Frances Burnett

The Making of a Marchioness Frances Hodgson Burnett, 2022-05-25 Frances Hodgson Burnett's The Making of a Marchioness is a compelling exploration of class, ambition, and transformation set against the backdrop of early 20th-century England. Through a rich narrative interlaced with vivid characterizations and intricate social dynamics, Burnett introduces readers to the life of Emily Fox-Seton, a resourceful and solitary woman who navigates her way from her humble beginnings to the opulent world of the British aristocracy. The novel marries elements of romance and social commentary while employing a lyrical prose style that reflects Burnett's mastery of emotional depth and realism, allowing readers to engage fully with Emily's journey of self-discovery and societal expectation. Burnett, an acclaimed author known for her deep empathy for her characters and their circumstances, draws upon her own experiences of socioeconomic mobility and cultural displacement. Her personal encounters with both privilege and hardship inform the poignant themes in this work, emphasizing the importance of inner strength and resilience. Having achieved literary fame through works such as The Secret Garden, she combines her understanding of the human spirit with a critique of class structures in this transitional era. Readers seeking a nuanced narrative that delves into the complexities of social strata and personal aspiration will find The Making of a Marchioness both engaging and thought-provoking. Burnett's ability to craft relatable, multidimensional characters elevates this novel beyond a simple romantic tale, making it a significant contribution to the conversation about identity and status in literature.

The Making of a Marchioness Frances Hodgson Burnett, 1901 The Making of a Marchioness follows thirty-something Emily who lives alone, humbly and happily, in a tiny apartment and on a meager income. She is the one that everyone counts on but no one goes out of their way to accommodate. This Cinderella-like story remains a much-loved favorite among many.

Emily Fox-Seton Frances Hodgson Burnett, 2021-10-21 Emily Fox-Seton is a well-bred but penniless lady who works for the selfish Lady Maria Bayne. At 34, she knows she is unlikely to marry, and her prospects are bleak. Despite that, she has a positive outlook and enjoys the simple pleasures of life. Her kindness, unselfishness and desire to make others happy attract the aging and wealthy Marquis Walderhurst. He sweeps her off her feet and they get married. Not long after, he travels to India, leaving Emily with child. But not everyone is happy for Emily.. Soon, her husband's former heir, Alec Osborn, arrives and attempts to regain what he believes is his birthright. Mysterious murder plots arise, putting Emily and her child in danger. Will she find her happy ever after? Set in the early 19th century, this Cinderella-like story is a collection of two separate books, The Making of a Marchioness and its sequel The Methods of Lady Walderhurst. Frances Eliza Hodgson Burnett (1849-1924) was born in Manchester, England, but emigrated to the United States after her father's death. She wrote stories for magazines to help her family financially, and would later write plays and novels. Her most famous works are 'A Little Princess' (1905) and 'The Secret Garden' (1911).

The Making of a Marchioness (Emily Fox-Seton, Complete) Frances Hodgson Burnett, 2013-11-10 This carefully crafted ebook: The Making of a Marchioness + The Shuttle (2 Unabridged Classic Romances) contains 2 books in one volume and is formatted for your eReader with a functional and detailed table of contents. Frances Hodgson Burnett worked on two books simultaneously: The Shuttle, a longer and more complicated book; and The Making of a Marchioness, which she wrote in a few weeks and published to good reviews. It is about the rejuvenating effects of Americans and American money on a somewhat decadent English aristocracy. The Making of a Marchioness (1901) It was originally published in two parts: the first tells the fairy tale-like story of how our heroine, Emily Fox-Seton, became the Marchioness of Walderhurst. The second, originally titled The Methods of Lady Walderhurst, is a down-to-earth portrayal of the realities of Victorian marriage, with a bit of a Victorian sensation vibe to it. The Shuttle (1907) It was begun in 1900 but frequently abandoned while its author, Frances Hodgson Burnett, wrote several other books, including, most famously, The Making of a Marchioness. The Shuttle is about American heiresses marrying English aristocrats; by extension it is about the effect of American energy and dynamism rejuvenating a somewhat decadent English aristocracy: Rosalie Vanderpoel, the daughter of an American multimillionaire marries an impoverished English baronet and goes to live in England. She all but loses contact with her family in America. Years later her younger sister Bettina, beautiful, intelligent and extremely rich, goes to England to find what has happened to her sister. She finds Rosalie shabby and dispirited, cowed by her husband's ill treatment. Bettina sets about to rectify matters... Frances Eliza Hodgson Burnett (1849 - 1924) was an English-American playwright and author. She is best known for her children's stories, in particular Little Lord Fauntleroy, A Little Princess, and The Secret Garden.

