A Woman's View Jeanine Basinger, 2013-09-04 Now, Voyager, Stella Dallas, Leaver Her to Heaven, Imitation of Life, Mildred Pierce, Gilda...these are only a few of the hundreds of “women’s films” that poured out of Hollywood during the thirties, forties, and fifties. The films were widely disparate in subject, sentiment, and technique, they nonetheless shared one dual purpose: to provide the audience (of women, primarily) with temporary liberation into a screen dream—of romance, sexuality, luxury, suffering, or even wickedness—and then send it home reminded of, reassured by, and resigned to the fact that no matter what else she might do, a woman’s most important job was...to be a woman. Now, with boundless knowledge and infectious enthusiasm, Jeanine Basinger illuminates the various surprising and subversive ways in which women’s films delivered their message. Basinger examines dozens of films, exploring the seemingly intractable contradictions at the convoluted heart of the woman’s genre—among them, the dilemma of the strong and glamorous woman who cedes her power when she feels it threatening her personal happiness, and the self-abnegating woman whose selflessness is not always as “noble” as it appears. Basinger looks at the stars who played these women and helps us understand the qualities—the right off-screen personae, the right on-screen attitudes, the right faces—that made them personify the woman’s film and equipped them to make believable drama or comedy out of the crackpot plots, the conflicting ideas, and the exaggerations of real behavior that characterize these movies. In each of the films the author discusses—whether melodrama, screwball comedy, musical, film noir, western, or biopic—a woman occupies the center of her particular universe. Her story—in its endless variations of rags to riches, boy meets girl, battle of the sexes, mother love, doomed romance—inevitably sends a highly potent mixed message: Yes, you women belong in your “proper place” (that is, content with the Big Three of the women’s film world—men, marriage, and motherhood), but meanwhile, and paradoxically, see what fun, glamour, and power you can enjoy along the way. A Woman’s View deepens our understanding of the times and circumstances and attitudes out of which these movies were created.

Nollywood Movie Reviews Ali S. Baylay, 2024-02-28 About the Book Nollywood Movie Reviews is a literary commentary on films made in the English-speaking enclave of West Africa. Besides general adult readerships, it’s a project geared toward educating primary and secondary school students about the new and burgeoning film industry in the region. Most recently schools in this region have added study of film to their curriculum, hence the importance of this publication. Included in this production are several interviews with Nollywood and Ghallyood actors and actresses, directors, and producers who sat for us. About the Author Ali S. Baylay has a diploma in Radio and Television Broadcasting and an FCC broadcast license (expired) from Carolina School of Broadcasting, Charlotte, North Carolina. He also attends Central Piedmont Community College and is working on a Graphic Arts Printing Management Degree. He has attended lots of creative writing seminars and workshops and has written and coproduced a now trending YouTube movie, "Watchin' Lydia." In 2006 he started a web magazine, African Moviestar.com, with almost 150 films reviewed and has interviewed about twenty movie personalities. Ali is a printer by occupation and spends lots of his time writing film reviews or developing new screenplays, and he is an avid reader.

Two star-crossed lovers, a charmed lamp, a sexy reluctant genie, and a goddess who bears a grudge? What a magic carpet ride of sheer enchantment.

