Cuban Americans and the Miami Media Christine Lohmeier, 2014-02-10 This book makes a contribution to the debates on diasporic identities and transnational communication. It provides an analysis of the Cuban American community and its relationship to Miami-based English- and Spanish-language media. Based on extensive ethnographic data, the author demonstrates how different media have been used, produced and influenced by segments of the Cuban American community in Miami. After establishing the significance of Miami as a locale to receive a high number of migrants after the Cuban revolution in 1959, what follows is an exploration of the interplay of collective Cuban American identity and the evolution of an exile community on the one hand and media institutions and their output on the other. In doing so, Miami-based press, radio, network television and online media are examined. The author moreover shows how mediated memories of pre-revolutionary Cuba have been kept alive in Miami and over time became more inclusive through the use of new media technologies.

La vie en rose Marek Baran, Magdalena Szeplińska-Baran, Manuel Francisco Romero Oliva, 2019-01-21 ¿Existe una marcada relación entre la lengua y la cultura? Los autores de esta monografía, Marek Baran y Magdalena Szeplińska-Baran, manifiestan su acuerdo con esta conexión. Para ello, toman como principal objeto de estudio los nombres de los colores en las lenguas española y francesa. Desde estos planteamientos y, teniendo en cuenta que el léxico de los colores se somete a constantes evoluciones que generan una verdadera riqueza denominativa, pretenden comprobar de qué modo dos lenguas y culturas –como son la española y la francesa– nombran los colores, cuáles son los contenidos simbólicos asociados a los términos cromáticos y de qué manera se utilizan. De esta forma, partiendo de las unidades dominantes (blanco, negro, rojo, verde, amarillo, azul, rosa, gris, violeta, naranja, marrón) los autores realizan un análisis diferencial de varias entidades simbólico-culturales que se les atribuye para descubrir, entre otras cuestiones, que la categorización de los colores se efectúa, desde una visión antropocéntrica, a partir del análisis de los estados físicos o emocionales, propios del ser humano o que los términos cromáticos pueden emplearse con un grado de abstracción relativamente elevado, sirviendo no tanto para designar un matiz concreto, como para indicar un lugar dentro de un campo o incluso la inclusión en otro color. El lector de esta obra, además de emprender un viaje analítico por el léxico cromático en español y francés, encontrará una magnífica oportunidad para ver evidenciada la oposición entre las corrientes teórico-metodológicas fundamentales que marcan la historia de la lingüística moderna. Dra. Ester Trigo Ibáñez Universidad de Cádiz
