Optimization of Biodiesel and Biofuel Process Diego Luna, Antonio Pineda, Rafael Estevez, 2021-09-02 Although the compression ignition (C.I.) engine, invented by Rudolf Diesel, was originally intended to work with pure vegetable oils as fuel, more than a century ago, it was adapted to be used with a fuel of fossil origin, obtained from oil. Therefore, there would be no technical difficulties in returning to the primitive design of using biofuels of renewable origin, such as vegetable oils. The main drawback is found in the one billion C.I. engines which are currently in use, which would have to undergo a modification in the injection system in order to adapt them to the higher viscosity of vegetable oils in comparison to that of fossil fuels. Thus, the gradual incorporation of biofuels as substitutes of fossil fuels is mandatory.

Ferrándiz, el matamujeres Cruz Morcillo, 2024-06-03 Joaquín Ferrándiz era un buen hijo, un empleado sin tacha y un amigo en el que confiar. Pero el yerno perfecto para cualquier vecina ocultaba a un depredador, capaz de sembrar de cadáveres de mujeres la provincia de Castellón sin que lo descubrieran. El cazador que actuaba los fines de semana estranguló a cinco jóvenes entre 1995 y 1996 y arrojó sus cuerpos en descampados y charcas mientras seguía con su vida anodina. La Guardia Civil lo detuvo en 1998, cuando ya había atacado a otras dos chicas que lograron escapar de una muerte segura. Ferrándiz había pasado cinco años en prisión por violar a una mujer a finales de los ochenta. A los cuatro meses de salir de la cárcel asesinó a Sonia Rubio, su primera víctima. Sus tres crímenes siguientes acabaron con un camionero inocente en la cárcel. Ferrándiz, el matamujeres, es un psicópata de libro para quienes lo persiguieron. Agentes, fiscal, abogados y juez detallan ahora cómo fue ese combate desigual, con una investigación inicial errática y sin salida, en la que todos acabaron implicándose personalmente, y en la que la perfilación criminal desempeñó un papel relevante por primera vez. El asesino en serie acabó cumpliendo solo cinco años por cada crimen y desde julio de 2023 está en libertad. Tiene 61 años. Los expertos sostienen que es «una bomba de relojería». Él dice que su ilusión es volver a ser «una persona normal».

Olor a muerte en Pioz Beatriz Osa, 2020-02-10 ¿De dónde procedía ese hedor? ¿A qué se debía el silencio sepulcral que rodeaba el 594 de la calle Sauces, en Pioz? El 17 de septiembre del 2016, la Guardia Civil descubrió cuatro cadáveres de una familia metidos en seis bolsas de basura. ¿La obra de un sicario? ¿Una venganza? Nada encajaba. Así arrancó la investigación de uno de los crímenes más brutales de nuestra historia del que, aún hoy, el asesino no ha querido dar todos los detalles. Patrick Nogueira tenía diecinueve años cuando descuartizó a sus tíos, Marcos y Janaína, y asesinó a sus primos, David y

Carolina, de uno y tres años. Hoy cumple prisión permanente revisable y sigue guardando secretos. Estas páginas encierran la petición que le hizo a uno de sus guardianes.

Plant Proteomic Research 2.0 Setsuko Komatsu,2019-06-24 Advancements in high-throughput “Omics” techniques have revolutionized plant molecular biology research. Proteomics offers one of the best options for the functional analysis of translated regions of the genome, generating a wealth of detailed information regarding the intrinsic mechanisms of plant stress responses. Various proteomic approaches are being exploited extensively for elucidating master regulator proteins which play key roles in stress perception and signaling, and these approaches largely involve gel-based and gel-free techniques, including both label-based and label-free protein quantification. Furthermore, post-translational modifications, subcellular localization, and protein-protein interactions provide deeper insight into protein molecular function. Their diverse applications contribute to the revelation of new insights into plant molecular responses to various biotic and abiotic stressors.

Sustainability as a Multi-criteria Concept Luis Diaz-Balteiro,Jacinto González-Pachón,Carlos Romero,2020-11-23

Sustainability is a fairly old concept, born in the 18th century in the field of forestry, within a mono-functionality perspective. The concept has considerably evolved in the last few years towards a multi-functionality context, with applications reported in practically all areas of economic interest. On the other hand, modern sustainability is a complex problem, for two reasons: a) The multiplicity of functions of a very different nature involved in the process and b) The manner in which different segments of the society or stakeholders perceive the relative importance of these functions. For the above reasons, a realistic approach for dealing with the sustainability issue requires taking into consideration multiple criteria of different nature (economic, environmental and social), and in many cases within a participatory decision making framework. This book presents a collection of papers, dealing with different theoretical and applied issues of sustainability, with the help of a modern multi-criteria decision-making theory, with a single as well as several stakeholders involved in the decision-making process. Hopefully, this material will encourage academics and practitioners to alter their research in this hot and vital topic. After all, the sustainable management of the environment and its embedded resources is one of the most important, if not the major challenge of the 21st century.
