Stephen F. Davis, William Buskist

On 'what is History?' Keith Jenkins, 1995 Jenkins provides a student introduction to contemporary historiographical debates. Through its radical critique of Carr and Elton, he embraces the postmodern-type approaches of thinkers such as Richard Rorty and Hayden White.

21st Century Psychology: A Reference Handbook Stephen F. Davis, William Buskist, 2008 Highlights the most important topics, issues, questions, and debates in the field of psychology. Provides material of interest for students from all corners of psychological studies, whether their interests be in the biological, cognitive, developmental, social, or clinical arenas.

E.H. Carr: A Critical Appraisal M. Cox, 2016-04-30 E.H. Carr (1892-1982) was born into security but lived a life of controversy. Attacked for appeasing both Hitler and Stalin, he was not only one of the most productive writers of the Twentieth-century but one of its most provocative as well. In this book - the first ever to deal critically but fairly with Carr's contribution to international relations, Soviet Studies and the study of history - sixteen internationally respected authors grapple with his complex intellectual legacy. For those seriously interested in understanding the life and times of this most English of establishment radicals this is the place to begin.

Representation of the Cultural Revolution in Chinese Films by the Fifth Generation Filmmakers Ming-May Jessie Chen, S. M. Mazharul Haque, 2007 This book examines historical events related to the Chinese Cultural Revolution between 1966 and 1976, focusing mainly on the work of the so-called Fifth Generation filmmakers who experienced the Cultural revolution first hand and produced movies about it, though attention is also given to films from Third, Fourth, and Sixth Generation directors. Assuming that fictional films can be seen as an agent enhancing our historical understanding, this study, employing an interdisciplinary approach involving history, philosophy, literature, and ideology, and using the Chinese Cultural Revolution as an example, attempts to examine how such a theory of film might fit into a philosophy of history, while also aiming to find places where film and history intersect.

The Resurrection of Jesus Michael R Licona,2020-05-21 The question of the historicity of Jesus' resurrection has been repeatedly probed, investigated and debated. And the results have varied widely. Perhaps some now regard this issue as the burned-over district of New Testament scholarship. Could there be any new and promising approach to this problem? Yes, answers Michael Licona. And he convincingly points us to a significant deficiency in approaching this question: our historiographical orientation and practice. So he opens this study with an extensive consideration of historiography and the particular problem of investigating claims of miracles. This alone is a valuable contribution. But then Licona carefully applies his principles and methods to the question of Jesus' resurrection. In addition to determining and working from the most reliable sources and bedrock historical evidence, Licona critically weighs other prominent hypotheses. His own argument is a challenging and closely argued case for the historicity of the resurrection of Jesus, the Christ. Any future approaches to dealing with this 'prize puzzle' of New Testament study will need to be routed through The Resurrection of Jesus.

In the American Province David A. Hollinger,1985 American intellectual historians need to pay more attention to how elites relate to broader audiences. Hollinger's work is in the vanguard of recent intellectual history and it is a joy to observe a true intellectual in discourse with his peers.--History: Reviews of Books.

Mystery and Imagination Richard Patrick Crosland Hanson,1976 Mystery and Imagination is intended to bridge the dangerous gap between the professional theologian and the ordinary Christian, to meet some of the misapprehensions and criticisms of Christianity current today, and to give positive aid to those who are not afraid to think about their faith. It is theology for those who are disillusioned but not hopeless. Through a lively discussion of some of the main themes of Christian belief--the concept of man, faith, atonement, the incarnation, revelation in history, tragedy--Professor Hanson presents an account of the Christian faith which is constructive without being uncritical. In particular, his book will help those who are groping towards Christian belief, but who find unacceptable the form in which Christianity is conventionally presented. - Publisher

Enjoying the Beat of Term: An Emotional Symphony within Can Historians Be Objective

In a world eaten by displays and the ceaseless chatter of immediate interaction, the melodic beauty and psychological symphony created by the published term frequently diminish into the back ground, eclipsed by the persistent noise and disruptions that permeate our lives. Nevertheless, nestled within the pages of Can Historians Be Objective a charming fictional prize filled with organic thoughts, lies an immersive symphony waiting to be embraced. Constructed by a masterful composer of language, this charming masterpiece conducts readers on a mental trip, well unraveling the hidden songs and profound influence resonating within each cautiously constructed phrase. Within the depths with this poignant assessment, we shall examine the book is main harmonies, analyze their enthralling writing fashion, and submit ourselves to the profound resonance that echoes in the depths of readers souls.

freedom fighter is inspired by women of the diaspora and all the nurturers and caretakers who have struggled to lift and raise the importance of care in western society we talk a good talk about the importance of mothers but it doesn t translate in reality we don t know what radical care looks like
