Managing Pandemic Isolation With Literature as Therapy Cortijo Ocaña, Antonio,Martines, Vicent,Orazi, Veronica,2022-12-02 During the COVID-19 pandemic, many people had to cope with isolation due to lockdown policies that forced them to engage in fewer social activities. People were confined to the small space of their dwellings and felt constrained and socially isolated and deprived of meaningful social interaction and affection, which caused stress and anxiety. Several initiatives were put in place to help diminish the effects of isolation, such as those involving literature either through writing or reading. Managing Pandemic Isolation With Literature as Therapy explains the positive medical and psychological effects of literature and writing during a pandemic at a time when isolation prevented people from engaging with others socially. Covering topics such as clinical psychology, brain neurology, and stress, this reference work is ideal for psychologists, medical professionals, policymakers, government officials, researchers, scholars, academicians, practitioners, instructors, and students.

No Time for Tears Barbara Bailey,Marilyn Williams,2008-11 No Time for Tears is the story of Anna and is set in down-east Maine. No child should be without a mother growing up, but Anna was to lose her mother at the young age of three. This story is told from the mind and heart of a three-year-old child and continues on as she grows up. Although Anna went through a great many hardships and trials, along with the rest of the family, she never lost her spirit or her spunk. This made all the difference to the whole family as they endured the cold and hungry times with less than suitable or adequate clothing with an often angry and many times abusive father. This is a story that everyone should read as it clearly shows that there is ALWAYS someone worse off than yourself and even at the darkest of times, light will always follow.
