Power is a type of energy coming about because of the development of charged particles, like electrons (adversely charged subatomic particles) and protons (emphatically charged subatomic particles). For instance, electricity produced via friction is brought about by grating: at the point when one material rubs against another, it moves charged particles. The zap you could feel and the flash you could see when you stall along the floor covering and afterward contact metal door handle show electricity produced via friction - electrons being moved among you and the door handle.
