Biocultural Rights, Indigenous Peoples and Local Communities Fabien Girard,Ingrid Hall,Christine Frison,2022-04-18

This volume presents a comprehensive overview of biocultural rights, examining how we can promote the role of indigenous peoples and local communities as environmental stewards and how we can ensure that their ways of life are protected. With Biocultural Community Protocols (BCPs) or Community Protocols (CPs) being increasingly seen as a powerful way of tackling this immense challenge, this book investigates these new instruments and considers the lessons that can be learnt about the situation of indigenous peoples and local communities. It opens with theoretical insights which provide the reader with foundational concepts such as biocultural diversity, biocultural rights and community rule-making. In Part Two, the book moves on to community protocols within the Access Benefit Sharing (ABS) context, while taking a glimpse into the nature and role of community protocols beyond issues of access to genetic resources and traditional knowledge. A thorough review of specific cases drawn from field-based research around the world is presented in this part. Comprehensive chapters also explore the negotiation process and raise stimulating questions about the role of international brokers and organizations and the way they can use BCPs/CPs as disciplinary tools for national and regional planning or to serve powerful institutional interests. Finally, the third part of the book considers whether BCPs/CPs, notably through their emphasis on stewardship of nature and tradition, can be seen as problematic arrangements that constrain indigenous peoples within the Western imagination, without any hope of them reconstructing their identities according to their own visions, or whether they can be seen as political tools and representational strategies used by indigenous peoples in their struggle for greater rights to their land, territories and resources, and for more political space. This volume will be of great interest to students and scholars of environmental law, indigenous peoples, biodiversity conservation and environmental anthropology. It will also be of great use to professionals and policymakers involved in environmental management and the protection of indigenous rights. Vademécum de Criminología Verde José Luis Carpio Domínguez,Jesús Ignacio Castro Salazar,2025-09-08 La Criminología Verde es una perspectiva criminológica pertinente en la realidad social, económica, política, cultural y ambiental actual de México y Latinoamérica. El estudio de las actividades humanas ambientalmente dañinas es de interés para la Criminología Verde debido a que no sólo tienen un impacto en la biodiversidad y los ecosistemas, sino que ponen en riesgo la integridad y la calidad de vida del planeta Tierra. Este libro se suma a los esfuerzos crecientes de la Criminología y otras disciplinas para comprender los crímenes y delitos verdes (ambientales), los cuales causan daños socioambientales y víctimas humanas y no humanas, a través de la conceptualización de términos que son utilizados en la investigación, la divulgación y la difusión científica de la Criminología Verde, pero también de otras disciplinas como las ciencias naturales y penales. El presente libro ofrece un acercamiento a los términos y definiciones utilizados frecuentemente en el quehacer criminológico verde y permite hacer frente a las disyuntivas encontradas en la investigación científica para definir fenómenos criminales y delictivos ambientales, así como introducir y clarificar terminología criminológica verde en México y Latinoamérica DOI: <https://doi.org/10.52501/cc.285>

Conflicts Between Biodiversity Conservation and Humans Valeria Souza,María C. Mandujano,Irene Pisanty,Luis E. Eguiarte,2022-01-03 This book takes readers on a journey through the history of water in the Coahuila desert. It starts by describing the beauty and mysteries of the landscape, and then explores the rock art of the original desert cultures in Coahuila, offering readers a glimpse of the sacred nature of water in the desert, as well as the rituals surrounding it. Moving on to the colonial times and the post- independence development of the region, it discusses early water management, and explores how water is managed in modern times, as well as the legal complications of the law, and how these faulty laws, designed for less arid regions, have affected a highly diverse wetland, the Cuatro Ciénegas oasis. The book then examines the biological consequences of the water loss for the aquatic plants and animals in Churince – a now extinct system within Cuatro Ciénegas. Further, it addresses how even bacteria can become extinct in this hyper-diverse microbial oasis. Lastly, after this despair and sense of loss, the book provides hope, offering suggestions for how we can transform the future, from a social and educational point of view as well as through good science and changes in policy.

Climate Displacement in Mexico Armelle Gouritin, 2022-11-12 This book presents the updated results of an investigation carried out in 2019. The National Autonomous University of Mexico's (UNAM) Climate Change Research Program (PINCC), funded the research coordinated by Armelle Gouritin. The research aims to answer the following questions: Does the Mexican legal framework and public policies address forced internal climate mobility? If not, what could be the elements of a legal framework and public policies to address the phenomenon? As the phenomenon was approached it was clear that it was extremely complex and consisted of numerous tensions that would lead to other questions throughout the research process. Climate forced internal displacement is projected as a huge-scale phenomenon in Mexico. Against this background, the book provides the first critical diagnosis of the current politico-legal Mexican framework and finds it to be lagging behind in terms of prevention and attention. The book analyses the three-level Mexican governance (federal, state and local levels), and identifies serious loopholes according to a rights-based approach that particularly focuses on women, indigenous peoples, and persons and communities with scarce economic resources. The results provide information on up-coming legislative and political processes and provide benchmarks that can be applied in other case-studies, including other national frameworks' critical analysis.
