

Saint John Chrysostom Quotes

Philip Schaff, Henry Wace

Sentences by St. John Chrysostom St. John Chrysostom, 2019-11-09 1) As bees make honey by collecting nectar from many and different blossoms, but give it a certain taste, so let us also make use of the honey of the fathers, collected at different times, but containing that same grace and that same spiritual teaching. 2) Let's imitate the saints, neither griefs have beaten them nor peace has laxated them, as now it is happening to many of us, as with unstable people, who - at any push by the waves - get flooded with water and sink. 603) Martyrdom without love not only does not make you a disciple of Christ, but brings no benefit either to the one who endures [it]. 1066) Grumbling is heavy and unbearable, it is akin close to blasphemy... Grumbling is ingratitude. The one grumbling is ungrateful to God; and the one ungrateful to God really is also a blasphemer. 1299) We were created not only to eat, drink and wear new clothes, but also to avoid vice and to perform virtues, being guided by divine [spiritual] wisdom. 1300) Nature has a measure and what is superfluous is no longer food, but rather uncleanness. Feed the body, but to not deaden it. Therefore, it is called food, so we may feed the body with it, and not destroy it.

Sentences by St. John Chrysostom St. John Chrysostom, 2019-11-09 The best of all good things is remembrance of God. ///I place your love above all things, and nothing would be more bitter or painful to me than to be of a different mind with you.///Even should you yourself forget your sins, God will never forget them and will present all our sins before our eyes, unless here we smooth them out with repentance and confession. Therefore may we never be unforgiving to our neighbor. ///When we teach children to be good, to be gentle, to be forgiving (all these are attributes of God), to be generous, to love their fellow men, to regard this present age as nothing, we instill virtue in their souls, and reveal the image of God within them.///373) Nothing can compare to a soul, even the whole world. Even if you giving away countless riches to the poor, you will not do as much as if you turn a single soul to the Lord. 569) For us to be heard by God depends on the following conditions: [first] whether we are worthy to receive the requested; second, whether we pray according to God's laws; third, whether we pray continually, fourth, whether we beg for something worldly; fifth, whether we beg for what is useful; sixth, whether we perform on our part what we should. ///572) Do not say: I am a sinner, I have no daring, I have no prayer. Because he who thinks he has no daring, he has a true daring: [for] he has lost the proud daring of the Pharisee and considering himself - like the Publican did - [to be] rejected and despised, [and] it is especially then that he will be heard.

Old Testament Quotations in Hebrews Georg Walser, 2013 This thesis aims at investigating the use of the Old Testament in the New, and in Hebrews specifically, focusing on two aspects which appear to have been somewhat neglected in previous scholarship, namely the text and context of specific quotations. The aspect of text takes the complicated textual history of the Old Testament into account, especially concentrating on the findings of recent Septuagint research and particularly the possibility that different Hebrew texts may underlie the Greek translation. The aspect of context draws on the assumption that Hebrews was composed in a Jewish context, where the Old Testament text had been interpreted for a long time. It is also presupposed that this exegesis was handed down along with the Hebrew Scriptures not only in the post Second Temple Jewish community, but also in the early Church. Hence primary sources, such as Talmud, Midrash and early Church Fathers, are consulted with the intention of better understanding the interpretation of the Old Testament quotations in Hebrews. To do this three Old Testament texts, which exist in distinctly different versions and have been quoted in Hebrews, have been examined, namely Gen. 47:31b (in Heb. 11:21), Ps. 40:7b (in Heb. 10:5), and Jer. 31:33 (in Heb. 8:10 and 10:16). The outcome of this study shows that several versions of Old Testament texts were interpreted at the time of the New Testament and that the peculiarities of the different versions had a decisive impact on the exegesis of the texts. Further, it shows that some versions of the texts were favoured in the Jewish context while others were preferred in the early Church. Hence different understandings of Old Testament passages in different contexts are sometimes not the result of different interpretations of the same texts, but of the exegesis of different versions of the same text.

The Distortion of Orthodox Truth in Russian Theological Thought St. Seraphim (Sobolev), Sofia wonderworker, "Wealth without work Pleasure without conscience Science without humanity Knowledge without character Politics without principle Commerce without morality Worship without sacrifice.

<https://vidjambov.blogspot.com/2023/01/book-inventory-vladimir-djambov-talmach.html> Regarding the article by Metr. Antony (Khrapovitsky) "The Dogma of Atonement" We have divided the entire contents of this study into three parts. In the first of these, we talk about the denial by Metr. Antony of the legal view of the atonement and cite the revealed and patristic evidence to refute this denial. The subject of the second part is the presentation of the doctrine of Metr. Antony about the atonement of us with the compassionate love of Christ, His spiritual Gethsemane torment. This teaching is also overturned by the scriptures and the works of the Holy Fathers of the Church. Finally, in order to maximally capture the hearts of the readers of our book of the Orthodox doctrine of the atonement, we give a brief summary of it on the basis of Divine Revelation, patristic teachings, and liturgical books, which is the third part of this study.

Orthodoxy and Catholicism: A Comparison Dave Armstrong, 2007-08-24 It has been my strong desire for some time now to revise my book in order to emphasize ecumenism and unity proportionately a lot more than in the first (2004) edition. I'm much more interested in finding common ground. I've also learned a thing or two about Orthodoxy over the past decade. I wanted this volume to be able to read by Orthodox and also Eastern Catholics, without having seizures or going into apoplectic fits (caused by my ignorance or overly polemical or biased writing). I exaggerate, of course, but perhaps not by much! Toward that end I have enlisted a very qualified Eastern Catholic friend to contribute significant portions to the revised edition: Fr. Deacon Daniel G. Dozier. The revision remains an apologetic for Catholicism and respectful critique of Orthodoxy, but now it also includes friendly ecumenical discussion and dialogue: feedback and input from the Eastern theological perspective. The overall tone, tenor, and goal is considerably different. Unity is stressed as much as apologetics.

Ethics after Christendom Vigen Guroian, 2004-08-24 'Ethics after Christendom' proposes that the special moral challenge facing churches in post-Christian societies is to center Christian ethics ecclesially while also keeping it both evangelical and catholic. Siding with the diagnosis that North American Christendom has drawn to an end, Vigen Guroian provides an analysis of the present cultural context in which Christian ethics must now be done, discusses the role of churches after Christendom, and shows - through the application of ecclesial ethics to family, medicine, and ecology - how liturgy enriches and deepens the Christian ethical vision.
