Leaf'd Joseph Charles Sisk,2019-10-24 Ben McNealy’s heritage is a mystery. As a baby, he was taken by a hooded figure (Saint Patrick) in hopes of protecting him from an evil wizard. Now, at seventeen, Ben must train with the instructive and wise Saint Patrick, in hopes of avenging his parents’ names and likelihood in a dangerous and unpredictable tournament. Along his journey, he befriends kooky characters including two princesses, a tricky leprechaun, and a plant-loving pixie. Will Ben be able to avenge his parents?

How James Bond Saved My Life David Harkin,2024-06-28 How James Bond Saved My Life is a unique self-help memoir. The author takes you on a journey through cinema, delving into the significance of cinematic role models and how cinematic characters can empower and inspire young minds, be it Bond, Batman or Wonder Woman. David shares his experiences as a non-verbal school child requiring speech therapy and his childhood growing up in Northern Ireland during the Troubles to establish the significance of cinema. David intertwines personal anecdotes from his past, the bullying at school, and his struggle in learning to speak, with his professional expertise as a qualified youth worker and film tutor to present a compelling case for the importance of switching off from the everyday world and tuning into the world of cinema.

How Young Adult Literature Gets Taught Steven Bickmore, T. Hunter Strickland, Stacy Graber, 2022-10-20 A manual for teaching Young Adult Literature, this textbook presents perspectives and methods on how to organize and teach literature in engaging and inclusive ways that meet specific educational and programmatic goals. Each chapter is written by an expert and offers a rich and nuanced approach to teaching YA Literature through a distinct lens. The effective and creative ways to construct a course explored in this book include multimodal, historical, social justice, place-based approaches, and more. The broad spectrum of topics covered in the text gives pre-service teachers and students a toolbox to select and apply methods of their choosing that support effective reading and writing instruction in their own contexts, motivate students, and foster meaningful conversations in the classroom. Chapters feature consistent sections for theory and practice, course structure, suggestions for activities and assessments, and takeaways for further discussion to facilitate easy implementation in the classroom. From Death to Life Jesse Lefler, 2022-07-19 Have you ever been in so much pain that sometimes it's hard to breathe? Spiritual pain? Mental pain? Physical pain? I write this story to give you the hope no one was able to give me because people didn't understand. Just about every character you read about is someone I know and the struggles they had in their lives. From divorce to panic attacks, it's all here. The characters in From Death to Life are all in heaven, and they each have a job to do. Walking into the spiritual world can be fascinating and scary at the same time. They are waiting for Christ to return, but in the meantime, their jobs are complicated. From heaven to hell on earth, it's a complex military structure. A thought can become an action. Action becomes a habit. Habit becomes a serious addiction. Let this story take you in and see that it does get better. God promised us, and he doesn't lie.

The Native American in Short Fiction in the Saturday Evening Post Peter G. Beidler, Harry J. Brown, Marion F. Egge, 2001-01-22 The authors focus on the Indian in the short fiction from the magazine, giving summaries of the plots, including dialogue from the characters, to show how American Indians were presented by story writers. The earliest of these stories appeared in 1897, the last in 1968. Over this period of approximately seventy years, 265 stories contain one Indian or many. In some they are only mentioned; in others they are central actors.--Editor's foreword, p. xi.
