Leslie Halliwell

The Morning After I Killed Myself Shannon Jean, 2019-01-03 Welcome to a collection of poems that came from my rock bottom. Love it or hate it, this is my truth to share with the world. I swore, I cried, I laughed, and through it all, I wrote. I wrote this poetry following the utter breakdown of reality as I knew it, as a means to heal and recover. It's imperfect, it's raw, it's mine, and I could not be more hopeful that it in some way touches the lives of others. I wrote about love, friendship, grief, mental illness, emotional vulnerability, and the things I think we could all stand to hear more often. Life is hard, and all we can truly do is our best as we try to navigate through it. I believe in you, and I hope maybe my words, my pain, and my love may help you believe in you if you don't already believe in yourself. I can get through this, you can get through this, we can get through this. All my love, Shannon Jean

The Morning After I Killed Myself Ananya Kantoor, 2020-01-27 About the Book 'Last night I killed myself. Coz I thought that killing myself would put an end to my pain' Don't we realize the value of the things we have AFTER we've lost them? Isn't it human tendency? That's exactly what has happened with Myra. At 16, Myra's life is a complete mess. She hasn't got the chance to breathe properly from the time she turned 12, and now she has no hopes left. So, she kills herself. Now. She's dead. But. She wants to live. It's after this realization that she sits down to write her story: her last realization: 'THE MORNING AFTER I KILLED MYSELF'. About the Author Ananya is a sixteen year old student who is very fond of writing, specially poetry. She is also very fond of music and loves anchoring. Writing is her passion and she aspires to continue it throughout her life. Recently, her work has also been published in '500 best poems' which is an anthology published by Swipe Pages Publications.

The Columbia Granger's Index to Poetry in Anthologies ,2007

The Columbia Granger's Index to Poetry in Anthologies Tessa Kale,2007 For over a hundred years, The Columbia Granger's Index to Poetry in Anthologies has been the preeminent index for answers to questions about the world of poetry, identifying the author of a poem or the anthologies in which it can be found when only a title, first line, or last line is known. This latest edition-a must have for libraries-brings its index up to date as of May 31, 2006. This latest version features 85,000 classic and contemporary poems by 12,000 poets. Also included are works in translation and for the first time poetry in Spanish, Vietnamese, and French. The subject organization of the poems is especially useful. Hundreds of new subjects have been added, indexing poems on highly relevant topics such as Osama bin Laden, the war in Iraq, Dick Cheney, the Internet, and Rosa Parks, as well as timeless subjects like the Bill of Rights, unspoken love, faith, and inspiration. Our impressive team of consultants includes J. D. McClatchy, Harvey Shapiro, and former poet laureate Mark Strand. From The Norton Anthology of Poetry (2005 edition) to Poetry after 9/11 and Garrison Keillor's Good Poems, this new edition puts readers in touch with the best of the latest anthologies and the lasting favorites.
