The Early Childhood Educator for Certificate III aligns with the CHC30113 Certificate III in Early Childhood Education and Care from the CHC (Community Services) Training Package. This qualification applies to all early childhood educators who work within the requirements of Education and Care Services National Regulations and the National Quality Standard (NQS). A Certificate III trained early childhood educator's role supports children's wellbeing, learning and development, and the implementation of an approved learning framework, either under direct supervision or autonomously. This resource been designed to support students' learning with content and activities at the appropriate Certificate III level of difficulty, as well as a Registered Training Organisation's delivery of this valuable qualification. Scope: The Early Childhood Educator for Certificate III provides complete coverage of all fifteen of the required core units of competency of the CHC30113 Certificate III in Early Childhood Education and Care. It also includes three elective units carefully selected to enable an overall effective introduction to the essential skills and knowledge needed to be an effective Certificate III qualified early year's practitioner.

Wage Rage for Equal Pay Jocelyne A. Scutt, 2024-04-11 This book makes a major contribution to the continuing legal and historical struggle for equal pay in Australia, with international references, including Canada, the UK and US. It takes law, history and women's and gender studies to analyse and recount campaigns, cases and debates. Industrial bodies federally and around Australia have grappled with this issue from the early-twentieth century onwards. This book traces the struggle through the decades, looking at women's organisations activism and demands, union 'pro' and 'against' activity, and the 'official' approach in tribunals, boards and courts.

Early Childhood Grows Up Linda Miller,Carmen Dalli,Mathias Urban,2011-11-08 Once the Cinderella of the education system, early years education has evolved into a much more substantially funded sector with staff experiencing greater opportunities for higher-level training and education as well as increasing demands. This book reflects practitioner debates about fundamental questions such as whether or not their field of work is a profession at all. Two key arguments are presented. The first is that early years education has matured to the point that pedagogical and regulatory frameworks have been introduced and linked to a terminology of professionalism. This has opened up a space for early years practitioners – as insiders of this historically undervalued sector – to question the nature of their practice. The questioning leads to the second argument: the need for a new future for early years education marked by a ‘critical ecology’ of the profession. This is a future in which educators maintain an attitude of critical enquiry in all aspects of their role, assessing the genuine needs of the sector, factoring in the different political and cultural milieux that influence it, and acting to transform it. In exploring the issues, this book begins by recording in detail the daily work of early years educators from six countries: Australia, England, Finland, Germany, New Zealand and Sweden. These case studies explore what it means to act professionally in a particular context; perceptions of what being a ‘professional’ in early childhood education means (including practitioners’ self perceptions and external perspectives); and common features of practice in each context. It moves on to analyse the wider socio-political forces that affect this day-to-day practice and recommends that practitioners act as transformative agents informed by the political and social realities of their time.
