A Comparative Study on Educational System in Canada and the Philippines Louie Sanlad,2020-06-18 Document from the year 2020 in the subject Guidebooks - School, Education, Pedagogy, grade: 1.2, , language: English, abstract: Education is the process of facilitating learning, or the acquisition of knowledge, skills, values, beliefs, and habits. Educational methods include storytelling, discussion, teaching, training, and directed research. Education frequently takes place under the guidance of educators, but learners may also educate themselves. Education can take place in formal or informal settings and any experience that has a formative effect on the way one thinks, feels, or acts may be considered educational. Education is commonly divided formally into such stages as preschool or kindergarten, primary school, secondary school and then college, university, or apprenticeship. Like the teaching profession, education systems are, by nature, extremely complex and multifaceted, and the challenges entailed in reforming or improving them can be similarly complex and multifaceted. Even reforms that appear to be straightforward, simple, or easily achieved may, in practice, require complicated state-policy changes, union-contract negotiations, school-schedule modifications, or countless other conditions. Education in Canada is a very high priority of the government. The country boasts a state-run system of public education, one that is provided, funded and administered by federal, provincial and local governments. Jurisdiction of the public education system, as well its curriculum, is overseen by each province. The Council of Ministers of Education is a forum for education ministers to discuss matters related to education, coordinate education activities and share information. Education in the Philippines is a 13-year compulsory education which is divided into Kindergarten, Primary Education, Junior High School, and Senior High School. K-12 is a program that covers kindergarten and 12 years of basic education to provide sufficient time for mastery of concepts and skills, develop lifelong learners, and prepare graduates for tertiary education, middle-level skills development, employment, and entrepreneurship.

Educational System of New Zealand and Philippines. A Comparative Study Donna Mae Suraliza, 2021 Scientific Essay from the year 2021 in the subject Pedagogy - School System, Educational and School Politics, language: English, abstract: The following essay is a comparison of the educational system in New Zealand and the Philippines, It tries to reveal valuable insights and knowledge regarding the similarities and differences of both systems. New Zealand is part of Australia and Oceania, with a land area of 268,680 square kilometres. The total population of 4,290,347. Wellington is the capital city. New Zealand is a constitutional monarchy with parliamentary democracy. The country is a member of the Commonwealth and has three official languages: English, Maori (the language of the Tangata whenua, indigenous people of the land) and New Zealand Sign Language. The native of New Zealand is called Kiwis named after their endemic bird. On the other hand, the Philippines are part of Southeast Asia region with land area of 300,000 square kilometers. It has almost hundred million total populations. Manila is the capital city. The native of the Philippines is called Pinoy but can be further distinguished from the island they came from. The Philippines was a Spanish colony for over 300 years, after which it was a colony of the USA for nearly 5 decades. Influences of both Spanish and American culture are found in the educational system of the Philippines.

Mapping the Terrain of Education Reform Vicente Chua Reyes, Jr., 2015-06-26 This book envisions the formulation of critical perspectives on education reform using the Philippine experience, recognizing the need to address relevant issues and challenges particularly in an increasingly globalized twenty-first century setting. A specific education reform project, the Leaders and Educators in Asia Programme (LEAP), a joint effort between the Philippines' Department of Education, the Ateneo de Manila University in the Philippines, the National Institute of Education-Singapore and Singapore's Temasek Foundation, serves as the analytical focus of how education reform as a globalized movement is implemented, interpreted and made sense of by stakeholders involved in the reform project. This inquiry proposes to examine the problematique of education reform – from a Philippine perspective – by focusing on three analytical starting points: (1) describing the most relevant and urgent issues of education reform; (2) diagnosing the causes and consequences of reform failures; and (3) developing critical and contextualized perspectives on reform trajectories. Mapping the Terrain of Education Reforms: Global trends and local responses in the Philippines discusses the following: Challenges against effective education reforms The oscillation between global and local imperatives The dissociation between policymakers and practitioners Education reform aid in the Philippines This book will be of interest to researchers interested in education policy, politics, and reforms. It will also appeal to scholars examining Asian, and particularly Southeast Asian, educational systems.
