Migration and Forced Displacement - Vulnerability and Resilience - Volume 2 Samson Maekele Tsegay, 2024-11-06

Migration has been one of the contested topics among scholars and politicians throughout the world. Similarly, the experiences of refugees, asylum seekers, and migrants have been different as they are influenced by race, gender, class, and geographical location. This book explores the experiences of international migrants, including the challenges they face from nation-states, environmental issues, and sociocultural factors. It consists of chapters that discuss the causes and effects of migration, the role of nation-states, and the environment. Moreover, the book covers gender and family relations and the relationship of refugees and migrants with the host population and the socio-cultural and economic integration of migrants. Overall, the book argues that international migrants, particularly refugees and asylum seekers, are among the most vulnerable groups in the world. However, they use various strategies to overcome their vulnerability and become resilient in the face of adversity. Hence, the book contributes to increasing people's awareness of migration and the experiences of refugees, asylum seekers, and migrants. It can also be a significant source for initiating further debate and academic discussion on issues of migration and forced displacement, vulnerability, and resilience.

Mass Migration to Modern Latin America Samuel L. Baily, Eduardo José Míguez, 2003 It is well known that large numbers of Europeans migrated overseas during the century preceding the Great Depression of 1930, many of them to the United States. What is not well known is that more than 20 percent of these migrants emigrated to Latin America, significantly influencing the demographic, economic, and cultural evolution of many areas in the region. Mass Migration to Modern Latin America includes original contributions from more than a dozen leading scholars of the innovative new Latin American migration history that has emerged in the past 20 years. Though the authors focus primarily on the nature and impact of mass migration to Argentina and Brazil from 1870-1930, they place their analysis in broader historical and comparative contexts. Each section of the book begins with personal stories of individual immigrants and their families, providing students with a glimpse of how the complex process of migration played out in various situations. This book demonstrates the crucial impact of the mass migrations of the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries on the formation of some Latin American societies.

Borges,2009-02-15 This special issue of the Portuguese Studies Review presents studies by Emir Reitano, Oswaldo Truzzi and Ana Silvia Volpi Scott, Jo-Anne S. Ferreira, Marcelo J. Borges, Heloisa Paulo, Caroline B. Brettell, Zeila de Brito Fabri Demartini, Andrea Klimt, Roselyne de Villanova, Helena Carreiras, Diego Bussola, Maria Xavier, Beatriz Padilla, and Andrés Malamud. The studies cover Portuguese migration to Argentina, anti-Salazarist exiles in Brazil, early post-colonial Goa, post-1974 migration trends in São Paulo, identity and community formation among Portuguese immigrants in Germany and the United States, inter-generational processes characterizing Portuguese immigration to France, and collective identity processes spanning the borders of southern Brazil, Argentina, and Uruguay.

Race and Transnationalism in the Americas Benjamin Bryce,David M. K. Sheinin,2021-05-04 National borders and transnational forces have been central in defining the meaning of race in the Americas. Race and Transnationalism in the Americas examines the ways that race and its categorization have functioned as organizing frameworks for cultural, political, and social inclusion—and exclusion—in the Americas. Because racial categories are invariably generated through reference to the “other,” the national community has been a point of departure for understanding race as a concept. Yet this book argues that transnational forces have fundamentally shaped visions of racial difference and ideas of race and national belonging throughout the Americas, from the late nineteenth century to the present. Examining immigration exclusion, indigenous efforts toward decolonization, government efforts to colonize, sport, drugs, music, populism, and film, the authors examine the power and limits of the transnational flow of ideas, people, and capital. Spanning North America, Central America, South America, and the Caribbean, the volume seeks to engage in broad debates about race, citizenship, and national belonging in the Americas.

Gestión de la diversidad en entornos educativos. MARINA LAURA TOMASOTTI, 2024-04-20 Una propuesta de educación e interculturalidad plantea un diálogo entre iguales y en igualdad de condiciones, el encuentro entre personas y culturas, el intercambio de saberes hacia una educación intercultural, inclusiva y diversa. La riqueza de los saberes y conocimientos de cada cultura es uno de los objetivos fundamentales de la educación contemporánea. Tradicionalmente, la idea de Estado-Nación en la Argentina estuvo sustentada bajo la idea de “homogeneización” de la escuela pública. El factor homogeneizador de la lengua en un país de gran recepción migratoria fue clave a principios del siglo XX, priorizando el lema de “somos todos iguales” procurando asimilar las diversidades étnicas y lingüísticas del antiguamente denominado “crisol de razas” bajo el supuesto de “argentinización”. Considerando que uno de los principales retos que trae la educación en el siglo XXI es la gestión de la diversidad en el aula, como una escuela “en” y “para” la diversidad, este libro buscará analizar el proceso de enseñanza y aprendizaje de la lengua como un constructor de identidad siendo éste un reflejo de los procesos de preservación de las identidades propias, analizando la experiencia de la escuela bilingüe de inmersión dual chino-español de gestión estatal del Gobierno de la Ciudad de Buenos Aires iniciada en el año 2014, buscando así analizar la lengua materna en un contexto intercultural y explorar los procesos de integración de los migrantes de origen chino y taiwanés en su búsqueda de preservación del propio legado (lengua, cultura y tradiciones) y, al mismo tiempo, sus modos de apertura e integración con la sociedad receptora.
