Financial Market Regulations and Legal Challenges in South Asia Kashyap, Amit K., 2016-03-17 South Asia has experienced a long period of robust economic growth. While many regulatory policies have helped usher in this prosperous growth, some markets have plateaued due to hardships such as the decline in foreign remittance and international credit lines, and a contraction of exports. To continue to grow, the nations in this region must begin to integrate into the globalized world economy. Financial Market Regulations and Legal Challenges in South Asia addresses the difficulties and challenges of the regulatory environment in South Asia. This research-based publication outlines the apparent issues and resolutions as these developing nations transition into global economic players. This book is an excellent resource for policy makers, researchers and students in the financial field, government officials, bankers, and financial market regulators.

Getting Finance in South Asia 2010 Kiatchai Sophasstienphong, Anoma Kulathunga, 2010 Utilizing standardized indicators from 2001 to 2008, 'Getting Finance in South Asia 2010' analyzes the financial performance and soundness of commercial banks in eight South Asian countries: Afghanistan, Bangladesh, Bhutan, India, Maldives, Nepal, Pakistan, and Sri Lanka. While the indicators cannot predict the onset of a financial crisis, their analysis has identified specific weaknesses in regional financial sectors that should be addressed by the supervisory authorities. In this current edition of the annual 'Getting Finance' publication, two new development dimensions -- payment systems developments and savings mobilization -- have been added to the six dimensions covered in the previous edition: access to finance, performance and efficiency, financial stability, market concentration and competitiveness, capital market development, and corporate governance. This edition also expands the country coverage to include Afghanistan, Bhutan and Maldives. New benchmark countries have also been added, including emerging countries from outside OECD. In addition to analyzing the 'Getting Finance' indicators, the book also discusses the challenges facing South Asian banks and the impact of the global financial crisis on their operations. The new material in this edition enables readers to have a more holistic perspective of the indicators in South Asia and a better understanding of the financial systems in the region. 'Getting Finance Indicators 2010' reaffirms the World Bank's commitment to working with developing member countries to promote financial sector development and create financial systems that are sound, stable, supportive of growth and responsive to people's needs.

An application of the American Customer Satisfaction Index Model (ACSIM) in the Nepalese Mobile Phone Sector Kaji Bahadur Dahal, 2016-05-02 Research Paper (postgraduate) from the year 2014 in the subject Business economics - Offline Marketing and Online Marketing, grade: B, Maastricht School of Management, course: MBA, language: English, abstract: Nepalese mobile phone market is one of the fast growing businesses with the penetration rate of at least 67.92% for GSM mobile services. Mobile phone providers have also been competing to offer dynamic services to customers. By doing this research, it is expected to offer inputs to enhance customer satisfaction with mobile services in Nepal. The term 'customer satisfaction' has become an emerging issue for academic research as business organizations recognize that customer satisfaction is the only way to win in the given tough competitive business world. The aim of this paper is to measure the antecedents and consequences of overall customer satisfaction with mobile services in Nepal. This study is probably the first of its kind in Nepal, which uses standard customer satisfaction measures (American customer satisfaction index model, (ACSIM) to examine the customer satisfaction with mobile services. It uses a structured questionnaire to collect the data from 242 young mobile users from two colleges in Nepal. Based on the observation, it is found that the influencing antecedents of customer satisfaction are customer expectation, perceived quality and perceived value. Similarly, it is also found that highly satisfied customers are more likely to repurchase and higher price tolerance to price increases by current mobile services provider or price decreases by rival. The result of this study is more applicable to young adult mobile services market in Nepal rather than to entire mobile subscriber population. The study reveals that mobile services provider must focus on improving mobile services quality to increase customer satisfaction and customer loyalty. The value of this study is that it uses well known research model to measure customer satisfaction with mobile services in Nepal.
