The Concept of Brand Salience and Implications for Measurement Byron Malcolm Sharp, Jennifer Therese Romaniuk, 2002

Persuasion in the Media Age Timothy Borchers, 2012-11-21 Persuasion is omnipresent in today's media-saturated society.

From politicians to advertisers to friends and colleagues, persuaders are using increasingly sophisticated strategies to influence our attitudes, beliefs, and behaviors. Fortunately, this updated edition of Persuasion in the Media Age provides a timely, solid understanding of the methods used by contemporary persuaders and offers strategies to help readers become critical consumers of persuasion. Borchers begins with the premise that contemporary culture has been forever changed by electronic media and explores the way media technologies have influenced the study and practice of persuasion. He draws from a wide variety of scholars, bringing together the latest perspectives and research as well as foundational concepts. The Third Edition spotlights the influence of social media, presents storytelling as a key driver for persuasion, and incorporates updated examples that reflect recent political campaigns and developments in popular culture. This pedagogically rich, illustrated volume includes learning objectives, key terms, discussion questions, and activities that encourage students to apply chapter content to their everyday experiences. Internet-based exercises provide practical, relevant opportunities for students to evaluate Web-based persuasion, while ethics cases explore compelling issues that have emerged in today's media-dominated environment.

Analyzing Children's Consumption Behavior: Ethics, Methodologies, and Future Considerations Haryanto, Jony, Moutinho, Luiz, 2016-08-30 To gain the most competitive edge, marketers must continually optimize their promotional strategies. While the adult population is a prominent target, there is significant market potential for young consumers as well. Analyzing Children's Consumption Behavior: Ethics, Methodologies, and Future Considerations presents a dynamic overview of the best practices for marketing products that target children as consumers and analyzes the most effective promotional strategies being utilized. Highlighting both the advantages and challenges of targeting young consumers, this book is a pivotal reference source for marketers, professionals, researchers, upper-level students, and practitioners interested in emerging perspectives on children's consumption behavior.

Brand Page Attachment Barbara Kleine-Kalmer, 2016-01-22 Barbara Kleine-Kalmer analyses the impact of branding in social networks and introduces the construct of brand page attachment. On the basis of a comprehensive quantitative study she validates the construct as relevant for user behavior and investigates which instruments and antecedents influence brand page attachment. Through these conceptually and empirically profound analyses, the author detects interesting implications for the management of brands in the context of social media.

Strategic Integrated Marketing Communications Larry Percy, 2023-03-03 This book provides a disciplined, systematic look at what is necessary to the planning and implementation of an effective Integrated Marketing Communications (IMC) programme. Throughout, attention is paid to balancing theory with practical application, how to successfully implement theory for effective communication. Step-by-step, knowledge and understanding builds through the book, starting by laying a foundation to provide context, looking at the role of IMC in building brands and strengthening companies. The book then considers what goes into developing and executing effective messages, and how to ensure that they are consistent and consistently delivered, regardless of media. A detailed, practical overview of the strategic planning process is provided, illustrated by numerous examples and cases, along with 'desktop' tools and worksheets for developing and implementing an IMC plan. The 4th edition of this classic textbook has been fully updated throughout, and includes: Updated and expanded coverage of digital media, including issues relating to privacy and media strategy New sections on setting campaign budgets, brand architecture, target audience action objectives, social marketing communication, and such practices as gamification and experiential marketing Extended content on international advertising and shared cultural values The introduction of a channels-based typology of marketing communication Updated international examples and case studies throughout. A comprehensive and accessible guide to the steps of planning and developing an effective IMC campaign, this book should be core reading for students studying Integrated Marketing Communications, Strategic Communications, Principles of Advertising, Media Planning and Brand Management.

Global Branding. Suggestions to get into the Interbrand top 100 brands list Nicklas Westphal, 2017-06-14 Essay from the year 2016 in the subject Communications - Public Relations, Advertising, Marketing, Social Media, grade: 78%, University of Warwick (Warwick Business School), course: Global Branding, language: English, abstract: This paper provides suggestions on how to become one of the 100 Best Global Brands. The structure of the analysis and argumentation is based on Keller's Brand Resonance Model and the Brand Value Chain. Notions from Keller's dimensions of brand knowledge (1993), Kapferer's Brand Identity Prism (2012) and Aaker's conceptualisation of strong brands (1996) buttress the argumentation. The branding consultancy Interbrand produces a yearly ranking of the 100 Best Global Brands. To be considered, "a brand must be truly global, having successfully transcended geographic and cultural boundaries. It will have expanded across the established economic centers of the world and have entered the major markets of the future." (Interbrand, 2016). Interbrand's valuations have three key components: an analysis of the financial performance of the branded products or services (Financial Return), of the role the brand plays in purchase decisions (Role of Brand), and of the brand's ability to create loyalty and, therefore, sustainable demand and profit (Brand Strength).

