The Handbook of Comparative Criminal Law Kevin Jon Heller, Markus Dubber, 2010-12-01 This handbook explores criminal law systems from around the world, with the express aim of stimulating comparison and discussion. General principles of criminal liability receive prominent coverage in each essay—including discussions of rationales for punishment, the role and design of criminal codes, the general structure of criminal liability, accounts of mens rea, and the rights that criminal law is designed to protect—before the authors turn to more specific offenses like homicide, theft, sexual offenses, victimless crimes, and terrorism. This key reference covers all of the world's major legal systems—common, civil, Asian, and Islamic law traditions—with essays on sixteen countries on six different continents. The introduction places each country within traditional distinctions among legal systems and explores noteworthy similarities and differences among the countries covered, providing an ideal entry into the fascinating range of criminal law systems in use the world over.

Criminal Liability for Serious Traffic Offences Alwin van Dijk, Hein Wolswijk, 2017-12-17 The criminal law on serious traffic offenses presents legislators with numerous controversial issues. One such issue is when severe consequences are matched with low moral culpability. How should the law deal with a driver who kills someone because she failed to see the person when looking? Another controversial issue concerns highly culpable behavior that remains without serious consequences. How should the law cope with a driver who nearly kills someone when overtaking recklessly? The traffic context generates many hard cases that call the outermost boundaries of general doctrinal concepts like intent, negligence, or causation into question. This book contains an international collection of essays on criminal liability for serious traffic offenses. With a focus on England/Wales, the Netherlands, France, Germany, and Spain, the book reveals that there are enormous differences in both drafting and interpretation of serious traffic offenses. Additionally, it elaborates on the role of culpability and harm in sentencing, traffic-psychological insights relevant to accident causation, and the concept of conditional intent in relation to extremely dangerous traffic behavior. SERTA Pérez Álvarez, Fernando, García Alfaraz, Ana Isabe, Díaz Cortés, Lina Mariola, 2016-01-01 Al término de la Guerra, Louk Hulsman emprendió sus estudios de derecho, pero lo cierto es que en pocos años se graduó y pasó a prestar servicios en el Ministerio de Guerra y luego en el de Justicia. Entre 1963 y 1986 fue catedrático de derecho penal y criminología en la Universidad de Róterdam. Diseñó la política de drogas holandesa y fue el impulsor del famoso Report on Decriminalization del Consejo de la Unión Europea (Estrasburgo, 1980). Desempeñó diferentes cargos en las directivas de la Asociación Internacional de Derecho Penal, en la de Defensa Social y en la de Criminología, fundando además ICOPA (International Conference on Penal Abolition). Su actividad internacional, la constante participación en congresos, jornadas, seminarios y otros eventos académicos, era una muestra de su enorme capacidad de diálogo. Su vida se apagó súbitamente, en su apacible y alucinante casa de Dordrecht, el 28 de enero de 2009. Veinte días antes Hulsman había sido nominado para el Premio Nobel de la Paz, en razón de su condición de padre de la política holandesa de tolerancia en materia de drogas. Pocos meses después, la Sociedad Holandesa de Criminología lo distinguió póstumamente con el premio Bonger (Willen Adriaan Bongerprijs).

Environmental Crime in Europe Andrew Farmer, Michael Faure, Grazia Maria Vagliasindi, 2017-12-14 Environmental crime is a growing challenge for policy makers and law enforcers. This is an important and timely study which examines in depth how environmental crime is treated at national level within the European Union and the impact of the 2008 EU Directive on environmental crime on national systems. It will be required reading by anyone concerned with making environmental law more effective. Richard Macrory, Emeritus Professor, University College London The aim of this important new collection is to explore how environmental crime is controlled and environmental criminal law is shaped and implemented within the European Union and its Member States. It examines the legal framework, looking in particular at Directive 2008/99/EC, and the specific competences of the EU in this domain. In addition, it provides a detailed analysis of environmental criminal law in seven Member States, focusing inter alia on the basic legislation, the way in which environmental pollution is criminalised and the main actors in place to enforce environmental criminal law. In so doing, it provides a much needed explanation of the evolution of environmental criminal law in Europe at Union level and how this is implemented in selected Member States.

Prevention of Human Rights Violations in the Corporate Sphere Louise de Barros Ibarra Papa, 2025-11-07 This book seeks to thoroughly examine the intricate and deeply intertwined relationship between human rights and corporations. In the context of globalization, large multinational companies have emerged as powerful and influential agents on the international stage. This rise has brought about significant concerns regarding the potential damage caused by their activities, particularly in the absence of a robust regulatory framework designed to prevent possible violations of human rights. The work delves into the perspectives offered by criminal sciences, presenting them as a broad spectrum of analysis. It focuses notably on areas dedicated to investigating corporate crime, highlighting these as potential sources for combining efforts to promote and protect human rights within corporate structures. By exploring these intersections, the book aims to shed light on how criminal law can be leveraged to hold corporations accountable and ensure they operate within ethical boundaries. Furthermore, this book is intended to serve as a valuable resource for academic researchers who are keen to explore the complex dynamics between human rights and corporate crime. It provides a comprehensive analysis that can aid in understanding the multifaceted nature of these issues. Additionally, offers practical insights and ideas for business collaborators who are looking to enhance their governance, prevention, and compliance strategies. By doing so, it aims to contribute to the development of more responsible and human rights-conscious corporate practices.

Conceptions and Misconceptions of Legislation A. Daniel Oliver-Lalana, 2019-06-14 This volume brings together an international group of legal scholars to discuss different approaches to lawmaking. As well as reflecting the diversity of jurisprudence as a re-emerging academic field, it offers a broad overview of current developments and challenges in the theory of legislation, and aspires, moreover, to counterbalance some questionable ideas or misconceptions, widespread among jurists, on what making laws entails. The book is organized into three parts. The first comprises a sample of 'ways and models of legislation', ranging from classic legislative ideals to contemporary forms of regulation. The essays in this part, variances of focus notwithstanding, revolve around the notions of legislative rationality, quality, effectiveness, and legitimacy, which may be regarded as the cornerstones of jurisprudence. Interwoven with these notions is another core jurisprudential concern: the justification of laws. We address it separately in the next part by exploring the connection between lawmaking, argumentation and constitutional democracy: under the heading 'legislation in a culture of justification', a number of aspects of this connection are tackled that have not been sufficiently considered so far in jurisprudential literature, such as the intricacies of legislative reasoning and balancing, or the justificatory problems posed by special-interest legislation. The under privileged status of jurisprudence in legal studies and the need for socially attentive and citizen-oriented legislative research come to the fore in the third part of the book which turns to the relationships between 'legisprudence, lawyers, and citizens'. All in all, the thirteen articles gathered here provide a stimulating insight into the theory of legislation, and can hopefully contribute to the reconciliation of the study of law and the study of its making.
