

It Goes Like This

Rachel S Tattersall

And It Goes Like This... G. Andi Rhos, 2007-10 Socially awkward Charlotte-Louise Andrews, fifteen and naive, is the only child of a single mother who puts booze before her daughter. Desperate for acceptance, Charlotte-Louise latches on to an unruly, street smart teen who guides her through various sordid inner city adventures, and later introduces her to Joaquin Lomax. Sharp minded, twenty-year-old Joaquin seduces the emotionally scarred Charlotte-Louise with attention, gifts, his good looks and nice guy exterior. Charlotte-Louise is in over her head before she realizes she's hooked up with a brutal, ingenious drug dealer. In this startling three-year account of Charlotte-Louise's life, wrapped in a candid Blatino family saga, she becomes helplessly entangled in Joaquin's fast, illicit world - a world of sex, crime, and deception ... until she turns the tables.

The Process of Learning about Static Electricity and the Role of the Computer Simulator Valerie K. Otero,2001

The concepts investigated in this study stemmed from two things. First, a pilot study where we found that the static electricity simulator results coupled with the CPU pedagogical structure provided facilitated the articulation and sharing of ideas in a small group of three students. From this we hypothesized that the simulator tools played a role in knowledge construction and we wanted to find out more about what role it played. Second, the past ten years of research in mathematics and science education has led to the recognition of the importance of the instructional setting, collaboration, and cognitive tools in the construction of knowledge. A tradition has emerged where researchers have begun to look at the individual's knowledge construction through a different lens than the knowledge that emerges through group interactions. From this type of research, we can learn about the knowledge construction of the individual and the knowledge construction of the group. We can understand how the interactions within the group have influenced the knowledge development of the individual. However, we cannot learn about how the individual influences the group parameters. Repeated interactions between individuals and tools can fundamentally change the social and material setting. We need to look at how the social and material setting changes as a result of the individuals' interaction with it and how this changing social setting influences the conceptual development of the individual. Investigating interdependent interaction between the individual and the social and material setting is the foundation for this work. I believe that understanding learning requires more than understanding the individual and understanding the social environment of which he was a part. Understanding learning means understanding how the individual changes the social and material setting and how these changes influence the individual. This dissertation is devoted to understanding individuals' learning, the factors that influenced it and further understanding how these factors were determined by the knowledge evolution of the individual.
