Hispano Suiza in Aeronautics Manuel Lage Marco, 2003-11-01 This book examines Hispano Suiza's evolution and the technological advances of its engines. Starting with circumstances that favored the creation of an indigenous aviation engine, the story follows engine development for a breadth of applications, particularly aviation engines, and describes, in parallel, the birth and development of aircraft in Spain by Campaña Española de Construcciones Aeronáuticas (CECA), La Hispano, La Hispano Aircraft, La Hispano Suiza, SAF-5, SAF-15, and La Hispano Aviación. Hispano Suiza in Aeronautics: Men, Companies, Engines and Aircraft is an in-depth study covering a vast period in the history of the Spanish and French aircraft industry (1913-1967) and offers insight into Hispano Suiza's significant developments.

China-Latin America Military Engagement Robert Evan Ellis, 2011 This monograph examines Chinese military engagement with Latin America in five areas (1) meetings between senior military officials, (2) lower-level military-to-military interactions, (3) military sales, (4) military-relevant commercial interactions, and (5) Chinese physical presence within Latin America with military-strategic implications. It finds that the level of PRC military engagement with the region is higher than is generally recognized, and has expanded in important ways in recent years: High-level trips by Latin American defense and security personnel to the PRC and visits by their Chinese counterparts have become commonplace. The volume and sophistication of Chinese arms sold to the region has increased. Officer exchange programs, institutional visits, and other lower-level ties have also expanded. Chinese military personnel have begun participating in operations in the region in a modest, yet symbolically important manner. The monograph also argues that, in the short term, PRC military engagement with Latin America does not focus on establishing alliances or base access to the United States, but rather, supporting objectives of national development and regime survival, such as building understanding and political leverage among important commercial partners, creating the tools to protect PRC interests in countries where it does business, and selling Chinese products and moving up the value added chain in strategically important sectors. It concludes that Chinese military engagement may both contribute to legitimate regional security needs, and foster misunderstanding. It argues that the U.S. should work for greater transparency with The PRC with regard to those activities, as well as to analyze how the Chinese presence will impact the calculation of the region's actors in the context of specific future scenarios.

El Patrimonio Cultural y su Problema Perverso en Tiempos de Conflicto Christopher V. Herndon,2020-05-13 La herencia cultural del mundo se encuentra en la actualidad amenazada no solamente por el transcurrir del tiempo, las inclemencias de la naturaleza y el desarrollo humano, sino también cada vez más por los conflictos armados. Presenciamos la destrucción causada no solamente por los saqueos y el tráfico ilícito, sino por la iconoclasia y por la manipulación de la herencia cultural por motivos religiosos, económicos y propagandísticos. Las ganancias provenientes de la venta ilegal son a menudo utilizadas para financiar los conflictos tal como se ilustra en el modelo de negocios de Da'esh que se utiliza como ejemplo en esta publicación. La Protección de la Propiedad Cultural (PPC), aunque es de obligatorio cumplimiento bajo los estatutos legales nacionales e internacionales, es implementada muy pobremente y las sanciones por su incumplimiento son muy rara vez aplicadas. Sin embargo, existe una constante demanda no solo local sino internacional para aumentar los niveles educativos e incrementar la investigación multidisciplinaria sobre el tópico, en particular en el contexto del conflicto y el crimen organizado. La investigación académica debe incluir las perspectivas militares, y también los mecanismos que conectan tanto al abuso como a su protección. Los resultados deberían contener una conceptualización académica, así como soluciones fundamentadas en la práctica de manera de disminuir y mitigar los daños. Los autores escribieron esta publicación para satisfacer la demanda de información actualizada sobre este tema y al mismo tiempo para intensificar y dar seguimiento a su trabajo previo: Involucración Militar en la Protección de la Propiedad Cultural: Una Reseña. (Trabajo publicado en la Joint Force Quarterly, JFQ 74, 3rd Quarter 2014 July 2014). Este nuevo trabajo incluye una selección de estudios de caso utilizados como ejemplo e incorpora desarrollos y tendencias recientes. Todos estos ingredientes sirven para alimentar la i
