English-Korean Romanized Dictionary Taebum Kim, 2017-03-04 This book lists approximately 9,000 core Korean words that can be searched with English equivalents. It's ideal for learners of Korean as a second language who want to communicate more effectively and also for learners of English who know Korean. Korean is written with two different scripts: Hangul and Hanja (Chinese character). While Hangul is mostly used, Chinese characters should be used in order to clarify meaning and almost 80% of Korean language derives from Chinese characters. English main entries are in alphabetical order and stressed syllables of them are in boldface type for clear communication in English. (The contrast between stressed and unstressed syllables is very important because it helps to create the rhythm of English.) Each main entry is followed by parts of speech label and the entry's Korean equivalents. All Korean equivalent for main entries are written in both roman letters and Korean writing: Hangul and Hanja (Chinese characters) if applicable. [example: area [n.] ji yeok (지역), myeon jeok (면적)] Learners can select to learn Chinese characters according to their needs and levels. For those who know Chinese characters, it might be easier to learn Korean. Since many Koreans prefer to use foreign words in daily conversation, Korean pronunciation of foreign words are romanized in this book for better communication with Koreans. [example: picnic [n.] pi keu nik (피크닉), so pung (소풍)]* Please refer to the website for more information. www.corevoca.com
