Sherry Brescia's Great Taste No Pain Sherry Brescia,2014-12-15 Sherry Brescia's professional career in the health field has spanned over 30 years and centers on the importance of diet and nutrition to help encourage a state of health in the body and prevent disease. Early on, despite eating in a way that most people would consider healthy, she suffered with digestive problems and was diagnosed with irritable bowel syndrome (IBS). Eventually she had the good fortune to consult with a holistic practitioner who introduced her to an eating lifestyle that encourages efficient digestion by pairing foods together that require complimentary digestive enzymes (otherwise known as food combining). After making a few simple modifications to her diet, her IBS symptoms completely resolved, and she has been entirely symptom -and-medication free for the last 22 years. Following her own health transformation, Sherry made it her mission to help others attain better health in the most natural way possible - through their diet and better digestion - and pursued her graduate education in holistic nutrition. With her passion for cooking, she blended the science of food combining with gourmet-tasting yet easy meals to create the Great Taste No Pain plan. Following the release of Great Taste No Pain, Sherry also created Great Taste No Gluten, which is the only gluten free eating plan that blends the science of food combining with a collection of delicious gluten-free recipes and guides for living a gluten-free lifestyle.
