Post-Metropolitan Territories Alessandro Balducci,Valeria Fedeli,Francesco Curci,2017-01-20 Processes of multi-scalar regional urbanization are occurring worldwide. Such processes are clearly distinguishable from those of the nineteenth and twentieth centuries due to the shifting concepts of both the city and the metropolis. International literature highlights how what we have historically associated with the idea of cities has long been subjected to consistent reconfiguration, which involves stressing some of the typical features of the idea of cityness. Post-Metropolitan Territories: Looking for a New Urbanity is the product of a research project funded by the Italian Ministry for Education, Universities and Research (MIUR). It constitutes a thorough overview of a country that is one of Europe's most diverse in terms of regional development and performance: Italy. This book brings together case studies of a number of Italian cities and their hinterlands and looks at new forms of urbanization, exploring themes of sustainability, industrialization, de-industrialization, governance, city planning and quality of life. This volume will be of great interest to academics and students who study regional development, economic geography and urban studies, as well as civil servants and policymakers in the field of spatial planning, urban policy, territorial policies and governance.

Carlo Ludovico Ragghianti and the cinematic nature of vision Carlo Ludovico Ragghianti,Marco Scotini,2000 This study looks at artistic expressions that are often not directly related, such as art, dance, architecture and cinema. Ragghianti's study of cinema, the electronic image and art brings together a series of images under the heading the art of vision. His theories have reinterpreted art history and continue to be relevant in the late 1990s. In this volume, architectural and set drawings, choreography sketches, theatrical maquettes, film and video installations are placed next to 200 works of major European artists of the 20th century.

Centre Dürrenmatt Neuchâtel Mario Botta, Friedrich Dürrenmatt, 2000 For 40 years, the Swiss writer, Friedrich Dürrenmatt, committed his works to paper from his home which overlooked the beautiful lake Neuchatel in Switzerland. After Dürrenmatt's death in 1991, Mario Botta began designing a museum which would be a monument to the writer, housing his drawings, paintings & literary artifacts. Skillfully built onto Dürrenmatt's house, the Centre Dürrenmatt is nearing completion & will be opened in autumn 2000. Officially endorsed by the Centre, this publication documents the complete realization of the building, from its initial conception to the finished museum, using texts, drawings & plans from both Dürrenmatt & Botta. These are accompanied by expressive photographs by Thomas Flechtner.
