08 The Latin American continent contains an incredibly rich diversity from which humans derive a range of ecosystem services (e.g. material goods, cultural benefits, climate regulation, etc.) that contribute to livelihoods and well-being. It has become critical to reconcile social and environmental issues in the region to ensure that development is sustainable and aligned with the Sustainable Development Goals. To ensure the sustainable use and management of social and natural capital in the region, business, government, social enterprises and NGOs are engaging in different forms of social innovation that account for social, ecological and environmental values. This requires the integration of social and natural capital into decision-making at all levels. Latin America presents a useful scenario to explore social innovation in relation to social and environmental values and the management of local human and natural resources. This book presents social innovation initiatives that incorporate social and natural capital into decision-making processes in Latin America. This book aims to provide the reader with an insight into the relevance of social innovation for maintaining and restoring social and natural capital in Latin America. Using case studies from Ecuador, Colombia, Peru, Chile and Mexico, this book provides an insight into the interactions between social innovation and social and natural capital in Latin America and will be of interest to researchers, academics and students in the fields of social innovation, management studies, environmental economics and sustainability.
