Cultures of Work, the Neoliberal Environment and Music in Higher Education Sally Macarthur,Julja Szuster,Paul Watt,2024-03-29 This edited book considers the impact of neoliberalism on music teaching, research and scholarship in a higher education context. As a subject that bears little resemblance to other university practical disciplines, and fares poorly in a model driven by economics, the book considers whether musicology is a 'public good' or a threatened species. It contemplates what musicology can usefully contribute to a paradigm driven by economics, and questions whether it is ever possible to recover an ideal civil subject in neoliberal music academia. Contributions investigate what it means to build music research capacity in innovative ways, such as forging cross-cultural relationships, subverting conventional notions of quality and value, replacing them with knowledges and values that guide Indigenous intellectual traditions, and whether interventions into the legacy of colonialism are truly ever possible in neoliberal higher education institutions that celebrate difference and diversitywhile reinforcing social inequities. The book also explores the relationships between gender and music, music research training and scholarship, and whether the interdisciplinarity championed by the university is ever workable. Finally, it undertakes a cross-disciplinary, new materialist reading of a canonical musical work, offering a radically new perspective. The book will appeal to students and scholars of music education, musicology, higher education studies and the creative arts more broadly.

Women at Work Anna M. Maslin,2002 Written by Professor Anna M. Maslin, Women at Work details the challenges and sacrifices of a selection of high calibre women who have achieved recognition and success in both their working and personal lives. These thought-provoking and practical profiles give us a glimpse into the lives of over 40 women, many of whom have made a global impact through their work. Contributors range from Heather Angel, Countess Elizabeth Longford, Darcey Bussell, Sarah Doukas, Glenys Kinnock, to Sally Magnusson, Virginia McKenna, Rabbi Julia Neuberger, Anita Roddick and Dame Helen Suzman, to name but a few, and cover issues as diverse as the Mandela years, Princess Diana, Chernobyl, politics, science and ballet. Women at Work covers relevant issues for women in, or hoping to be in, challenging personal roles and takes inspiration from women who have achieved excellence in their own unique worlds. Maslin creates an awareness and understanding of issues that women face in the workplace and offers encouragement to women who wish to gain their own brand of success. Women at Work is a unique snapshot, sharing the perspectives and experiences of nearly a century of outstanding women.