Tangled Tales: The Complete Series Julie Castle, 2024-11-12 Julie Castle's Tangled Tales Complete Series—Reimagined Fairy Tales A WOLF'S TALE: Gina Sinclair is trying to look after her grandma's best interests and the family estate as she fends off attempts to send grandma to a rest home. She's got no time or desire to fall for a man, but there's something about the mild-mannered accountant she can't resist. Mitchell Wolf is a creature with only a few weeks to live unless he finds the key to his survival hidden at Xanadu, the Sinclair's family mansion. When Libby Sinclair secretly hires Mitch to protect her granddaughter, he can't believe his luck. Protecting Gina will absolve his clan from a centuries old debt, and give him a chance to surreptitiously search for the key. Posing as a mild-mannered accountant, he moves into the estate to conduct an inventory, and finds his hands full trying to protect Gina from danger. From the moment they meet, Gina is suspicious, yet curiously attracted to him. Can Little Red turn the tables and tame the Wolf? Tropes: secrets, protector, fairytale retelling, damsel in distress, forbidden love, disguise CINDY REVISITED: Cynthia Jane Taylor is a twenty-nine-year-old virgin. On top of that, she's had to fend off Randal Industries' increasingly aggressive attempts to buy the property. When a trio of smiling ladies show up at her door on the night of the Policeman's Ball, she gratefully accepts their offer of a Fairy Godmother's Makeover. At the dance, she spots "the" bad boy, the star of her teenage fantasies, and decides to seduce him. Jake Randal has quietly slipped into town to investigate the corruption at his father's company. He's instantly smitten when he locks eyes with Cyn, but it's clear she isn't the experienced seductress she claims to be. When she slips away after their interlude is interrupted, he's determined to track her down. She's left one clue behind, her gold panties. Now all he has to do is find the redhead who fits them. Will there be an actual happy ending for this modern day Cinderella Story? The Other Woman in Your Marriage H. Norman Wright, 1994 There are two women in every man's marriage. One of the most powerful relationships experienced by a man is with his mother. She was the first to nurture him, love him and comfort him at his entrance into this world. And her influence continues into adulthood---shaping his decisions, his career and his family relationships. It should be no surprise that such a powerful bond can put pressure on a marriage. In The Other Woman in Your Marriage, Norm Wright investigates the mother-son relationship and sheds light on its value---as well as on the problems that can occur. The Other Woman in Your Marriage is an excellent resource for mothers, sons, daughters-in-law or counselors. This book will help couples learn practical ways to establish healthy boundaries with relatives and in-laws. It will also help mothers lay the groundwork to help their sons grow to become healthy men, husbands and fathers. Read it and make peace with the other woman.

Movie Love in the Fifties James Harvey, 2001 From the author of Romantic Comedy (brilliant, meticulous, a monumental work of scholarship --Margo Jefferson, New York Times), a fresh, illuminating look at the films of the 1950s. Harvey begins by mapping the progression from 1940s film noir to the living-room melodramas of the 1950s. He shows us the femme fatale of the 1940s (Barbara Stanwyck, Joan Bennett) becoming blander and blonder (Doris Day, Debbie Reynolds) and younger and more traditionally sexy (Marilyn Monroe, Grace Kelly) in the 1950s. And he shows us how women were finally replaced as objects of desire by the new boy-men--Clift, Brando, Dean, and other rebels without causes. Harvey discusses the films of Hitchcock (Vertigo), Ophuls (The Reckless Moment), Siodmak (Christmas Holiday), and Welles (Touch of Evil, perhaps the single greatest influence on the post-classical movies). He writes about the quintessential 1950s directors: Nicholas Ray, who made movies in the old Hollywood tradition (In a Lonely Place, Johnny Guitar), and Douglas Sirk, who portrayed suburbia as an emotional deathtrap (Imitation of Life, Magnificent Obsession). And he discusses the serious directors, such as Stanley Kramer and Elia Kazan, whose films exhibited powerful new realism. Comprehensive, insightful, written with intelligence, humor, and affection, Movie Love in the Fifties is a masterful work of American film, and cultural, history.

The Encyclopedia of Best Films Jay Robert Nash,2019-10-23 This all-inclusive A-Z encyclopedia by one of the world's foremost experts on cinema provides comprehensive annotations of the best films produced from 1914 on. The work offers more than 5,000 three- to five-star entries (three stars=good; four stars=excellent; five stars=masterpiece), and yes, author Jay Robert Nash has viewed every single one of them as well as many more that did not make the cut. In addition to a precis, each film's entry also includes a listing of the cast as well as the key principles involved in production, from the director to the hair stylist. Especially unique to this book is a rating system that helps parents determine whether or not a film is appropriate for their children. Unlike the industry rating system which can be influenced by studio lobbying, Nash objectively evaluates each film and confers upon it one of four recommendations for viewing: recommended, acceptable, cautionary, and unacceptable. Backmatter includes a list of top films by genre (i.e. animated, drama, sports, mystery, adventure etc.) as well as an annotated name index listing all persons mentioned along with their dates of birth and death. Rounding out this essential volume for the film buff are over 500 still photos from the author's private collection.

Today calls the king of the monster hunters). Unique to this edition are a new selection of photographs and poster reproductions and an appendix listing additional films of interest.
