Anna Gavalda

Translating Mind Matters in Twenty-First-Century French Women's Writing Claire Ellender, 2020-01-28 Attitudes towards, and strategies for treating, those who suffer from abnormal mental states have evolved considerably over the centuries, and these are reflected in the various literary genres of all eras. In its introduction, this book provides a concise, yet thorough, overview of this phenomenon, citing key examples taken from the Middle Ages to the twentieth century. Each of the eight chapters which constitute Part One of this study then focuses on representations of a particular mental health issue in a work of literature produced by a twenty-first-century French woman writer. Considering the causes and symptoms of the given condition, it situates the representation of its treatment in relation to current attitudes and practices in the West. Inspired by the concept that reading literature which concentrates on mental health problems can be both informative and of comfort to those affected by such issues, Part Two provides detailed textual analyses, and discusses the English-language versions, of four works examined in Part One which already exist in translation. Suggesting how these may be of benefit to an Anglophone readership, it recommends that the four remaining texts, which may be equally helpful, are suitable for translation into English.

35 Kilos of Hope Anna Gavalda, 2004 Every minute Gregory spends in school is torture. The only time he feels really happy is when he's messing around with tools. Grandpa Leon understands and makes Gregory do the most difficult thing he has ever had to do in his life.

"35 kilos d'espoir" Jeroen De Hert,2013

95 libras de esperanza Anna Gavalda,2004 Gregorio siempre ha detestado la escuela y es un desastre como estudiante; ya ha repetido curso dos veces y, finalmente, ha sido expulsado del colegio en sexto grado y se le ha diagnosticado Desorden por Déficit Atencional. Ante la incomprensión de sus padres, que se ven obligados a buscar un centro apropiado para él mientras atraviesan una crisis en su relación de pareja, Gregorio, sintiendo que todo es culpa suya, busca refugio en su abuelo, quien siempre lo ha apoyado en forma incondicional. Las horas junto a su abuelo pasan volando en el cobertizo que éste habita, pues siempre están inventando toda clase de ardidés. Es el anciano quien, finalmente, le ayuda a madurar y a encontrar su camino. Relato en primera persona, con un lenguaje sencillo y directo con el que los lectores se identificarán muy bien.
