It is vital to identify and prioritize significant risks and detect the weakest points. Adding other elements to an essential ERM program, such as PESTEL and Porter's 5 forces, treatment plans, scorecards, the three lines of defense (3LoD) components, and process improvements (six sigma, 8D, etc.) significantly increases the ERM success rate. Just Do it Erin Elsbernd,OhioLINK Electronic Theses and Dissertations Center,2014 Since its entrance into China in 1980, Nike has been one of the leading athletic wear brands in China. This success is largely in part due to the fact that Nike has not only been able to bring about an exercise revolution in China, but more importantly adapt its brand to the consumer and media trends of Chinese consumers. However in recent years, Nike has seen its profits fall in the emerging Chinese market. Market analysts say this could in part be due to Nike's China strategy does not reflect the tastes of Chinese consumers. This thesis from three separate consumer and media trends in China will explore how Nike's marketing strategy has been able to adapt to these trends in China. These trends include a strengthening female consumer class, the rise of online marketing, and an increased demand for products and brands that reflect the individual tastes and values of consumers. Through review of Nike's marketing strategy and survey results of Chinese high-school students' exercise, internet, and shopping habits, the author will point out weaknesses in Nike's marketing, and how to improve upon them.

As the most highly researched Nike campaign, many key themes about Just Do It have been established pertaining to the Nike philosophy, irreverent nature of the advertisements, the focus on branding, the cultural resonance, the image-oriented and emotional advertising techniques, and focus on the consumer needs. The current research study postulates that marketing appeals and key themes associated with the Just Do It campaign were employed by Nike prior to the campaign. To evaluate if Nike's marketing tactics appeared prior to the Just Do It campaign, numerous primary and secondary sources were analyzed. To evaluate the strategic focus and intent behind Nike's initial grassroots promotions and marketing campaigns preceding the campaign, the study employed a history analysis integrating an interpretation of Nike's marketing and a contextual evaluation of print collateral, television spots, outdoor advertising, and media articles. This study was constructed from a cultural-historical and narrative-analysis and found that many marketing efforts prior to the Just Do It campaign paralleled many of the key themes outlined.
