A Metal Earth Atlas of Seismic Reflection and Magnetotelluric Transects Across the Superior Province Jack M. Simmons, John A. Ayer, Mostafa Naghizadeh, Ademola Q. Adetunji, David B. Snyder, Taus R.C. Jørgensen, Graham J. Hill, Eric A. Roots, Saeid Cheraghi, 2024-12-15 The seismic reflection and magnetotelluric conductivity sections published in these folios were generated from geophysical data archived by the Metal Earth project, a CAD$104 million applied R&D program that commenced in March 2017. The project comprised a consortium of Canadian and international researchers from academia, government and industry, and was led by the Mineral Exploration Research Centre (MERC) at Laurentian University in Sudbury, Ontario, Canada. Funding consisted of CAD$49.2 million from the Canada First Research Excellence Fund (CFREF), CAD$5 million in funding from the Northern Ontario Heritage Fund Corporation (NOHFC), a CAD$1 million donation from the Harquail family's Midas Touch Foundation, and cash and in-kind contributions from private sector and government survey partners. Metal Earth used state-of-the-art equipment to transform our understanding of the processes responsible for metal endowment and ore localisation during Earth's early evolution, particularly within the Superior Province (or Superior Craton) of Canada. This included the collection of new seismic reflection and magnetotelluric data along 18 transects across the Superior Province, each with differential metal endowment and styles of mineralisation. The processed geophysical data from each transect have been standardised and are published here to facilitate assessments between regions with differential metal endowment.

Metal Earth: War of Rogues Daniel J. Wenthe, 2014-06-16 The inevitable war has arrived. President Gellar has commanded Admiral Kaman and Captain Jaren Lee to advance the Alliance fleet. Janah Omen-Lee's attempts to bring in Veeson as an ally in the war have failed. Meanwhile, Prime Minister Hinkle has been trying to peacefully negotiate with the Ikossians and, as a sign of good faith, helped them repair the space station of Prokov. With tensions mounting between stations and citizens, time is no longer a luxury for the survival of Metal Earth under the Alliance. If President Borkhov and the Ikossians can rebuild Prokov and maintain energy dominance then it's only a matter of time before Veelson falls with Akryia and Oyioh soon to follow.

Metal Earth: Colder Elements Daniel J. Wentz, 2012-01-29 The sequel to Metal Earth: Judas Syndrome. Just a short time removed from the failed coup of the American government, Jaren now takes the action to the real threat, the Ikossians. Ikoss has recovered the new element and hoarded it to refine the most efficient fuel source ever. This new found fuel makes them an economic power and has enabled them to build a new space station, Prokov. Prokov sets the stage for the Ikossians to now attack Veelson right on their doorstep. If Jaren is to stop the imminent threat, he'll have to recruit the best team he can in a short amount of time. Aren K'Napp and Nikailyn Ohm join him at the request of President Gellar. The American alliance is putting faith into Jaren to covertly stop the Ikossians in hopes of avoiding an all-out war before it's too late.

Metal Earth: Judas Syndrome Daniel J. Wentz, 2012-01-01 Metal Earth: Judas Syndrome The location of living may have changed since the massive meteor attack that forced humans to live on four gigantic space stations, but the problems didn't change with them. The American Alliance is at odds with its two stations of Akryia and Oyioh. The alliance must also worry about an extreme underground uprising, not to mention the growing military threat of the Russian station of Ikoss. Captain Jaren Lee, on a quest from Senator Jopalmin, searches for an answer to quell the problems, a new element left by the meteors that may prove to be the most efficient fuel source ever. Naturally, things don't go as planned when Jaren runs into an old friend and must play politics between the American allies. Time is running out as Jaren tries to get the element before the Russians can find it and gain universal economic dominance.
