Royal Australian Historical Society

The Diggers from China Jean Gittins, 1981 The discovery of gold attracted many migrants to Australia, but none seemed so strange, so outlandish, so disturbing as the Chinese. In this book the nameless faceless horde becomes an adventurous stream of country men from the Pearl River delta, dutiful husbands and sons trying to better their family fortunes in the face of civil war, corrupt administration, avaricious moneylenders, drought and flood. The Chinese endured great hardship to reach the goldfields and, having got there, they faced misunderstanding and hatred. Their lives on the diggings was harsh; few prospered; many died and most of the survivors paid off their debt and returned home.

Gender, Race and National Identity Jackie Hogan, 2008-08-18 This book examines links between gender, race and national identity by analyzing a range of mass-mediated and pop-cultural 'texts' in four nations: Australia, Japan, the United Kingdom and the USA.

Chinese in the West Borneo Goldfields James C. Jackson, 1970

Identity and Belonging Among Chinese Australians Jennifer Martin, Dharma Arunachalam, Helen Forbes-Mewett, 2023-11-20 This book describes the ethnic identity construction involved in 'being', 'feeling' and 'doing' Chinese for multi-generation Australian-born Chinese, who were born and raised in a different social environment. It demonstrates how Chineseness is manifested in a multitude of ways and totally debunks any notion that being Chinese is a simple identity marker. The book shows that while there are commonalities with the American-born, the experiences of Australia-born Chinese are distinct in many ways. This book is a timely and critical examination of the inescapability of Chineseness particularly when social and economic stability is threatened and those in power are looking for a scapegoat.

The Gold Rush Jeremy Thornton, 2003-08-01 This book briefly describes the reasons for Chinese immigration to the United States during the late 19th century, and the challenges they faced on arrival.

Chinese Language and Culture Education Chunyan Zhang, 2024-04-02 Against the background of the Australian government's strategic plan to promote Asian languages in schools, this book is an innovative autoethnographic inquiry into what actually occurs in the implementation of a Chinese language and culture program in an Australian context. Drawing on eight years of socio-cultural and educational fieldwork in a primary school, Chunyan Zhang examines complex, fluid and heterogeneous daily teaching practices and the ways in which ideas of China are assembled, presented and performed. She asks the following questions: What is China? Where does Taiwan fit into the China depicted in a multicultural, globalised classroom? Can Chinese communism or Chairman Mao be avoided in teaching English-speaking learners? What kind of China is brought in here while what kind of China is being silenced and othered? Through the partial connection between method assemblage and Daoist concepts, Zhang develops a water-like pedagogy in teaching. She uses the knowledge flow model to examine the imbalanced knowledge flow within teacher-student interactions. From finding China as a hybrid assemblage to proposing China as method, Zhang's investigation makes an important contribution to the sociology of Chinese language education. This book is an essential and rich content resource for primary and secondary teacher education and research, teacher candidates and educators in Chinese as a second language education.
