Human Values Bijibilla Rama Rao, 2024-10-19 Human values are utmost important. We need to nourish ourselves on our own in every step of our journey in this universe. Our life is our experience. We are the best teachers for ourselves. Self reflection, positive attitude, wisdom, self evaluation, self appreciation helps to inspire and empower us and others as well. Network is net worth. Togetherness gives strength. It creates team spirit. Love and kindness allows us to reach more people to express our views with others to share and care. Sharing is caring. Knowledge should be shared but not stored. It is not a commodity to buy in open market. Community growth is our own growth. Live and let live is the best policy. Help ever hurt never is the way of living. Be as human and behave as human being. Have patience. Wait for an opportunity. Every day is a new opportunity. Global warming is a threat to all of us. Climate change is an indication to diminish the quality of air in environment. Environment protection is our prime objective. We pray Almighty in the form of Mother Nature in different ways. Let us respect it to give space on this earth for future generations to live joyfully and peacefully. It is our duty and primary responsibility as responsible citizens of this great universe. Show your gratitude towards Almighty, living things, mother Nature, above all yourself. Unless you love yourself you can't love others. Believe! Belief gives ability, awareness, peace and prosperity. Discipline is the root cause of everything.

Brave New Ballot Aviel David Rubin,2006-09-05 Democracy has never been more vulnerable. The problem is right here in America. How to Sabotage an Election Become an election judge and carry a refrigerator magnet in your pocket Program every fifth vote to automatically record for your candidate Bury your hacked code Avi Rubin, a computer scientist at Johns Hopkins and a specialist in systems security knows something the rest of us don't. Maybe we suspected it, maybe we've thought it, but we didn't have proof. Until now. The electronic voting machines being used in 37 states are vulnerable to tampering, and because the manufacturers are not required to reveal—even to the government—how they operate, voters will never know if their votes are recorded accurately. Follow Rubin on his quest to wake America up to the fact that the irregularities in the 2004 elections might not have been accidents; that there are simple solutions that election commissions are willfully ignoring; that if you voted on an electronic machine, there's a chance you didn't vote the way you wanted to. Learn what you can do the next time you vote to make sure that your vote is counted. Imagine for a moment that you live in a country where nobody is sure how most of the votes are counted, and there's no reliable record for performing a recount. Imagine that machines count the votes, but nobody knows how they work. Now imagine if somebody found out that the machines were vulnerable to attack, but the agencies that operate them won't take the steps to make them safe. If you live in America, you don't need to imagine anything. This is the reality of electronic voting in our country. Avi Rubin is a computer scientist at Johns Hopkins University and a specialist in systems security. He and a team of researchers studied the code that operates the machines now used in 37 states and discovered the following terrifying facts: The companies hired to test the election equipment for federal certification did not study the code that operates the machines and the election commissions employed no computer security analysts. All votes are recorded on a single removable card similar to the one in a digital camera. There is no way to determine if the card or the code that operates the machine has been tampered with. It's very easy to program a machine to change votes. There's no way to determine if that has happened. There were enough irregularities with the electronic voting machines used throughout the 2004 election to make anyone think twice about using them again. Avi Rubin has testified at Congressional hearings trying to alert the government that it has put our democracy at risk by relying so heavily on voting machines without taking the proper precautions. As he has waged this battle, he has been attacked, undermined, and defamed by a prominent manufacturer. His job has been threatened, but he won't give up until every citizen understands that at this moment, our democracy hangs in the balance. There are simple solutions and, before you vote in the next election, Rubin wants you to know your rights. If you don't know them and you use an electronic voting machine, you may not be voting at all.

Go All In Modis Chrisha, 2023-09-15 In order to be inspired and to keep going, you can read endless books, watch motivational videos, listen to the coolest podcasts, attend amazing events, and surround yourself with super motivated people, but very often it's not the amount of time you spend doing all those things that keeps you motivated and fascinated; it's the unique moments or a single sentence you remember from a whole weekend seminar or a quote you have heard that somehow resonated with you and now has become a part of your life.

The Poets and Poetry of Scotland from the Earliest to the Present Time James Grant Wilson, 1876 Includes poetry, ballads and dramatic works from 41 18th and 19th century Scottish authors.

Letters from Readers in the Polish American Press, 1902-1969 Anna D. Jaroszynska-Kirchmann, 2013-12-11 A Corner for Everybody is a unique collection of close to five hundred letters from Polish American readers, which were published in the Polish-language weekly Ameryka-Echo between 1902 and 1969. In these letters, Polish immigrants speak in their own words about their American experience, and vigorously debate religion, organization of their community, ethnic identity, American politics and society, and ties to the homeland. The translated letters are annotated and divided into thematic chapters with informative introductions. Polish Americans formed one of the largest European immigrant groups in the United States and their community (Polonia) developed a vibrant Polish-language press, which tied together networks of readers in the entire Polish immigrant Diaspora. Newspaper editors encouraged their readers to write to the press and provided them with public space to exchange their views and opinions, and share thoughts and reflections. Ameryka-Echo, a weekly published from Toledo, Ohio, was one of the most popular and long-lasting newspapers with international circulation. For seven decades, Ameryka-Echo sustained a number of sections based on readers' correspondence, but the most popular of them was a "Corner for Everybody," which featured thousands of letters on a variety of topics. The readers eagerly discussed everything from occurrences in local communities, to issues paramount to the formation of their ethnic identity and assimilation, church, religion, gender, politics, relations with new immigrant waves, and other ethnic groups. The letter-writers debated the American labor movement and strikes, described hardships of the Great Depression and World War II, and argued about American domestic politics, and foreign policy. They also keenly followed changes in their homeland and called for work on behalf of the Polish nation. The Ameryka-Echo letters are a rich source of information on the history of Polish Americans, which can serve as primary sources for students and scholars. They also provide a new, fascinating, and lively look into the passions and experiences of individuals who created the larger American historical experience.
