FCE Result David Baker, 2011-04 In the Writing & Speaking Assessment Booklet there are 12 sample answers for the Writing paper (one to correspond to each unit of the Student's Book), written by real FCE students. For each sample answer, there are notes that explain what students need to do in the task, and how the answer would be assessed by a Cambridge ESOL examiner. This booklet also includes a DVD of real FCE students taking the Speaking test, with comments from experienced examiners, so you can see exactly how this part of the test works, and understand how to accurately assess your students. The material on the DVD is supported with photocopiable worksheets, useful phrases, tips and examiner's questions in the booklet. The Using a dictionary for exams booklet is full of ideas for using dictionaries to improve your students' language skills and performance in the exam. These ideas are followed by photocopiable worksheets so your students can put what they've learnt into practice. This booklet has been updated to reflect changes in the new Student's Book. In the Teacher's Book, there are 12 Unit and four Progress Tests, all with answer keys. The tests are photocopiable for use in class.

Promising Practices in Supporting Success for Indigenous Students OECD, 2017-08-09 Indigenous peoples are diverse, within and across nations. However, the Indigenous peoples have experienced colonisation processes that have undermined Indigenous young people's access to their identity, language and culture.

Globalisation, Human Rights Education and Reforms Joseph Zajda,Sev Ozdowski,2016-09-23 This book, the seventeenth instalment in the 24-volume series Globalisation, Comparative Education and Policy Research, explores the interrelationship between ideology, the state and human rights education reforms, setting it in a global context. The book examines major human rights education reforms and policy issues in a global culture. It focuses on the ambivalent and problematic relationship between the state, globalisation and human rights education discourses. Using a number of diverse paradigms, ranging from critical theory to historical-comparative research, the authors examine the reasons for, and the outcomes of human rights education reforms and policy. The authors discuss discourses surrounding the major dimensions affecting the human rights education, namely national identity, democracy, and ideology. These dimensions are among the most critical and significant dimensions defining and contextualising the processes surrounding the nation-building, identity politics and human rights education globally. With this as its focus, the chapters represent hand-picked scholarly research on major discourses in the field of human rights education reforms. The book draws upon recent studies in the areas of globalisation, equality, and the role of the state in human rights education reforms. Furthermore, the perception of globalisation as dynamic and multi-faceted processes clearly necessitates a multiple-perspective approach in the study of human rights education. This book provides that perspective commendably. It also critiques current human rights education practices and policy reforms. It illustrates the way shifts in the relationship between the state and human rights education policy. In the book, the authors, who come from diverse backgrounds and regions, attempt insightfully to provide a worldview of current developments in research concerning human rights education, and citizenship education globally. The book contributes, in a very scholarly way, to a more holistic understanding of the nexus between nation-state, human rights education both locally and globally.

Universality and Social Policy in Canada Daniel Béland,Gregory Marchildon,Michael J. Prince,2019-05-09 Bringing together top scholars in the field, Universality and Social Policy in Canada provides an overview of the universality principle in social welfare. The contributors survey the many contested meanings of universality in relation to specific social programs, the field of social policy, and the modern welfare state. The book argues that while universality is a core value undergirding certain areas of state intervention—most notably health care and education—the contributory principle of social insurance and the selectivity principle of income assistance are also highly significant precepts in practice.

Promising Practices in Supporting Success for Indigenous Students Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development,2017 Indigenous peoples are diverse, within and across nations. However, the Indigenous peoples have experienced colonisation processes that have undermined Indigenous young people's access to their identity, language and culture. At the same time, Indigenous children have not generally had access to the same quality of education that other children in their country have had access to. These two forces in combination have undermined the educational opportunities and outcomes of successive generations of Indigenous children and young people, at times with catastrophic effect. The six Canadian provinces and territories that participated in this study, along with New Zealand and Queensland (Australia), are actively seeking to better meet the educational needs and aspirations of Indigenous students and their families. The report seeks to identify promising strategies, policies, programmes and practices that support improved learning outcomes for Indigenous students and to build an empirical evidence base on Indigenous students in education. The study investigates four areas in Indigenous education: well-being, participation, engagement and achievement in education. These outcomes are inter-connected and mutually reinforcing, and each is essential for the success of every student.

Learners in Midlife Jo-Anne Helen Willment,2008 Pursuing a graduate education in midlife is a transformative experience. This book guides those midlife adults who are considering, completing, or convocating from graduate journeys so that they can better understand what it means to be a learner in midlife. Learners in Midlife draws together the most current theories and research on midlife and applies them to the graduate experience. This research is then brought to life through the colorful personal narratives of several midlife learners who share their experiences and advice. Several chapters are also included that outline a few of the many new directions opening up in workplace education. Because it focuses on the learner's experience, this book will be of interest to faculty and administrators responsible for part-time master's programs. It also offers employers and human resource personnel ideas for retaining mature employees by encouraging lifelong learning.

The Peacebuilding Process in Postwar Liberia Alžběta Šváblová,2021 Who are the most important actors in the peacebuilding process in post-war Liberia? How do they interact in specific institutions on the ground and what are the factors behind the slow pace of the post-war reform process? This book, designed as a qualitative case study with a strong descriptive component, provides answers to these questions. It highlights the importance of the domestic political landscape for the ultimate fate of the reforms and the role of influential individuals in the process. Its findings indicate that despite a rich, critical academic debate, the current practice of peacebuilding remains shaped by the neo-liberal paradigm, and remains rather disconnected from the post-conflict realities and individuals on the ground.
