Aspects of Iranian Linguistics Simin Karimi, Vida Samiian, Donald Stilo, 2009-05-05 Aspects of Iranian Linguistics introduces readers to recent research into various properties of a number of Iranian languages. The volume consists of twenty chapters that cover a full range of Iranian linguistics, including formal theoretical perspectives (from a syntactic and morphological point of view), typological and functional perspectives, and diachronic and areal perspectives. It also contains papers on computational linguistics and neurolinguistics, as well as the modern history of lexicography in Iran. Various Iranian languages are discussed in this volume, including Hawrami and Kermanji, two of the major dialects of Kurdish, Medieval, Classical and Modern Persian, Balochi, Taleshi and Pamir. With the exception of Persian, other Iranian languages had not received much attention in the past. Thus this work, as the first volume ever published on various aspects of these languages and their linguistic properties, is a valuable contribution to our understanding of a less commonly studied language family. The theoretical, descriptive, and applied approaches pursued by various authors in this volume, together with the colorful range of languages discussed, provide a unique perspective that is appealing to researchers in different domains of linguistics and language studies.

A Man of Many Worlds Qāsim Ghani,2006 Rare is the life lived at the center of history-shaping events, and rarer still the combining of such a life with brilliant gifts of observation and expression. Dr. Ghasem Ghani of Iran was such an individual. His recollections of a career of pioneering scholarship and diplomacy have been published to great acclaim in twelve volumes in the original Persian. Now his son has edited and abridged this record into a single volume in English?A Man of Many Worlds: The Diaries and Memoirs of Dr. Ghasem Ghani. For anyone interested in modern Iranian history and the interacting traditions of East and West, it is essential reading, full of insightful observations and comments that are relevant today.

Zikrullah Khadem, Itinerant Hand of the Cause of God Javidukht Khadem,1990 Zikrullah Khadem is a story of love that recounts the life of the first Hand of the Cause of God to move to the Western Hemisphere after the passing of Shoghi Effendi, guardian of the Baha'i faith. Told from the unique perspective of Mr. Khadem's wife, Javidukht Khadem, it is the first book about a Hand of the Cause of God to be written by a member of his immediate family. It is the portrait of a man who befriended thousands of people around the world, touching their hearts, encouraging and uplifting them, and quickening their souls by showering them with love. Zikrullah Khadem is an inspiring testimony to the transforming power of one man's unswerving commitment to living the spiritual principles in which he so strongly believed, a shining example of love, humility, and steadfastness in the Baha'i faith.

Multilingual and Multimodal Information Access Evaluation Maristella Agosti,Nicola Ferro,Carol Peters,Maarten de Rijke,Alan Smeaton,2010-09-10 In its first ten years of activities (2000-2009), the Cross-Language Evaluation Forum (CLEF) played a leading role in stimulating investigation and research in a wide range of key areas in the information retrieval domain, such as cross-language question answering, image and geographic information retrieval, interactive retrieval, and many more. It also promoted the study and implementation of appropriate evaluation methodologies for these diverse types of tasks and - dia. As a result, CLEF has been extremely successful in building a wide, strong, and multidisciplinary research community, which covers and spans the different areas of expertise needed to deal with the spread of CLEF tracks and tasks. This constantly growing and almost completely voluntary community has dedicated an incredible amount of effort to making CLEF happen and is at the core of the CLEF achievements. CLEF 2010 represented a radical innovation of the "classic CLEF" format and an experiment aimed at understanding how "next generation" evaluation campaigns might be structured. We had to face the problem of how to innovate CLEF while still preserving its traditional core business, namely the benchmarking activities carried out in the various tracks and tasks. The consensus, after lively and community-wide discussions, was to make CLEF an independent four-day event, no longer organized in conjunction with the European Conference on Research and Advanced Technology for Digital Libraries (ECDL) where CLEF has been running as a two-and-a-half-day workshop. CLEF 2010 thus consisted of two main parts: a peer-reviewed conference – the first two days – and a series of laboratories and workshops – the second two days.

Linguistics for Translators Ali Almannaj, Juliane House, 2023-12-22 This engaging and accessible textbook, by two leading experts, is a carefully crafted introduction to linguistics for translators, students, and researchers of translation. Starting with basic concepts and gradually moving readers to the central questions in different branches of linguistics, examples are drawn from English and many other languages, including German, Arabic, Kurdish, Swahili, French, and Chinese. The key areas of linguistics are covered from morphology and syntax to semantics, pragmatics, discourse analysis, stylistics, sociolinguistics, and cognitive linguistics. Striking a balance between theoretical developments and empirical investigation, readers gain both a comprehensive overview of linguistics and how it informs their work in translation and learn how to argue for analysis and annotate their own answers and translations academically. Each chapter provides the reader with an overview outlining the main points and technical words used in the chapter as well as illustrative examples, recommended readings, and resources and activities to test knowledge. This is the ideal textbook for undergraduate and postgraduate students of translation in Translation Studies, Linguistics, and Modern languages.

Rhetorics and Politics in Afghan Traditional Storytelling Margaret Ann Mills, 1991 This book presents an ethnopoetic translation and an interpretation of an evening of storytelling. The storytellers wittily integrated themes of sense and nonsense, gender and sexuality, religion and public and private social control in thirteen recorded stories, here translated in full.