Emily Fox-Seton - Being "the Making of a Marchioness" and "the Methods of Lady Walderhurst" Frances Hodgson Burnett, 2018-02-24 This edition unites both stories about the cheerful heroine Emily Fox-Seton, as she works in the service of wealthy families as a companion and general assistant. Although born to a good family, Emily's fate is seemingly changed for good owing to her lack of finances. As a single woman in the late 19th century, she is unable to use her station to change her predicament; she works in the employ of Lady Maria Bayne. Although self-centered, Maria has a robust sense of humor and carries a genuine fondness for the young Emily. Embarrassed of her poverty, Emily's strength is drawn from her sunny outlook and practical ability to see and work around the positive side in any obstacle that confronts her. The strong, can-do attitude of Emily proves its worth as she surmounts the lack of economic opportunities available to a person in her situation. Emily's personality proves pivotal; she attracts the attention of James, who is to become her love interest. Brought to popular attention in the modern day by a modern film adaptation commissioned by PBS, the Emily Fox-Seton stories have also been adapted for radio and reprinted through the years. Although aspects of the language are dated to the time, in particular the terms directed at non-white characters, the book remains an uplifting story wherein a young woman attempts to triumph against difficult odds.

A woman whose tailor-made suit must last two or three years soon learns how to protect it from splashes, and how to aid it to retain the freshness of its folds. During her trudging about this morning in the wet, Emily Fox-Seton had been very careful, and, in fact, was returning to Mortimer Street as unspotted as she had left it. She had been thinking a good deal about her dress - this particular faithful one which she had already worn through a twelvemonth. Emily Fox-Seton has a beautiful glossy cover and a blank page for the dedication.

O awaken in a still, delicious room, with the summer morning sun shine breaking softly into it through leafy greenness, was a delightful thing to Miss Fox-Seton, who was accustomed to opening her eyes upon four walls covered with cheap paper, to the sound of outside hammerings, and the rattle and heavy roll of wheels. In a building at the back of her bed-sitting-room there lived a man whose occupation, beginning early in the morning, involved banging of a persistent nature. She awakened to her first day at Mallowe, stretching herself luxuriously, with the smile of a child. She was so thankful for the softness of her lavender-fragrant bed, and so delighted with the lovely freshness of her chintz-hung room. As she lay upon her pillow, she could see the boughs of the trees, and hear the chatter of darting starlings. When her morning tea was brought, it seemed like nectar to her. She was a perfectly healthy woman, with a palate as unspoiled as that of a six-year-old child in the nursery. Her enjoyment of all things was so normal as to be in her day and time an absolute abnormality. She rose and dressed at once, eager for the open air and sunshine. She was out upon the lawn before any one else but the Borzoi, which rose from beneath a tree and came with stately walk toward her. The air was exquisite, the broad, beautiful stretch of view lay warm in the sun, the masses of flowers on the herbaceous borders showed leaves and flower-cups adorned with glittering drops of dew. She walked across the spacious sweep of short-cropped sod, and gazed enraptured at the country spread out below. She could have kissed the soft white sheep dotting the fields and lying in gentle, huddled groups under the trees. The darlings! she said, in a little, effusive...
