New Directions in Language Learning Psychology Christina Gkonou, Dietmar Tatzl, Sarah Mercer, 2015-11-27 This book explores potential new directions in the growing field of language learning psychology. The individual chapters cover theoretical and conceptual developments and innovative methodological designs, while also exploring practical implications. Language learning psychology is a vibrant field of research that typically involves constructs from social and educational psychology, which it considers in terms of their relevance for the domain of language learning. The diverse theoretical and empirical chapters examine a range of familiar and lesser-known constructs, highlighting the importance of taking into account both learner and teacher psychologies, and recognising the complexity, dynamism and situatedness of psychological constructs, as well as the value of employing diverse research methodologies. It is hoped that these 'new directions' concerning populations, constructs and theoretical and methodological frameworks will pave the way for innovative future developments in this vibrant field.

The Intersection of Library Learning and Second-Language Learning Karen Bordonaro, 2013-12-01 Language learning and library learning in a university setting are closely related endeavors that intersect at various times and locations, and with various teachers and learners. This book is an examination of how these intersections are experienced by language learners. Its aim is to explore the two types of learning to help sustain and develop the learning in both areas. The Intersection of Library Learning and Second-Language Learning: Theory and Practice is aimed at practitioners, both librarians and language instructors, and describes everyday scenarios which will resonate with academic librarians and language instructors. It presents practical experiences and accompanies them with a consideration of the literature of both librarianship and language education. It reviews and evaluates professional practices employed by working librarians and language instructors in their dealings with international students. Considerations of the intersections between language learning and library learning are placed within a theoretical framework of learner autonomy. This framework offers librarians and language instructors methods and practices that enable students to take control of their learning in the areas of both language learning and library learning. A concluding chapter offers ways to connect the framework of learner autonomy to settings outside that of a university context.

Navigating Foreign Language Learner Autonomy Christian Ludwig, Maria Giovanna Tassinari, Jo Mynard, 2020-05-10

Navigating Foreign Language Learner Autonomy provides novel insights into both the theory and practice of learner autonomy in the context of foreign language education, and does so in multiple languages and through multiple voices. The contributing authors showcase effective practices and new directions in research, but also report on the status quo of learner autonomy at institutions around the world. Most of the authors write about their experiences with implementing foreign language learner autonomy in their home or dominant language(s). The volume contains full chapters or extracts in 15 languages: Czech, Danish, English, Finnish, German, Hungarian, Italian, Japanese, Korean, Mandarin Chinese, Māori, Portuguese, Spanish, Thai, and Turkish. Each chapter is accompanied by a chapter or summary in English, along with a glossary and some reflective questions. As a starting point, a theoretical introduction is provided by David Little, and to conclude, the editors analyse the narratives of the contributors and comment on the process of navigating autonomy through different languages.

Getting to Know Catalonia Josep-Maria Puigjaner, 1992

Positive Fremdsprachendidaktik Michaela Sambanis, Christian Ludwig, 2025-06-16 Die Positive Fremdsprachendidaktik ist ein neuer Ansatz für das Lehren und Lernen von Sprachen, der es ermöglicht, insbesondere Erkenntnisse der Positiven Psychologie für einen zeitgemäßen Fremdsprachenunterricht nutzbar zu machen und so positive Entwicklungen in Gang zu setzen. Dabei steht die Frage im Zentrum, wie es gelingen kann, aus der aktuellen Belastungskrise herauszufinden und gute Bildungslaufbahnen mit erfolgreichem Sprachenlernen zu ermöglichen. Denn Sprachen sind die tragende Säule von Lern- und Entwicklungsprozessen sowie von innerer Balance. Mit ihrem Band zur Positiven Fremdsprachendidaktik stellen Michaela Sambanis und Christian Ludwig einen neuen Ansatz vor, der sprachliche Lernziele mit Achtsamkeit und Selbstfürsorge für Lernende und für Lehrende verbindet, aktuelle Entwicklungen und Bedarfe zur Kenntnis nimmt, darauf reagiert und Antworten gibt.

Zur Standardisierung der DSH-Prüfungen: Bestandsaufnahme und Perspektiven des Online-Angebotes Agnieszka Schneider, 2010 Das Internet ist im 21. Jahrhundert zum wichtigsten Informations- und Kommunikationsmedium geworden und hat auch in der Hochschullandschaft einen festen Platz eingenommen. Das Lernen mit und auf Internetplattformen hat sich im universitären Bereich stark etabliert. Auch die Bedeutung von Online-Prüfungen ist infolge der unter dem Schlagwort Bologna-Prozess bekannten Umstrukturierungen stark angestiegen. Da im Bereich der deutschen Sprachprüfung für den Hochschulzugang (DSH) bisher nur wenige onlinebasierte Anwendungen vorhanden sind, soll im Rahmen der Dissertation eine erste Bestandsaufnahme des Online-Angebotes vorgenommen werden. Das Untersuchungsdesign basiert auf einer Internetrecherche sowie zwei Umfragen, die mit Dozenten aus den Bereichen der DSH und ausländischen Studienbewerbern an deutschen Hochschulen durchgeführt wurden. Als Basis beider Umfragen wird in der vorliegenden Dissertation die Frage behandelt, welche Rolle das Internet für die DSH spielt und ob es als Ausgangspunkt für die notwendige Standardisierung,

Zentralisierung und die Steigerung der Validität, Objektivität und Reliabilität der DSH dienen könnte. Kann das Internet den Erwerb der sprachlichen Zugangsberechtigung zur deutschen Hochschule erleichtern? Die Ergebnisse der Internetrecherche und der beiden empirischen Untersuchungen zeigen insgesamt ein schlechtes Angebot an DSH-relevanten Informationen im Internet, wenige interaktive DSH-Programme sowie fehlende Bereitschaft der Dozenten zur deren Erstellung. Es wird deutlich, dass die medialen Möglichkeiten des Internets mit seinen informativen, kommunikativen und integrativen Ressourcen in diesem Bereich bisher nicht ausgeschöpft werden. Auf der anderen Seite zeigen die DSH-Teilnehmer neben hoher Medienkompetenz ein großes Interesse an onlinebasierter Vorbereitung auf die DSH sowie einer Online-Prüfung. In Anlehnung an dieses Ergebnis wird ein DSH-Modelltestverfahren der Universität Augsburg vorgestellt, das als einzige multimediale Anwe
