60 Strategies for Improving Reading Comprehension in Grades K-8 Kathleen Feeney Jonson, 2005-12-21 Use these fun, easy-to-use activities to tackle the most challenging aspect of reading! Finally, someone has written a practical book filled with easy-to-read comprehension strategies. I will definitely use this book with teachers in my district to teach about and review comprehension strategies. The section on 'How Can We Learn More' is also fantastic. Thank you, Kathleen Jonson. -- Hazel Brauer, Literacy Coordinator Jefferson Elementary School District, Daly City, CA This book is a comprehensive, well-organized guide to teaching reading comprehension. The clear, consistent layout of the lesson plans makes it easy for the teacher to locate and implement appropriate lessons quickly. The examples are very helpful and the templates allow a teacher to begin lessons immediately. The wide variety of lesson plans makes this guide truly useful for all grade levels. -- Myra Gamble, Reading Specialist Spring Valley School, Millbrae, CA Comprehension is the final goal of reading, but because it involves several cognitive processes, it remains the most difficult facet of reading development to teach. Based on the recommendations of the National Reading Panel Report, 60 Strategies for Improving Reading Comprehension in Grades K-8 provides teachers with a ready-to-use toolkit of tried-and-true learning strategies designed to actively engage students in cognitive processes, including predicting, visualizing, making inferences, monitoring, synthesizing, and summarizing. Developed as specific instructional procedures with clearly delineated steps for implementation, these entertaining activities are effective in all types of classrooms. Each of the 60 strategies in the book includes: Grade-level recommendations Goals for each strategy Step-by-step instructions Graphics and examples of student work Directions for modifying strategies for different grade levels Literary expert Kathleen Feeney Jonson has created an exciting resource to help educators teach the most difficult piece of the reading process: comprehension. Offering a rare combination of fun and function, these strategies are sure to get students to listen, laugh, and most important, to learn.

Teaching Character Analysis Jessica A. Jaeger,2009 Research Questions: In what ways will focusing on writing strong assertions about characters using trait words and supporting those assertions with evidence from the text influence students' ability to write a character analysis essay? (1) To what extent will having students generate a class-based list of character trait words engage students in their character analysis writing? (2) How will the process of modeling by collaboratively writing a character analysis essay with students in class influence their writing character analysis essays? Research Activities: Context: This research took place in an eighth-grade English classroom in an agricultural community in northern California. The class was comprised of 21 female students and 10 male students of various ability levels. Eight focus students, 5 female and 3 male, were selected. One of the male students was an EL student, and one of the female students was RFEP. Students were chosen from the Advanced to Basic range as determined by the California STAR test. Methods and Data: The intervention had two focuses: developing precise trait vocabulary and developing strong assertions and support for use in a character analysis essay. The entire intervention lasted approximately two months. Throughout the intervention, numerous activities were implemented to teach students trait vocabulary and effective ways to support a thesis statement. These activities included generating a class-based list of character traits, supporting assertions with specific textual evidence, engaging in a debate based on assertions and evidence, creating a rubric for a character analysis essay, discussing a teacher-modeled essay, and writing three separate character analysis essays. Pre- and post-intervention achievement data consisted of students' essay responses to a character analysis prompt in a timed 50-minute period. Essays were analyzed for exactness and accuracy of trait words present in the writing and a well-developed and supported thesis statement. Students were also given self-assessment surveys for pre- and post-intervention attitude data. Observation data were gathered during and after intervention activities in a teacher research journal. Results: The results of the intervention showed significant student improvement. Between the baseline and outcome achievement data sets, the scores for thesis and support shifted markedly from Below Basic and Basic to Proficient and Advanced. On the baseline data, only fourteen students (46%) in the target class scored Proficient or Advanced, but on the outcome data, twenty-six students (84%) scored in this range. Fourteen of those twenty-six (54%) scored Advanced, meaning that over half of the target class wrote essays containing well-developed thesis statements that were supported by several textual references. From baseline to outcome data, the scores for students' use of trait vocabulary also showed improvement. On the baseline data, no students scored Advanced and only five scored Proficient in the vocabulary category. The rest of the students scored Basic or Below Basic. On the outcome data, however, no students scored Basic or Below Basic, instead scoring Proficient (9 students, 29%) and Advanced (22 students, 71%). The significant majority of the class scored Advanced, meaning they used appropriate vocabulary and described the character they were analyzing through exact and accurate trait words. Students' indication of understanding both character analysis and thesis assertions and support also increased significantly from the baseline to outcome attitude data, as well as student confidence levels for writing a character analysis essay. For baseline data, only 27% of students reported they were confident and no students reported very confident; for outcome data, 40% of students reported confident and an additional 24% reported very confident. Findings indicate that focused instruction that sequences work on skills over time should be used to improve the use of precise character trait vocabulary and the ability to support strong assertions in character analysis essays. Grade: Eighth Grade. Research Methods: Writing Samples, Writing Assessment, Survey-Attitude, Survey-Concepts, Observation-Field Notes, Student Work. Curriculum Areas: English Language Arts, Writing. Instructional Approaches: Writing-Response to Literature, Writing-Rubrics, Modeling, Writing-Explicit Instruction.

Here's How to Teach Voice and Communication Skills to Transgender Women Abbie Olszewski, Selah Sullivan, Adriano Cabral, 2018-12-10 Here's How to Teach Voice and Communication Skills to Transgender Women is a detailed guide to help speech-language pathologists (SLPs) provide instruction for male-to-female (MtF) transgender women during their transition process. This program guides SLPs to safely modify a MtF transgender woman's voice through behavioral modification therapy. SLPs can teach this population how to modify their voice through good vocal hygiene, vocal relaxation, breath support, pitch, resonance, breathiness, and verbal and nonverbal communication exercises. This text presents the Voice and Communication Program for Transgender Women (VCMtF Program), which was developed to train graduate speech-language pathology students how to deliver voice and communication services. The purpose of this text is to share the VCMtF Program with other SLPs who will provide voice and communication services to transgender women. The VCMtF Program is unique because it is easy to use, manualized, and systematically targets voice, verbal communication, and nonverbal communication. Included in this text are resources for the clinician, an introduction to the VCMtF Program, methods and materials for assessment, and comprehensive program sessions. The VCMtF Program is divided into eight sessions with step-by-step instructions for every exercise. Each session is organized using material lists, approximate times, teaching methods, check-ins, feedback, and homework. There are check boxes to mark off the completion of exercises in each area of the program and there is space for the SLP to make clinical observations. Exercises and targets are set up within a hierarchy so that the level of difficulty may be tailored to each client's abilities and how far she has advanced in the VCMtF Program. Also included are videos to support the exercises used in the program.