Defining and Operationalising Brand Salience Julian Vieceli, 2007 Consumers make decisions using the information that is available to them most readily. This thesis examined the determinants and consequences of top-of-mind consumer brand awareness for fast-moving consumer goods, services, and durables. The findings have implications for marketers with regard to the design of their brand communications.

Churín - Village Destination Branding in the Peruvian Andes Isabel Glaser, 2010-06-22 Diploma Thesis from the year 2009 in the subject Business economics - Offline Marketing and Online Marketing, grade: 1,0, University of the Americas Puebla (Escuela de Negocios y Economía, Departamento de Administración y Negocios Internacionales), language: English, abstract: In today's world everything plays around marketing, promotion - brands! Whatever you want to sell, it does not suffice to have the best product of the world, you have to make it wanted by the final consumers (Klein, 1999).

Ultimately, countries and cities have been increasingly considered as products: products which have to be promoted professionally in order to attract investors, residents and tourists (and/or make them stay) (Seisdedos, n.d.). Churín, a small village in the Peruvian Andes, on the contrary is very badly promoted: People, especially in the Peruvian capital Lima, know it from mouth-to-mouth propaganda due to its numerous and rich hot springs, but it lacks a coordinated and consolidated promotion strategy which would install the same image of Churín in the minds of everybody, and especially of the target group. Hence, the aspired contribution of this exploratory research paper is the initiation of a destination branding process in Churín as the researcher is convinced of its benefits as long as the destination brand is correctly and professionally applied, of course: On the one hand, the process of the brand building will unify the population of the village, and enhance the self-esteem and appreciation of the resources of its living place; on the other hand, the confluence of tourists should increase, and likewise the incomes of the residents of Churín and the surrounding communities. This would allow a sustainable improvement of the low standard of living and thus, Churín would offer a more positive vision for future generations.

Exploring customer attitudes on BMW Marion Maguire, 2005-03-02 Master's Thesis from the year 2004 in the subject Business economics - Offline Marketing and Online Marketing, grade: A (1.0), Hawai'i Pacific University, course: Professional Paper MBA, language: English, abstract: "Building a brand is both an art and a science. It is the strategic mix of focus and risk that gives a brand its meaning in people's lives (Dolan, 2003)". Branding has been around for centuries as a means to distinguish the goods of one producer from those of another. Brand elements identify and differentiate the brand. However, many practicing managers refer to a brand as more than that. They define a brand in terms of having actually created a certain amount of awareness and reputation in the marketplace, which distinguishes a small brand from a big brand. Especially strong brands have a number of different types of intangible image associations that link customers emotionally to the brand. Prior research has explored differences in customer perception and evaluation of brands for example through investigating brand equity. More recent research has found out that customers differ not only in their perception of brands but also in how they relate to brands. This suggests that people sometimes even form a relationship with a specific brand (Aggarwal, 2004). Branding and brand-based differentiation are powerful means for creating and sustaining competitive advantage (Aggarwal, 2004). Highly competitive markets like the automotive market make powerful, strong brands essential to accomplishing growth. According to Agarwal, Dahlhoff & Rao (2004), companies create brand equity by delivering quality products and by creating strong, unique and favorable brand associations. Customer loyalty, larger margins, brand extension opportunities, enhanced perceptions of product performance, and increased marketing effectiveness and efficiency among other things are possible benefits of building up brand equity. This research paper will look at the brand BMW. BMW, which stands for "Bayerische Motoren Werke", is a major European manufacturer of luxury cars. The headquarters of the multinational corporation BMW Group is in Munich, Germany. The company has built substantial brand equity over the years through the continuous branding efforts for high quality products. The luxury car category includes both traditional and functional luxury cars. U.S. manufacturers mainly produce traditional luxury cars, while functional luxury cars are represented primarily by European manufacturers such as BMW (Bernhardt & Kinnear, 1994).
