Stories of the Most Dangerous Wars in Human History Hseham Amrahs, 2024-01-07 One of the key themes of this book is the evolution of warfare. As technology advanced, so did the nature of warfare. From swords and shields to tanks and fighter jets, each era has seen significant advancements in weapons and military technology. The book explores how these advancements changed the way wars were fought and how they impacted the outcome of battles. Another important theme is the political and social ramifications of war. Many wars have had far-reaching consequences that have affected the course of history long after the battles were fought. The book examines how wars have shaped societies and economies, and how they have influenced international relations and diplomacy. It is worth noting that the book does not glorify war, nor does it seek to justify or excuse acts of violence. Instead, it aims to provide an objective and informative account of the most dangerous wars in history. By examining the causes and consequences of these conflicts, we can gain a better understanding of the human condition and how we interact with one another.

West African Studies The Geography of Conflict in North and West Africa OECD, Sahel and West Africa Club, 2020-02-14 African governments are increasingly confronted with new forms of political violence. This study maps the evolution of violence across North and West Africa, with a particular focus on Mali, Lake Chad and Libya.

The Struggle for Libya Miral Sabry AlAshry, 2021-04-27 The struggles for Libya provides a comprehensive coverage/analysis of the conflict in Libya, its actors and their goals, local, regional, and external dynamics and how it escalates to a degree that Libya has fallen into a failed state. In the book, there is deep anatomy of the fragmentation process that took place since the 2011 revolution and how competing and, in most cases, conflicting opponents were intervening to share the wealth of Libya. It is clear from reading the book that local forces were, to great extent, coopted by external powers to fight for domination and possession of power notwithstanding the safety and security of Libyans. While external intervention in 2011 was a necessity to topple the Gaddafi regime, later such presents ignited and escalated the civil war. However, lately, the United Nations played and still plays a constructive role in making reconciliation leading to the formation of the national government and national assembly. The struggle for Libya presents a real case study of the transformation from overt conflict and animosity to a national consensus. It provides students, media professionals, academicians and policymakers with tools and processes regarding conflicts, negotiations, compromises, and accords. It is important to think of Libya now as a post-conflict state going through nation-building and regaining relative sovereignty.

Most Dangerous Wars in World History Yknip Ahsi, 2025-02-01 Most Dangerous Wars in World History explores the deadliest and most consequential wars that have shaped human civilization. Covering conflicts from ancient battles to modern wars, it examines military strategies, technological advancements, and their political, social, and economic repercussions. Without glorifying war, the book provides an objective analysis of warfare's impact on history, emphasizing the importance of learning from the past to strive for a more peaceful future.

West African Studies Conflict Networks in North and West Africa OECD, Sahel and West Africa Club, 2021-03-29 Conflicts in North and West Africa have become more violent and widespread than in the past. They have also become more difficult to resolve due to the complex relationships between a growing number of belligerents with diverging agendas. This report maps conflict networks and the evolution of rivalries and alliances in 21 North and West African countries.

Rethinking Statehood in the Middle East and North Africa Abel Polese, Ruth Hanau Santini, 2020-05-21 Alternative forms of government and statehood exist in the Middle East and North African regions. The chapters in this volume demonstrate this and explore the notion of power from a non-statist perspective, highlighting the limits of states and their governance. Using empirical evidence from Syria, Libya, Lebanon, Tunisia, Iraq, Yemen, and Mali, the authors explore non-standard cases where power may be retained by a state but must be shared with a number of local actors, resulting in limited statehood and hybrid governance, which leads to competition and sharing of symbolic and political power within a state. This book is intended to prompt a critical reflection on the meaning of governance. It will illuminate informal structures which deserve attention when studying governance and power dynamics within a state or a region. This book was originally published as a special issue of Small Wars & Insurgencies.

The State of African Cities, 2014 United Nations Publications, 2015-09-10 The African continent is currently in the midst of simultaneously unfolding and highly significant demographic, economic, technological, environmental, urban and socio-political transitions. Africa's economic performance is promising, with booming cities supporting growing middle classes and creating sizable consumer markets. Despite significant overall growth, the continent continues to suffer under very rapid urban growth accompanied by massive urban poverty and many other social problems. These seem to indicate that the development trajectories followed by African nations since post-independence may not be able to deliver on the aspirations of broad based human development and prosperity for all. This report, therefore, argues for a bold re-imagining of prevailing models in order to steer the ongoing transitions towards greater sustainability based on a thorough review of all available options. That is especially the case since the already daunting urban challenges in Africa are now being exacerbated by the new vulnerabilities and threats associated with climate and environmental change.

Child Marriage in Humanitarian Settings in the Arab Region Samira Atallah, 2016-11-15 This study tackles the issue of female child marriage in the Arab region, particularly in conflict and humanitarian settings. It explores the causes of this problem, with a distinction between such structural determinants as family and community relations and gender roles that have long been present in many Arab countries, and such contextual determinants as instability, displacement and extreme poverty. It also investigates the economic and health effects of child marriage, for young brides, their children and their communities, especially in post-conflict contexts. The study also provides an overview of national obligations with regard to preventing child marriage, as stipulated by international instruments and humanitarian laws. It concludes with policy recommendations to address the multifaceted dimensions of child marriage and its implications for the rights of the girl-child.

Assessing Arab Economic Integration United Nations Publications, 2015 The goal of this first edition of the Assessing Arab Economic Integration Report is to provide a quantitative assessment of regional economic integration efforts, and generate practical and implementable policy advice for Member States. Following a concise review of the potential impact and channels of economic integration, a system of indexes has been developed for performance evaluation, monitoring and comparison of integration at the global, regional, and bilateral levels. This report shows that Arab countries' abilities to unlock the potential for further intra-regional integration rely partly on their capacity to address a number of cross-cutting structural features that act as facilitators and condition their performances. It makes a clear argument that economic integration is a means by which Arab countries can ensure their growth and diversification, thus bringing both individual country-level and communal regional-level benefits.
