Más allá de la pantalla: música, sonido, imagen Enrique Encabo,2018-06-21 Más allá de la pantalla: Música, sonido, imagen es un volumen colectivo que estudia la música como cultura audiovisual en nuestros días. Dividido en cuatro grandes bloques (Nuestro cine; Lenguajes cinematográficos y musicales; Otras pantallas, otras audiencias; Educación músico-audiovisual), en este libro los autores estudian fenómenos que van desde la cinematografía de Pedro Almodóvar hasta los films de Pixar, pasando por fenómenos como Game of Thrones, la figura del prosumidor en internet o diversas propuestas educativas a partir de los productos artísticos más cercanos a las jóvenes audiencias. Más allá de la pantalla: Música, sonido, imagen pertenece a la colección científica Cafarnaüm Akademics, y los capítulos que lo integran han sido previamente seleccionados por el comité editorial y, posteriormente, sometidos a un sistema de revisión por pares ciego a cargo de especialistas en la rama de conocimiento. Cafarnaüm Akademiks es una colección de elpoblet edicions dedicada a la publicación de textos de carácter científico, con especial énfasis en aquellos que versan sobre el arte y la cultura y los modos en los que conocemos y comprendemos la realidad. Textos centrados en el pasado histórico, en el presente y su genealogía y, por supuesto, con suficiente alcance para entender y analizar las perspectivas de futuro. Textos rigurosos pero, por encima de todo, accesibles y comprometidos con el saber.

Ludwik: Notes on Future Ways of Learning, Working, and Living Joachim Broecher, 2023-09-11 Young people who say goodbye to school education because they do not feel addressed by the learning forms and structures there. Many no longer even learn the absolute basics. Learning groups in daycare centers and schools overloaded with social problems. Shortage of skilled workers in educational institutions and in the care of the elderly. Alienation of many adults in functionalist professional life. Fragmentation of society. Social isolation of individuals. Compensatory life in digital parallel worlds. If we had an unconditional basic income for everyone, including the middle class that generates the tax revenue, in the sense of an incentive to act entrepreneurially and to assume social responsibility, if we converted compulsory schooling into compulsory self-designed education, and if Germany were to come to terms with a sensible migration policy, then people could get together and buy the vacant real estate in eastern Germany and turn it into vibrant craft, technical or agricultural projects, including in other parts of the country and in the cities. Young people would be able to move from project to project, wandering around, learning on their own. Children would grow up with several caregivers, a broader range of male and female role models, and professional profiles, which would benefit their development. People would then do a lot of things themselves again and help each other in the communities, from caring for small children, to pedagogical work with older children, parallel to the schools and day care centers that continue to exist but have become fewer in number, to the integration and care of the elderly. Vocational schools and universities could make entrance exams for those who learn in their own projects. A lot of driving would be eliminated, which would also be good for the climate. Deceleration would occur, people would have more time for each other and would be healthier. What we need is a different social structure and a philosophy from which identity-promoting and socially cohesive narratives can emerge anew. This second documentary volume shows what the status is, in the further development of a three-sided farm from 1884, located in Anhalt, into a think tank and in the creation of the first cultural and educational references.

Sounds of Fear and Wonder Janet K. Halfyard, 2016-06-20 Characters and plot developments, similarly, are enhanced by their musical accompaniment. The different scoring strategies employed in supernatural and horror-based genres, comprising for example True Blood and Supernatural, are considered alongside cult shows set in our reality, such as Dexter, The Sopranos and 24. These discussions are complimented by in-depth case studies of musical approaches in two high-profile series: Buffy the Vampire Slayer and Hannibal. Written from a musicological standpoint but fully accessible to non-musicologists, the book significantly advances television and music studies.
