Occupational Therapy in Australia Ted Brown, Helen M. Bourke-Taylor, Stephen Isbel, Reinie Cordier, Louise Gustafsson, 2021-04-18 This ground-breaking text provides a comprehensive guide to the occupational therapy profession in Australia, from the profession's role in the health care system to the broad scope and nature of its practice. The book is organised into three sections: the Australian context; professional issues and practice issues. Contributions from 80 Australian occupational therapists working in education, research, policy and practice bring together the most relevant and up-to-date information in this essential book. The authors begin the Australian environment section with an overview of the Australian health care system, a history of occupational therapy in Australia and the role of Australian occupational therapy professional associations and regulatory bodies. The values and philosophy of occupational therapy, ethical and legal aspects of practice and the role of occupational therapy in population health and health promotion are considered next. The professional issues covered in the book include using effective communication skills, client-centred practice principles and a strength-based approach when working with individuals, families, groups, communities, organisations and populations. Additional topics, including occupational science, the education of occupational therapists, research in occupational therapy, evidence-based practice clinical reasoning and occupational therapy models of practice, are also covered in the middle section of the book. Occupational Therapy in Australia: Practice and Process Issues is established as the essential practice reference for students, practitioners and educators in Australia. This second edition has been revised and updated throughout and includes new chapters on communication skills, environmental aspects of occupational therapy practice and decolonising occupational therapy through a strength-based approach to practice.

Mapping the Future of Occupational Therapy Education in the 21st Century, 2009 Report from an investigation into the Australian occupational therapy (OT) competency standards to determine their utility, relevance, appropriateness and currency, and identify the extent of revision required to align the OT competency standards with contemporary requirements. Research involved three aspects. Firstly, a comprehensive literature review to benchmark the OT Competency Standards with contemporary standards of practice, internationally and nationally, within and across disciplines. Secondly, an online survey directed to key representatives familiar with the document. Thirdly, a national series of focus groups to solicit perspectives from members of the professional community. Outcomes of the analyses from these tasks are presented as a final list of recommendations. The project is then considered in terms of: lessons of value to other initiatives, reflections on the state of the OT discipline, and evaluation outcomes from stakeholder feedback. [p.5, ed]

Communication - eBook Gjyn O'Toole, 2020-04-10 Written by Gjyn O'Toole, Communication: Core Interpersonal Skills for Healthcare Professionals 4e is an essential guide to clear and effective communication in a multidisciplinary healthcare setting. Divided into four sections, the fourth edition challenges the reader to reflect upon their personal communication style and habits; introduces strategies and skills to enhance future practice, and encourages the development of confidence through activities, scenarios and case studies. This fully revised fourth edition will appeal to health science students and clinicians seeking to communicate more effectively in an increasingly complex healthcare environment. - Increased focus on digital communication - includes overviews and tips on navigating professional and personal electronic media - Individual and group activities throughout to encourage skill development, reflection and awareness of self and others - An extensive suite of scenarios - practice and apply your communication skills using realistic situations and individuals that healthcare professionals encounter in clinical practice - Chapter 5 The specific goals of communication for healthcare professionals: Effective conclusions of interactions and services: Negotiating closure - Chapter 20 Remote telecommunication or telehealth: The seen, but not-in-the-room healthcare professional - Chapter 23 - Person/s experiencing neurogenic or psychological shock - Chapter 25 - A Person/s fulfilling the role of a grandparent - Chapter 26 - Person/s with a spinal injury - Chapter 27 - A Person/s living in a residential aged care facility - An eBook included in all print purchases

Australian Competency Standards for Occupational Therapists in Mental Health Australian Association of Occupational Therapists, 1999 The Australian Competency Standards for Occupational Therapists in Mental Health provide therapists with a framework for the development and assessment of their professional competence.

Communication - E-Book Gjyn O'Toole, 2024-09-03 Essential guide to better communication in practice Communication is a core skill for all healthcare professionals, regardless of their specific discipline. The fifth edition of Communication: Core Interpersonal Skills for Healthcare Professionals provides a comprehensive introduction that will be invaluable for students undertaking any training program in health. The book guides students toward an understanding of all the basic communication techniques and skills they will need in practice. They will learn to develop self-awareness about the impact their words and actions might have on others, use a person-centred model to reconstruct their communication style and approach, and then apply their new knowledge and skills to real-life scenarios. Easy to read and logically ordered over four sections, this book will guide students towards developing lifelong communication skills that will ultimately enable optimal person-centred care, successful therapeutic relationships and positive patient outcomes. - A focus on person-centred care and culturally responsive communication - Assists students to reflect on their personal communication style and habits, then learn and practise strategies and skills to enhance future communication in practice - Builds confidence in communication through activities, scenarios and case studies - Explores communication with Indigenous peoples to improve healthcare outcomes - Includes digital communication – overviews and tips on navigating professional and personal electronic media - Scenarios, case studies, individual and group activities, role-plays and end-of-chapter questions support learning - Straightforward language makes learning accessible for students in all health disciplines - Student and instructor resources, including a quiz, semester planner and a tutorial guide contribute to engaging students New to this edition - New chapter on the requirements of communication within multidisciplinary or interprofessional teams - Fully updated to reflect the latest research - Updated references throughout the text to reflect current discussion and requirements of communication in healthcare Instructor resources on Evolve: - PowerPoint slides - Semester planner - Tutorial activities - Testbank (MCQs) - Image collection Student and Instructor resources on Evolve: - Answers to end-of-chapter review questions - Student quiz (MCQ + T/F) *This text is supported by Stories in Health Communication, 1st Edition, a collection of 12 short videos demonstrating effective and ineffective scenarios of communication.

Ryan's Occupational Therapy Assistant Karen Sladyk, Sally E. Ryan, 2001 The classic foundation work developed by Sally Ryan, COTA, ROH, has been completely revised and updated to reflect current healthcare trends. The reformulation of Ryan's Occupational Therapy Assistant: Principles, Practice Issues and Techniques, Third Edition includes occupation-based case studies that highlight the didactic material presented in each chapter, along with an updated style of information. Four sections make up the new integrated text. The first section looks at important foundation concepts such as history, uniform technology, and the occupational therapy process. The second section introduces readers to people who are experiencing the challenges of disabilities. The chapters provide general information about the disabilities, as well as essential vocabulary and key concepts. The third section provides information on the doing of occupational therapy. Foundation treatment techniques are introduced so readers can master basic skills and continue to research current practice. Lastly, the fourth section focuses on the management aspects of an OTA's professional life. How-to information, as well as professional development, is the focus of this section.
